Rescuers Fight Antarctic Cold

CHRISTCHURCH, N.Z. (UPI)—Rescue workers fought 40 below zero cold today to reach the side of a giant U.S. air force Globe-Master transport plane that crashed in the Antarctic wastes.

Six of the 13 men on board were killed, and "several" of the seven survivors were reported critically injured.

The plane crashed early today as it was attempting a supply air drop to a U.S.-New Zealand base.

In the crash, a load of lumber on board apparently shifted on impact and smashed into the men on the cargo deck.

De Gaulle Wins Showdown With Algerians

ALGIERS (CP)—Threatened strikes and demonstrations by right wingers opposing Premier Charles de Gaulle's sweeping Algerian reforms collapsed like a punctured balloon today.

The vast Forum Square where the right-wing committee of public safety called a protest demonstration was empty at the appointed hour.

It was ringed with troops and fire trucks, just in case.

A general strike and the demonstration were hastily called off after the committee's leaders held a showdown conference with de Gaulle's representative, Gen. Raoul Salan, the military and civilian commander here.

Details of Salan's talk to the committee leaders were not disclosed, but he carried firm instructions from de Gaulle, whom he had seen barely 24 hours before in Paris.

The committee—fighting to stave off its own dissolution—called the strike and the demonstrations in cities throughout Algeria to protest de Gaulle's order removing the army from politics.

ISSUES COMMUNIQUE

The committee issued a special communique to announce it was calling off its protest bid.

The communique said that the new move was made because the committee did not want to interfere with the army's actions. The army had warned the committee against both the strike and the demonstration.

The committee said it maintained full confidence in the army and that Salan this morning had explained the new orders from de Gaulle.

The communique also added, somewhat disconsolately, that the committee wished to preserve its unity, already badly shattered.

BOMB BURSTS NEAR JEHOVAH HOME MEETING

BOSTON (AP)—A homemade bomb exploded near a meeting place of the Jehovah's Witnesses religious sect Wednesday night.

The meeting of the group at the home of Mrs. Agnes Harootunian had adjourned about an hour before the explosion.

No one was injured but the blast blew out about 30 windows in nearby tenements.

Police refused to comment on the possibility the explosion was in any way connected with the recent bombings of synagogues in Peoria, Ill., and Atlanta, Ga.

U.K. Official Shot To Death In Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters)—A British government official was killed and five other persons injured today as the bloody round of bombings and ambushes continued on Cyprus.

British authorities said a man, identified only as an official of the colonial government, was shot to death in the village of Kokkinotrimithia, 10 miles west of Nicosia.

A civilian engineer was wounded in the back when a gunman opened fire as he started to drive his car from his home in a Nicosia suburb. He was identified as John McGillivary, 39, employed by the Cyprus' telecommunications authority.

Four Greek Cypriots—one of them a woman—were injured in two of four bombing attacks against British patrols.

The renewed violence prompted authorities to clamp a house curfew on Nicosia but loudspeaker trucks later toured the streets announcing the curfew applied only to Greek Cypriots.

The slain government official is the 124th Briton to be killed on the island since the Greek underground organization EOKA started operations more than three years ago.

PUBLIC DEMAND AVERTS CNR TRAIN CUTS

MONTREAL (CP)—The Canadian National Railways today said it has reversed its decision to eliminate eight of its 16 transcontinental trains on the Montreal-Vancouver run during winter.

In a surprise move, the railway said "public reaction" to the proposed curtailment of service led to the change in plans.

"The attitude of the public indicates there continues to be a substantial demand for two CNR trans-continental services even during the off season," said CNR President Donald Gordon.

$4 Million Pledged By Canada

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—Canada today pledged a total of $4,000,000 to helping under-developed countries through the United Nations.

Canadian representative Dr. R. P. Vivian told a conference of the expanded program of technical assistance that the Canadian government is seeking parliamentary approval for two contributions of $2,000,000 each.

One would go for UN technical assistance programs which have provided a "unique and important contribution" by making available experts and equipment to direct economic growth of under-developed countries.

The other would be for a special fund approved by the UN Tuesday to provide more immediate aid.

Justice Minister Fulton represented the government.

Historic HBC Parley At Winnipeg

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Hudson's Bay Company today held the first meeting of its board of directors outside London, England, in 288 years.

The meeting was held in Hudson's Bay House in Winnipeg and presided over by company governor, W. J. Keswick, of London. Other United Kingdom directors attending were Lord Weeks and J. E. H. Collins, both of London.

During the 18th and 19th centuries, meetings of the northern council of the company were held at York Factory, Norway House and Lower Fort Garry in Manitoba and were presided over by the then-governors of Rupert's Land.

"It is singularly fitting," Mr. Keswick said, "that we should hold our first board meeting outside the City of London in Manitoba, which has been the headquarters of the company in North America for nearly three centuries."

ON SALT SPRING

All-Out Search For Lost Pilot

Mainland mountaineers hunting for John L. Dudra, 32, mountain climber and airman lost Sunday night after having radio contact with Vancouver's International Airport, today started searching all of Salt Spring Island for the missing plane.

Clue that Dudra might have crashed on the island was given by Walter A. Brigden, whose farm is at Fulford Harbor, near 2,400-foot Mount Bruce at the southern end of Salt Spring Island.

"Between 6.10 and 6.20 p.m. Sunday I heard a crash on Mount Bruce that sounded like a tree falling," he said. "I thought nothing of it until Monday, when I heard this aircraft was missing, so I reported it to the RCMP here."

"Mount Bruce is heavily timbered," he said, "and although air searches have been made, there are gullies that would hide a light plane and make it impossible to see except from the ground."

Climbers taking part in the hunt made their headquarters at Mr. Brigden's farm, and 12 were with him Wednesday night. It was they who started the extended search today, he said.

An oil slick discovered off the mouth of the Fraser River was being examined today as a possible sign of the plane's disappearance.

Fog has continued to hamper air searches of the Gulf Island district.

Daley said "In spite of some very attractive offers we think the baseball club is a good thing for Cleveland and we think we can restore Cleveland to where it is again a leading baseball city."

NEW GUNS FROM U.S. FOR QUEMOY

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Gun emplacements for new U.S.-made artillery are being set up on rocky Quemoy, underscoring a shift in emphasis from manpower to firepower on the offshore islands.

Under the continuing Chinese Communist cease-fire, new U.S. 155-mm. and 8-inch artillery were being unloaded and swung into position. Ammunition is being stockpiled.

The Nationalists previously have emphasized manpower on the offshore islands, stationing perhaps 100,000 troops, or one-third of their effective combat forces, in the Quemoy and Matsu groups.

Other Isles Of Chiang Eyed By Reds

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Four Communist planes flew over the tiny Wuchiu Islands today, raising speculation on Formosa that the Reds might try to seize those Nationalist outposts midway between Quemoy and Matsu.

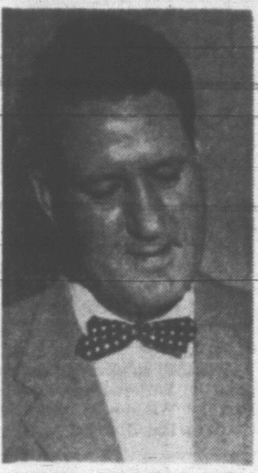
The Wuchius lie in the Formosa Strait 15 miles from the mainland and 80 miles from Formosa. One of the two islands, Wuchiu, is 128 acres, and the other, Little Wuchiu, is 57.6 acres.

The Chinese Nationalists use them as lookout posts. At one time they were a base for commando raids to capture prisoners on the mainland who might provide intelligence and also were a staging post for Nationalist agents slipping in and out of China.

Gordon Head Likely Site

A $9,000,000 government-financed housir development may rise in Saanich if 12,000 rat payers approve a massive sewer project in th December elections.

If both schemes materialize, Victoria College ma have to look beyond Gordon Head as a future buildin site.



REEVE CHATTERTON
. . . reveals plan

The housing development largest of its kind ever undertaken in Greater Victoria area, hinges largely on the approval of a sewer project by 12,000 ratepayers in the Cadboro Bay and Ruby-Road-Shelbourne Avenue area.

Whether Victoria College will lose its Gordon Head building site depends on talks between Saanich reeve George Chatterton and Victoria College officials.

Proponent of the $9 million housing development plan, Reeve Chatterton wants to find out when Victoria College plans to build on its 50-acre Gordon Head holding.

"We released the land to Victoria College after we obtained it from Crown Assets Corporation," the reeve said.

"If they plan to leave it idle for 10 or 15 years, we may want it back. It fits in perfectly with the housing development."

The reeve plans to outline the government-financed housing scheme to Saanich council.

Briefly, here's how it works:

Under section 36 of the National Housing Act, the municipality makes land available (the core would be in the area where sewers are projected but would not have to be a single unit) to Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, a federal housing agency.

CMHC buys the land, pays for sewers, construction of roads, water and lights.

When the subdivision is serviced, CMHC offers the land to individual buyers first—probably for 90 days—and then sells the remaining lots to contractors for speculative building.

Federal and provincial government would share costs, 75 and 25 per cent, respectively.

Municipality would pay only legal and administrative costs.

The reeve's plan is the latest of several major and minor construction projects slated for development in Greater Victoria's second largest and fastest-growing municipality.

Largest Boom In Saanich History

Total amount of construction in the next three years is expected to exceed $20,000,000—the largest building boom in Saanich's history.

Nearly 2,000 persons a year are moving into Saanich where 600 homes have gone up in the first nine months this year.

The need for housing "will continue to be felt," said the reeve, "because Victoria is running out of building lots."

Reeve Chatterton said it is hoped to put the $2,139,998 sewer project to the 12,000 ratepayers in the Cadboro Bay-Ruby and Shelbourne Street district on the Dec. 11 ballot.

If ratepayers turn down the sewer project, the government housing scheme is out of the question.

The reeve sees the government-financed housing project as an answer to the municipality's ever-growing septic-tank situation.

"Where you have septic tanks on small lots with a clay base the ground quickly becomes saturated with septic affluent," he said.

"A development such as the one we plan to study may well be the answer to this problem."

Exact area where sewers are proposed is the lower part of Gordon Head north to Ruby Road and on a line between Finnerty and Gordon Head Roads, excluding Queenswood where the area is rocky, prohibiting small lots.

The area is roughly between 100 and 200 acres, large enough for 400 homes or possibly more.

Before asking council to approve the project, Reeve Chatterton said he has made arrangements with councillors to discuss the matter with CMHC officials. The meeting will be held in the near future.

The subdivision, he said, would be beneficial to both the municipality and residents of Saanich.

It would enable prospective owners to buy fully serviced lots at a cheaper rate than the open market.

The government would also share costs for laying lateral sewer pipes, trunks, pressure lines and the treatment plant.

Residents in the subdivision would pay lower taxes.

"One other main benefit would be a well-planned subdivision with playground for children," he said. "This is equally as important."

The scheme is expected to get the support of both CMHC and provincial government officials.

J. D. Baird, supervisor of Municipal Affairs, described the government housing development scheme as "one of the best."

"Other municipalities, such as

HOLE IN BOTTOM

Sceptre Shamed Again

HALIFAX (CP)—The luckless British racing yacht Sceptre, beaten challenger for the America's Cup, arrived here today with a hole in her bottom.

The big 25-ton sloop broke loost from her cradle on the deck of a freighter bound for Britain. She slammed against a ventilating pipe that pierced her hull.

Sceptre was being taken home on the British freighter Manipur from New York. Soon after sailing Sunday the ship ran into a gale.

The 8,500-ton Manipur docked at the Halifax naval dockyard, where the yacht was hoisted ashore to permit repairs to the broken cradle. It is not known where the yacht will be repaired.

NEGRO WILL STAY FREE

Road Gang Escapee Caught Jaywalking

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—A Negro whose arrest for jaywalking in Detroit brought to light the fact that he had escaped from an Alabama road gang 27 years ago can keep his freedom.

Frank Lee, deputy state prison commissioner, said Alabama won't ask Michigan to send Victor Moore back to finish his term.

Moore's prison record was disclosed when he was fingerprinted in Detroit for failure to pay a jaywalking ticket. Police said the prints were identical with those of Lee Murray, who escaped from a prison work gang near Montgomery in 1931 while serving a four-year term for burglary.

Detroit police said Moore admitted his identity when confronted with the fingerprint evidence. He married after going to Detroit eight years ago and is the father of five children.

UNIVAC PLAYS CUPID IN HOLLYWOOD MARRIAGE

It Was Love at First Bleep

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The first mating by automation takes place Saturday when Shirley Saunders marries Bob Kardell at the First Presbyterian Church of Hollywood.

The cupid in this match was an electronic brain called Univac. For months, the People Are Funny television show has been trying to make a romantic match by means of the machine.

It works this way: A contestant fills out a form detailing what he or she seeks in the ideal mate, plus his or her own qualifications. All this is fed into Univac, which comes up with the name of another contestant who seems a likely mate.

Unfortunately for the show, most of the chosen couples ended up in a state of indifference. Some openly detested each other.

But not Shirley and Bob. With them, it was love at first bleep.

"We were on the show five weeks together," Bob reported in a pre-marital interview. "We were formally engaged before that time was up."

PRAYER FOR TODAY

O Thou God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, hold Thou the cross before our shifting eyes. Grant that day by day we may watch with Thee in Thy sufferings and share with Thee in Thy sacrifice. Deliver us from self-love, guilty pride, and hardness of heart. Grant that we may kneel before Thee in solemn adoration, for love so amazing, so divine, demands our souls, our lives, our all. Have mercy upon us, O Lord; for Jesus' sake. Amen.

TRDEGAR, England — Donald Brooker complained today that he just can't afford to go to work.

Brooker, 58-year-old father of 13 children, said he receives more than £16 from the government in free meals, milk and clothing for his children and in national assistance and family allowance payments.

He said he would have to earn at least £12 a week to break even if he took a job. The last job he had paid him £7 10s a week and resulted in his national assistance payments and the free food and clothes for his children being cut off.

"I was worse off," Brooker said.

Brooker said he is buying his own home on the welfare payments.

VANCOUVER — Danica d'Hondt, 19-year-old Vancouver beauty who represented Canada in the Miss America contest at Atlantic City, said Wednesday she was told by judges she might have won had she been an American.

The Vancouver blonde said in an interview: "They told me that the U.S. public just wouldn't stand for a Canadian being chosen as Miss America unless she was 50 to 100 per cent more talented and beautiful than anyone else."

"But I don't go along with those who say there's no use entering a Miss Canada. Some day a Canadian will win—and it's a wonderful experience anyway."

DENVER—An atomic scientist carried a bulging briefcase to the energy resources conference here Wednesday.

A reporter asked Tuck whether some new nuclear development was concealed in the briefcase.

Replied Tuck: "No, it's part of my wife's vacuum cleaner. There is no repairman in Los Alamos and she insisted that I have it fixed in Denver."

PRESCOTT, Ariz.—For 12 years, Postmaster James M. Smith trudged a foot-wearying route in the Miller Valley with a smile and a kind word for everyone.

Smith is the father of two children and expects a third one soon.

MONTREAL (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker is listed in the Social Register of Canada, a blue book for and about blue bloods.

And a spokesman for the new book said that register records show that Mr. Diefenbaker was notified of his inclusion.

"We sent him a notification," said the spokesman, commenting on Mr. Diefenbaker's off-the-cuff statment Wednesday that he hadn't been told if his name was included.

The register, listing 40,000 Canadians who are considered socially acceptable by the book's social arbiters, is being mailed today to members of the Social Register Association of Canada.

Lash is Answer Judge Declares

(From CP Dispatches)

VANCOUVER—Judge S. J. Remnant of Vancouver said Wednesday that vandalism can be discouraged by use of the lash.

He made the statement on sentencing Harold Richard Hill, 21, of Vancouver to two years in prison for rolling a $20,000 truck over a 300-foot embankment into Howe Sound June 6.

"I think it is time the courts showed their disapproval of this type of vandalism in the hope it may come to the attention of other youths similarly inclined.

". . . I am firmly of the opinion that if not cured it could at least be discouraged if it were possible for me to sentence you to a short term of imprisonment and whipping, but the law does not permit such a penalty," the judge said.

CAMBRIAN TRIO COMES DOWN TO EARTH

Chamber Music Myth Exposed

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

Anyone who has inclined to regard chamber music as more of an intellectual stimulant than an emotional experience would have learned a good deal from Victoria Musical Art Society's opening concert Wednesday night.

Introducing the newly formed Cambrian Trio, consisting of Clifford Evens, violin, Mary Evens, 'cello, and Lloyd Powell, piano, the concert proved that chamber music, far from being esoteric and remote, is warm, human and deeply moving.

It seems a great pity that Holyrood House auditorium was not filled to capacity, for the opportunity to hear such delightful music so well played is rare.

These were three highly proficient artists, who, having selected an unusual and challenging program, performed it with devotion and brilliance.

As a trio the Cambrian has excellent prospects of building a solid reputation on the Pacific coast. Having performed together in various duo combinations, they have already established a unity that is the essence of the true chamber group.

There was an occasional lack of refinement of tone that roughened the overall quality; in fact, tonal imbalance in this respect was possibly the only flaw of major importance to be found.

The trio was at its best in the expressive and moody Frank Bridge Phantasie and Dvorak's splendid Dumky Trio. Sweep and color of this latter work, reflecting the heights and depths of Slavic mood were breathtakingly beautiful.

Deeply poetic in idea and imaginative in treatment, the Bridge composition was a beautifully integrated piece of work. A polished performance of the Beethoven C Minor No. 3 was the program's opening number.

'I AM A WESTERNER'

Tunisian Chief Blasts Arabs

TUNIS (AP)—Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba, who Wednesday broke diplomatic relations with the United Arab Republic, today proclaimed "I am a Westerner and will remain so."

Angrily attacking the policies of the Egyptian-Syrian U. A. R. Bourguiba bluntly said the Egyptians had collaborated in an assassination plot against his own person.

"The primary enemy, one has the habit of saying, is Israel," Bourguiba said. "However, why is it that this state is quiet while the Arabs are killing one another?"

Reporting to the Tunisian constituent assembly, Bourguiba gave his reasons for breaking with Egypt and aligning his country's policies with the West.

"Yes, I am Western," Bourguiba said, "and I will remain so."

"The man who speaks to you cannot be bought by anyone," Bourguiba added.

"We must not be frightened at the crisis through which we are living. It will assuredly serve Arab nationalism and give positive results. It will even be profitable to the United Arab Republic itself."

He said he felt the Arab League would some day be reconstituted on more solid and sincere foundations.

Bourguiba again accused the Egyptian government of sheltering and giving active aid to Salah Ben Youssef, Bourguiba's former political ally who fled Tunis for exile in Cairo, where he preaches the policies of Egyptian President Nasser. Ben Youssef also has actively plotted Bourguiba's assassination, Bourguiba said.

Speaking of aligning his country with the West, Bourguiba said that "once the Iron Curtain drops there is no escape from communism. On the other hand, it is possible, no matter what the time, to leave the Western camp."

U.S. URGED TO REMOVE TRADE CURBS

GENEVA (Reuters) — Sir David Eccles, president of the British Board of Trade, today urged the United States to take the lead in removing obstacles to increasing international trade.

He was speaking to the opening session of a three-day ministerial meeting of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

Trade Minister Gordon Churchill is representing Canada.

Eccles said that if the United States "would by example call us all to remove the obstacles to the growth of international trade, we should follow their lead." No orderly agricultural policies could be formed without U.S. participation.

Labor Leader Pledges Backing For Red Feather

Confidence that members of organized labor will rally behind the current Community Chest campaign was voiced by Robert Barrie, president of Victoria Labor Council, in a letter issued to council members at a meeting Wednesday.

"It is the policy of the Canadian Labor Congress to endorse the united appeal," Mr. Barrie wrote.

"Our participation in the affairs of the community calls upon us to recognize the responsibility we must share in an effort which concerns us all.

"I feel quite confident there will be no lack of support from all workers in all walks of life, for this is not only a responsibility—it is the privilege and right of a citizen."

Tribute to labor's pledge and actual gifts to the appeal was paid by campaign manager Justin Harbord Wednesday.

"Union men and their leaders are doing a bang-up job," he said. "I find it difficult to express my appreciation."

DUNCAN — Building permits issued by North Cowichan municipality during September totalled $103,835 to bring the total for the first nine months of 1958 to $1,000,826. A year ago the figure was $74,875 for September and $2,72,046 for the first nine months.

CABINET MAKES SESSION PLANS

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal cabinet Wednesday held the first in a three-day series of meetings to plan government legislation for the next session of Parliament.

The session is not expected to begin until the last half of January, but the cabinet is getting an early start on its legislative planning because Prime Minister Diefenbaker will be absent for 7½ weeks on his world tour, which will last until Dec. 19.

BACKTRACK ON DISARMING

Russia Raises Hopes for Talks

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—An apparent backtracking move by Russia has renewed optimism at the United Nations for the success of the Big Three disarmament talks starting in Geneva at the end of the month.

Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin surprised delegates in the UN's political committee Wednesday with a brief statement indicating an attitude of agreement by the Soviet Union when it meets outside the UN with ambassadors of Britain and the United States.

"It can now be stated that all three governments agree on control, and therefore there should be no difficulty in the coming Geneva negotiations to agree on a discontinuance of atomic weapons tests," Zorin said.

His statement changed the whole picture in the UN's current disarmament debate. For the last two days Zorin's own words had led to fears that the Geneva conference would end up in the same kind of deadlock that has marked disarmament negotiations at the UN.

What apparently broke the log-jam Wednesday was reiteration by Henry Cabot Lodge of the U.S. and Britain's State Minister Allan Noble that the two big Western powers would accept, as a starting point for the Geneva talks, the blueprint for a nuclear suspension and control system worked out by a small UN committee of experts at the UN's atomic conference in Geneva last month.

'REVENOOERS' CATCH 'LOADED' BOOTLEGGERS

Tacks, Smoke Screen Prove Flop

CLAREMONT, Okla. (UPI)—A pair of Oklahoma City bootleggers laid down a thick smoke screen Wednesday to escape pursuing "revenooers," but got caught anyway.

Sheriff Amos Ward said the pair's elegantly-equipped 1958 auto, laden with 40 cases of whisky, squealed around turn after turn as it disgorged puffs of smoke through the exhaust.

But one of the turns was a wrong one and the car was forced to a screeching stop on a dead-end gravel road.

Ward said the car was equipped with such somewhat conventional conveniences as air-conditioning and power steering, and such less-conventional items as:

A pressurized oil tank that belched out thick smoke from the exhaust, and

A carpet-tack dispenser between the rear wheels.

A trap door that was supposed to release 10 pounds of tacks on the highway failed to work during the chase.

The Right of Fair Trial

UNDER THE CANADIAN theory of justice, an accused person is presumed innocent until proved guilty—with very rare and technical exceptions.

The burden of proof is on the Crown and, in serious cases, a verdict is delivered after study of the evidence by the jury.

The whole principle of the system depends on the condition of the jury. Its members must not be prejudiced. They must come to the case with no preconceived ideas of a person's guilt and must consider only the evidence placed before them.

This is the principle on which a national legal body has applied to Justice Minister Fulton for new rulings on press coverage of preliminary hearings.

Mr. Fulton is now giving thought to a plan which would require newspapers — and other reporters — to avoid any reference to admissions, statements or confessions at a preliminary hearing. Such admissions, statements or confessions are frequently ruled inadmissible during trials.

If they are published in newspapers, or otherwise made known to the public at large, they can create an impression in a juror's mind which remains there during trial. This is particularly true in small communities.

Though the juror does not hear, during the trial, any admissions, statements or confessions ruled inadmissible, if he has prior knowledge of them his mind can be unsettled on the point. His complete impartiality can be disturbed.

The contention of the legal body seeking exclusion of such material from reports on preliminary hearings seems reasonable and proper. As a spokesman for the group says, "Freedom of the press is not at issue, but the rights of an accused to a fair trial."

By the adoption of the suggestion the person standing trial would be protected only up to the point of the trial. What could properly be used against the accused then, would be used.

It is to be hoped Mr. Fulton will act on the suggestion, and define his rulings in very clear terms. No responsible newspaper would be willing to injure an individual's right to a fair trial.

On the other hand, if regulations are framed to prevent publication of admissions, statements and confessions, or to ban mention of their existence in reports of preliminary hearings, then the regulations should do just that. They should not be allowed to give any person presiding over such hearings the idea that he can exert general censorship or suppress legitimate news.

A Little Closer Together

EVENTS ON THE QUEMOY front suggest that both sides are now ready to seek a peaceful solution. The latest moves appear designed to save face rather than to promote military advantage. Only very rash and inept action by either side is likely now to reverse the conciliatory trend.

Such action, of course, is still quite possible. An ill-advised military thrust by Communist forces, a "we got 'em licked" boast by some high Washington source, could easily upset the balance. With the present cease-fire, however, hopes of a settlement—at least of the small offshore islands issue—are brighter.

The United States will not wish to appear to be making concessions as the result of Communist force or threat of force. With that principle maintained, there are definite signs that the Quemoy and Matsu islands could be relinquished, or at least demilitarized.

On the other hand, the Chinese Communist regime must be allowed to show some net gain from the whole dispute, particularly if they accept negotiation rather than force as a means of achieving a settlement.

As for Generalissimo Chiang, some means must be found to permit him to remove his troops from Quemoy with the appearance of military choice rather than political necessity.

All three parties to the dispute have at one time or another given indication that compromise is possible. In this regard it is interesting to note that the opinions of the bystanders—the allies of the United States—have carried great weight in the controversy. The publicly hinted and privately expressed opinion of Britain, for instance, has undoubtedly played its part in the recent amendment of American policy, with Washington adopting a much less do-or-die attitude towards the offshore islands.

Canada has been less outspoken, except insofar as Mr. Lester Pearson may still be thought of in some international places as a spokesman for this country. But it may be that Ottawa has succeeded in conveying to Washington by unpublicized means our disinclination to go to war over small islands which geographically are obviously a part of the Chinese mainland.

What U.S. policy exactly is today, it is difficult to tell. The official statements have been fogged and conflicting, the marches and countermarches made in baffling succession.

A UPI dispatch quotes Washington officials as "saying that another way of putting Dulles' latest statement on the Quemoy crisis is that two weeks ago he defined one extreme limit of the U.S. position and yesterday he sketched in the other limit. The eventual American stand, they indicated, might be somewhere in the middle."

That seems to be a method of policy-making which, considering the hazards of brinkmanship and the dangers involved in the present crisis, leaves much to be guessed at and much to be desired. A little more clarity would be welcome from the nation which leads the free world.

Mental Health Inquiry

PROVINCIAL SECRETARY W. D. Black appears to have shifted ground by calling for an American Psychiatric Association investigation of British Columbia's mental health services.

He had previously declined a proposed inquiry by the B.C. Medical Association, but now seems willing to have an internationally reputed organization conduct a survey.

This is all to the good. Mr. Black has been informed in no uncertain terms that the services are deteriorating and the Provincial Government is being blamed for this alleged lapse.

It is to be hoped the investigation will proceed speedily and that the Government and public will not be kept waiting unduly for a report.

A prolonged delay would carry unpleasant implications of which the Government, politically astute as it is, is quite aware.

No Room for Race Bias

A GROUP OF NEGROES, MEETing in a central Toronto church, have formed a Canadian Association for the Advancement of Colored People. The president elected for the new organization says "We feel there should be a voice for the 32,000 Negroes in Canada."

The establishment of such an association comes as a surprise to many Canadians. They are asking themselves, among other questions, if color problems in this country have reached a point where Negroes feel them must consider themselves in a class separate from other Canadians.

Incidents have arisen in this nation in recent years reflecting a prejudice by certain people to others of dark skin. In most cases, however, such demonstrations of bias have drawn sharp discipline from the authorities and censure from the public in general.

The inference to be drawn from the formation of the association in Toronto might be that such anti-color sentiment is growing and that those who are not white must organize to protect themselves.

There is, of course, an alternative explanation. Conceivably the Negroes in Canada are bent on a campaign of self-improvement aimed particularly at helping the less fortunate of their members to gain a better economic and social status. It is to be hoped the latter is the case. In this country, which has achieved a major triumph in welding a substantial degree of unity from a complex mixture of racial material, there is no room for discrimination on color lines.

The last thing Canada wants is the importation of race friction that has flared so disastrously to the south.

Some Men Are Lucky

AFTER a month in the wilds without newspapers, one always returns to face a great blank. What happened in that month will never be known—a substantial chunk cut out of a man's life and permanently lost. But, after history's furious passage, one hears a few vague rumors and an occasional piece of what reporters call hard news. Among these items, while people hereabouts perhaps did not realize its significance, was the death of Charles Dunning. Thereby, little remembered, hangs one of the strangest tales and wildest chances of our modern Canadian history.

Hutchison

DUNNING, when I first knew him in my apprentice days at Ottawa, was the second most powerful man in Canada, standing just below Mackenzie King and apparently closing that narrow gap. He was also one of the ablest men the nation has produced in modern times, one of the luckiest and, as it turned out, one of the unluckiest.

He once told me how he had arrived in the Federal Government by the merest freak (though I suspect the thing was more complicated than he said or, perhaps, knew).

As the boy premier of Saskatchewan he had welcomed King to a public meeting, in the historic election of 1926 and was amazed to hear the prime minister announce that his youthful friend, Dunning, would soon join the national cabinet.

ACTUALLY, whether Dunning knew it or not, the central brain trust of the Liberal Party already had decided to put him in King's place if things continued to go wrong. (The correspondence and documents proving this intention are on a secret file in a certain place and no doubt will be printed some day for the interest of historians.)

King's first ministry, starting in 1921, had appeared to many Liberals as an indifferent success. Considering the difficulties of the postwar era, it can now be judged as an almost unbelievable feat of Liberal recovery. In the 1925 election, however, the brilliant Arthur Meighen elected more members than King who hung on with the support of the then powerful farmers' Progressive Party.

TO the inner brains of Liberalism King looked like a failure. Dunning, a much abler man superficially (and only superficially) was the natural substitute for the long haul ahead, and preparations for his elevation went forward smoothly and secretly.

King probably knew all about it, for he knew everything. Anyway, by the spring of 1926 he seemed to be near the end of his career, after the explosion of the Customs Scandal in a stalemated Parliament. The future evidently belonged to Meighen.

Then came King's astounding break of luck—and of political genius—in the form of the Constitution Issue. King exploited it, as no living man could have done, to win the 1926 election.

For the first time, and forever afterwards until his retirement, King was master of his party. As an incident in larger events, Governor General Byng and his brief prime minister, Meighen, had unwittingly used the Constitutional Issue to wreck Dunning's chance to become prime minister. Dunning joined King's government and soon dominated its whole fiscal policy but he was a lieutenant only.

TWO more pieces of bad luck (if it is bad luck to miss the prime minister's office) lay ahead of Dunning.

First, James G. Gardiner, his right-hand man in Saskatchewan, came to Ottawa and, in his honorable ambition to succeed King later on, proceeded to thrust Dunning aside.

The intramural feud between the two great figures from Saskatchewan was not generally known but it rent the cabinet; which suited King quite well, for he relished quarrels that divided ambitious followers and left him unchallenged.

Physically at least, Gardiner was the stronger of the two lieutenants. He had a battering-ram courage and a constitution which still permits him today, at the age of 73, to do the work of his farm.

Under the attrition of the finance department, constant overwork and the battering of his colleague, Dunning suffered his second misfortune. He lost his health, collapsed in the House of Commons and retired to become in due course one of the nation's most powerful businessmen.

IN the board rooms of Montreal the immigrant boy from England and boy wonder of provincial politics discovered where he truly belonged. A right-wing Conservative in the bosom of the Liberal Party now found, in big business, the proper outlet for his remarkable talents. He died a Liberal and one of the most honestly conservative men I have ever encountered. In my last talk with him, a couple of years ago, he made my flesh creep with his analysis of our radical society.

Dunning was a man of unequalled capacity within his field of finance and business, despite his lack of formal education.

His former colleague, Senator T. A. Crerar, a man of larger view but less drive and ambition, writes that Dunning's field, though important, was not wide enough to make him a statesman of the first rank.

That may be so. But the interesting thing about him, as one looks back, is the sheer accident of 1926 which simultaneously destroyed Meighen—a tragic loss to the nation—made King and halted Dunning's march to the top.

'Truth and Accuracy'

A vital difference between traditional and modernist art students is, that the traditionalists invariably had and have a more or less unconscious regard for the pursuit of truth and accuracy.

One need not be learned in art to know whether truth and accuracy are accorded any honor in the local Art Gallery, particularly in the portrayal of B.C. scenery.

Not In Yet

It has come to my attention that some confusion exists in the minds of the citizens of Victoria as regards the Salvation Army and the Community Chest. In Vancouver the Army is a member of the Community Chest and the TV publicity from that city has led Victorians to believe the local Community Chest campaign also includes the Salvation Army here. Such, however, is not the case.

I have had the honor to act as chairman of the Red Shield Appeal in Victoria for the past six years. The appeal is made each year during the month of May and the citizens of Victoria have rallied to the support of the work of the Salvation Army by giving most generously. This year we again reached our objective of $40,000, and I would like to take this opportunity to express my sincere appreciation for the splendid and continued support given to the work of the Army here.

In view of these facts I would like to make it quite clear that the Salvation Army in Victoria do not receive any funds from the Victoria Community Chest.

Different Chinas

It is disappointing to find that there is still mudslinging against Peoples China.

I would like to advise Mrs. Colclough to read more on New China. Yes, it is a big difference, as Mrs. Colclough stated in her letter on October 9, between New China and Formosa.

New China is for progress and peace and Chiang Kai-shek is trying to plunge the world into another war with the U.S. government behind him, that is plain as day and night.

On the Brink

The conference some little time ago between Khrushchev and Mao Tse-tung, when they signed pacts and embraced each other, is just now being understood by thinking people, in Britain especially.

Its great purpose was to try to divide and cause estrangement between the British Commonwealth and the U.S.A. If that could be done the U.S.A. would become entangled and alone would face a war with six hundred million Chinese —the Yellow Peril! The Quemoy affair is also engineered to take our eyes away from the Middle East.

Domination of the Middle East is Khrushchev's great goal, and he will never relent. We should be prepared from now on for a great crisis which will shake the whole world and will also shake all nations.

Anyone now can see that the complications of this struggle between God's people and Russia and her satellites is beyond mere man's ability to rectify, and that it will take something like a divine miracle to save this world from total destruction.

All it needs now is some madman or imbecile to pull the trigger. Beware, we are on the brink!

Not Losing Steam

Frank Patridge and Harry Wyer don't seem to be losing any steam. Their gramaphone record plays incessantly. And not long ago, Mr. Patridge, in a frantic effort to find some kind of evidence to prove that wages control prices mentioned the St. Joseph's Hospital's report for 1957, wherein wages accounted for 71 cents of every dollar spent.

By citing figures from one industry only and not comparing them with figures from the same industry at some time in the past, he helps to demonstrate the hollowness of his claims.

An estimate by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, General Statistics Branch, on national production, published in 1934, on page 25, puts the ratio between "property income" in Canada and personal service income for 1930-31 at 36 to 93.

Figures in the Canada Yearbook for 1956, page 1089, after totaling up all investment income, net income of all incorporated farms and non-farm unincorporated businesses and comparing this with all wages, salaries and supplementary labor income give us a fraction for profits-wages of 54-100 for the year 1954.

If Mr. Patridge took the trouble to study economics he would find that as industry develops and technology increases, wages constitute a smaller and smaller per centage of production costs. And in the most highly developed industries relative wages are lowest—such as the pulp and paper industry.

During the strike there, not very long ago, it was announced in the press that the amount lost in wages was $6,000,000 and the amount in production lost was $50,000,000, wages being therefore 12 per cent of the values produced.

The evils Mr. Patridge complains about are effects of capitalist society and will be with us as long as this society remains. We don't imagine he would entertain the idea of a classless, wageless setup with production for use though. He seems to be happy complaining.

Eye on the Tots

This is in reference to an article about "tot lots" which appeared in your Times on October 8.

More playgrounds are definitely needed but not for tots under five years of age without parental supervision. Any child under five years of age should not be wandering the road to any other lot but should be kept in his own—fenced if necessary. Of course that may frustrate the child and perhaps the mother!

If we kept our tots at home there might be fewer accidents and better neighbor relations.

I realize that this is not the issue involved between Mr. Hawkes and Coun. Murphy, but perhaps it is one to which more thought should be given.

SUBSCRIBER.

In the Beholder's Eye

The silly controversy over the Andres Salgo works of art was more amusing than serious.

He is not the first or the last artist to be so harshly criticized.

May I quote a maxim—author unknown to me—which should (but probably won't) end the stupid bickering over paintings and sculpture: "Beauty is in the eye of the beholder."

Were this not true, every man would desire the same woman; every woman would want the same hat, and every dog would bark for the same bone.

Getting Cosy?

I don't know how others may see it but observations from this quarter confirm that the Tories and CCF people are rubbing shoulders in fine style. The two seem to act more closely one than either of them would care to admit in public. The last two national elections gave the first indications of affinity.

In the campaigns common sentiment ran through both camps. The CCF wasn't bothered one iota about the calibre of the men bent on running the country. Nor would it acknowledge the simple truth that virtually everything the nation can chalk up in terms of full employment, social security, economic growth and international prestige flowed from Liberal rule, against organized Tory opposition.

For the CCF, therefore, to lean toward the Tories is odd, since the CCF claims to be the sole guardian of the interests of the workers.

One thing that should be worth watching is how the two of them will react to the huge deficit now certain to figure in the next budget. They both ranted furiously about the surpluses during the Harris era—as if the principle of putting a little aside in good years to pay off debt is extravagant. Those of us who are jobless can well vouch for the soundness of this principle. If we had no holdover from the good years we'd certainly be in bad shape.

A few of the "togetherness" signs are as follows. A recent UN post in Asia for Mr. Coldwell. Surely this must have had a Dief OK. The big CLC meet this year in Winnipeg invited Dief to attend. The other day Mr. Starr was in Vancouver to speak to a labor gathering. Mr. Starr apparently is the white-haired boy. Before coming west he trotted to Atlantic City to talk to the steelworkers' union, an organization big in CCF politics. Finally, Ontario's Tory Premier Frost recently gave the main address to a labor rally in Toronto.

UNEMPLOYED.

Death of a Canadian Weekly

AS THE first editor in London of Roy Thomson's Canada Review I am saddened (even at this distance) to realize it has ceased publication. I am glad nevertheless that the work of interpreting Canada to Britain is being carried on with the first publication in London of an overseas edition of the Toronto Globe and Mail.

The early days of Canada Review were in the Dickensian tradition. We started publication early in 1953 in a dusty, cob-webbed office in the Strand, with an old-fashioned candlestick telephone and only one line out!

This meant that I had to compete with the manager (Ken Thomson of Toronto) and the advertising manager in making contacts for an entirely new paper. And on occasion, when these enthusiasts were feeling extra vocal, I used to sneak down to a teashop and make my pleas via the threepenny call box.

It was all part of the fun.

The material for the paper was flown to London from Toronto over Trans-Canada Air Lines and the finished copy had to be taken to Waterloo station and put on the train to Bournemouth, where for a time the paper was printed by the long-suffering Bournemouth Times—120 miles from London.

Later, when Roy Thomson bought The Scotsman, it was teletyped 400 miles from The Scotsman's London office direct to the head office plant in Edinburgh. Such a complicated operation naturally had its headaches and, when there were bad fogs over Britain, the copy might be landed anywhere between the south of England and the north of Scotland.

On one occasion I had it transported by motor van from Prestwick Airport to Edinburgh. There were floods in between and at one point the driver of the van sent the copy by rowboat from one side of a flooded stretch to the other, where it was picked up by a bus driver.

In the early days I used to haunt the big London railway stations to make sure Canada Review was put on the right trains for the right places and sometimes experienced the chagrin of seeing huge bundles of it left behind on the platforms.

But it was a great experience and something of a crusade: the interpretation of Canada to a people who wanted to know more about it—especially the thousands who were contemplating emigration.

Lord Beaverbrook (that ebullient New Brunswicker) was an enthusiastic supporter of the paper. He placed the resources of the vast Daily Express library at our disposal and wrote generous letters which we were able to use in our promotion material.

Bill McAdam, until recently our Agent General at B.C. House, was a constant friend in need, and Lord Tweedsmuir, son of a former governor-general of Canada, once gave us a brilliant article on Anglo-Canadian relations —and refused payment for it!

Canada Review made thousands of friends in Britain and it is my hope they will transfer their support to the overseas edition of the Toronto Globe and Mail, which has taken over where The Review left off in the great work of bringing Canada closer to the Old Land.—Norman Cribbens.

A WOMAN'S OUTLOOK

By RUTH ENKE

Free From Fear

I SUPPOSE THAT, in a couple of months from now, the sayings of 1958 will be rounded up and reprinted in the last papers of the year.

I hope that the journalists whose task this is will remember Mr. Justice Cyril Salmon and what he said to the nine young men he sentenced at London's Old Bailey for their part in the Notting Hill Race Riots.

I hope, too, that parents and teachers who have not already brought this speech to the attention of the young will find the time and chance to do so.

Ruth

What Justice Salmon said was this:

"You are a minute and insignificant section of the population who have brought shame upon the district in which you live, and have filled the whole nation with horror, indignation and disgust.

"Everyone, irrespective of the color of their skins, is entitled to walk through our streets in peace with their heads erect, and free from fear. This is a right which these courts will always unfailingly uphold.

"As far as the law is concerned, you are entitled to think what you like, however foul your thoughts; to feel what you like, however brutal and debased your emotions; to say what you like provided you do not infringe the rights of others, or imperil the Queen's peace.

"But once you translate your dark thoughts and brutal feelings into savage acts such as these, the law will be swift to punish you, the guilty, and to protect your victims."

He thereupon sentenced the nine youths to four years' imprisonment.

* * *

To my mind, the key sentence is: "Everyone, irrespective of the color of their skins, is entitled to walk through our streets in peace with their heads erect, and free from fear."

Justice Salmon's grammar is shocking. His sentiments are magnificent.

As an ordinary citizen, I am truly grateful to the journalists who seized upon his words as noble and important, and sent them out to a watching, worried world.

My fervent hope is that in the future when the non-white races are in control they, too, will remember Justice Salmon's words.

May their courts always unfailingly uphold the right for US to walk through the streets with our heads erect, and free from fear.

Psychoanalytic Theories

and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

The other day a well-educated woman was angry with me because she heard me say that I just couldn't believe in many of the weird theories of psychoanalysts. I pointed out that they were only theories, many of which could never be proved either right or wrong. I said that this sort of thing is outside the field of science. In science one uses theories, but they are admittedly tentative, and usually they are only attempts to correlate and explain a large group of facts.

Alvarez

If I could have taken the angry lady into my library and pulled out a number of articles written by eminent phychiatrists, I could have shown her that they were not satisfied with some of the theories. For instance, I might show her a fine book called "The Caricature of Love: A discussion of the social, psychiatric, and literary problems of abnormal and mixed-up sexuality in men and women," (Ronald Press Co., N.Y.). It was written by my friend, Dr. Hervey Cleckley, Clinical Professor of Psychiatry and Neurology at the Medical College of Georgia. It will be remembered that he and his associate, Dr. Thigpen, recently wrote the remarkable book called "The Three Faces of Eve," (McGaw-Hill, N.Y.). Dr. Cleckley wrote, also, "The Mask of Sanity" (Mosby, St. Louis, Mo.), in which he described perfectly the psychopathic delinquent and his often weird behavior.

In his new book on the problems of homosexuality, Cleckley said "Some of the popular theoretical concepts widely regarded as valid psychiatric discoveries are so unrealistic that those who support them find it necessary to alter the meaning of commonplace words in order to define and discuss them with straight faces. Such concepts are, nevertheless, so fashionable today, so identified in many minds with the idea of progress and scientific achievement, that it is scarcely an exaggeration to say that he who dares to question them is often made to feel guilty of impiety." I hope my readers will note that this statement was made by a distinguished professor of psychiatry—not by me.

Dr. Cleckley points out that Fliess, the man who for 10 years was Freud's confidant in his work and the man who had the strongest influence on his thoughts during his formative years was a curious person who certainly was no scientist. "He not only worked with the methods of numerology, but also enthusiastically extended the researches on planetary influences begun centuries before by medieval astrologists."

It was Fliess who gave Freud the idea that all of us to some extent are bisexual. On this pseudo-scientist, Freud bestowed the title of "The Kepler of biology." Kepler, of course, was one of the great men in early scientific astronomy. Interestingly, in the end, most of Fliess' postulates and imaginary discoveries had to be rejected by Freud. The one that he hung onto was the one on bisexuality.

To me, one of the most important sentences I have read in a long day is a statement on page 115 of Cleckley's book in which he quotes from the report of a 1951 conference on psychiatric education. The committee then wrote, "Some of the bolder dynamic hypothese, such as the libido theory of Freud, have not been of a character that made feasible prompt scientific validation or rejection (could not be proved or disproved). Many teachers of psychiatry have been troubled by the problem of the medical student who has been prematurely indoctrinated in some abstract system of psychodynamic hypotheses, and who needs special help in working out a more realistic integration of facts and concepts."

In simple words, one of the saddest things about young workers in psychiatry today is that, while they were in college, their minds were so filled up with unproved and unprovable theories that later, few were able to learn anything new from their experience. They could not learn because they were so sure they already knew all they needed to know.

In order to see if today some executives are really working too hard, a while ago Mr. Arthur S. Talbott questioned 111 top executives in California, all of whom were getting $35,000 a year and upward. He found 37 men who, perhaps because they owned their company or had a small business, worked only some 30 hours a week. They took life easy. But there was a group of 10, hard-working, 40-hour-a-week men, and also a group of 64 men who worked hard from 69 to 112 hours a week. They were nearly all connected with large national corporations. They came to the office at 8 and left about 6.30 with a brief-case full of work. Often they went to dinner with men with whom they had to talk business.

Most of these executives were pleasant and affable and highly efficient. They got things done. But three out of four had an unhappy wife who felt badly neglected. In several cases the wife got so fed-up with neglect that she got a divorce. But the man so loved his strenuous life that when there came a choice between wife and work, he clung to his work.

Prepare for Winter Now

Too often we forget La Fontaine's fable of the cricket and the ant. Like the cricket, we are apt to spend our time enjoying these beautifully mild fall days and forget to prepare for winter.

Jack

The evening will come, most likely within the next few weeks, when we shall look outside and find the clouds gone, the sky bejewelled with stars, and the frost sparkling on the ground.

It is then our thoughts will turn to putting a little heat on in the greenhouse and the covers on the cold frames.

At this point it is not uncommon to discover that some part of the heating system requires attention before it can be used.

Stove pipes, a very essential part of the heating system in most small greenhouses, have a habit of rusting away during summer and giving a disconcerting display of sparks and smoke when heat is needed in a hurry.

Even electrical heating systems can act up. A half-dozen earwigs, some sow bugs, and a quarter-mile of spider web inside a switch or thermostat can keep the amateur greenhouse man guessing for half the night.

Rarely do we find the cold frame covers intact after several months in storage. There is usually a piece of glass missing directly over the plants requiring the most protection.

The cricket enjoyed every hour of warmth and sunshine while the ant industriously attended to its needs for the winter. When the first frost comes, how many of us will be crickets and how many ants?

All metals except mercury are solid at ordinary temperatures.

The Day YOU Were Born

Young Mrs. Audrey Naylor, of 1213 Palmer Road, is today's birthday guest.

The Naylors (he works in the parts department of a motor supply firm) have a son who will be two in December, and another brand-new baby due at the same time. They met while ice skating here, but are too busy now for much skating with their new house and new hobby of 8 mm. movie-making.

Audrey also knits for both her family and her friends, and there will be many a new sweater or pair of socks under Christmas trees from her flying fingers this year.

On the day she was born:

John N. Garner, vice-president of the United States, paid a visit to Victoria, accompanied by 46 members of the Senate and Congress. They sailed the same evening on the Ss. President Grant for the Orient, where they took part in the inaugural ceremonies of the first president of the Philippine Commonwealth. Mr. Garner stated that his trip was of "deep international significance".

The retiring Prime Minister of Canada, R. B. Bennett, was clearing out his desk while Premier-elect, Mackenzie King, meditated upon the formation of his cabinet.

Twenty Victorians met in the Union Building and organized themselves into the "British Columbia Provincial Social Credit League".

Rev. F. W. McKinnon was chosen president, D. L. McMartin vice-president, and C. Keeping secretary. They announced that though the two federal Social Credit candidates had polled only 1,815 votes between them, they had resolved to contest every provincial seat in the next British Columbia election. "We had only 20 at our meeting," said Mr. McKinnon, "but . . . hundreds are behind us."

The date? Wednesday, October 16, 1935.

BLIND DOUK YOUTH

'He Doesn't Want To Talk'

TRAIL (CP) — A Sons of Freedom Doukhobor youth, who was seriously injured in a bomb blast several weeks ago has returned to his home at Winlaw.

Harry Bojey, 18, lost one eye and has partial vision in the other eye.

The youth was charged by police with manufacturing a bomb and is on $5,000 bail. He was released from hospital in Vancouver last Wednesday. He is scheduled to appear in court in Kelowna Thursday.

Bojey's father, William, said in an interview his son is "in no condition to see anyone. Even his mother and I stay with him only for limited periods of time."

Harry was 17 when the explosion occurred. He observed his 18th birthday Sept. 21 as surgeons fought to save his vision. Now, says his father, "we are trying to save his mind."

"Harry doesn't talk much any more. He doesn't seem to want to talk. He just lies in bed and we try to get him into conversation for a limited period of time. He's very depressed."

AUTOMATIC LANDING SYSTEM

Pilot Just Sits Back

LONDON (AP)—British aviation scientists today announced a new automatic landing system that can bring a plane down safely on the runway through thick fog while the pilot sits back with folded arms.

Landing systems now in use guide aircraft down a radio beam to about 150 feet but the pilot has to control the touchdown after sighting the ground.

The new system, developed by scientists of the government supply ministry, utilizes magnetic fields induced by two cables along each side of the runway. These hold the aircraft to the runway centre line.

An instrument known as a radio altimeter provides accurate measurements of height down to zero and automatically adjusts the rate of descent.

An automatic speed control keeps speed constant during approach and shifts throttles to a safe idling speed as the plane levels out to land.

At a demonstration Wednesday the system brought a Vickers Varsity aircraft down to land from about six miles away.

MORE DISCUSSIONS, SAYS STRACHAN

B.C. Leading Labor Party Drive

British Columbia is leading the rest of Canada in holding area conferences between the CCF and labor on creation of a new political force, B.C. Opposition leader Robert Strachan said Wednesday.

The CCF leader left the city today on a province-wide tour promoting CLC-CCF political action. He is to attend the B.C. Federation of Labor convention at Vancouver next week.

Mr. Strachan said Canada is the last of the Commonwealth countries to create a political force drawing together the "intellectuals, white collar workers, farm groups and trade unionists."

Move toward formation of the new party began at the CCL-TLC merger convention at Hamilton in 1956. At Winnipeg this year, the new unified labor body, the Canadian Labor Congress, proposed a merger with the CCF for political purposes.

CLOSE TO CCF

Mr. Strachan said the principles proposed for policy and constitution are closely aligned with CCF policies.

An executive committee of nine members from the CCF and nine from the CLC is preparing reports and recommendations which will go before both the 1960 conventions of the CLC and the CCF.

"The report will lay down terms under which a founding convention will be called, probably in 1961," said Mr. Strachan.

He thought the next provincial election would see the new party taking the place of the CCF in B.C. politics.

The national committee is split into subcommittees, one examining workings of previous labor governments and one preparing a booklet of 50 or 60 questions.

DRAFT CONSTITUTION

They will ask: How will the new party be financed? Who will be members? What will the name be? These and other questions will be circulated among all trade unions, CCF union groups and other interested groups. They are expected to discuss the questions. Answers will be sent back to the national committee.

When a draft constitution and statement of policy is arrived at in the CCF, the documents will go back to the local groups, at least three months before the 1960 convention, so submissions can be prepared at the "grass roots" level.

On party financing, Mr. Strachan said, "The CLC has 1,000,000 members—even at two cents a month, think what it would do," in building a campaign fund.

METROPOLITAN SETUP REPORTED FOR MONTREAL

MONTREAL (CP) — The Gazette says today Premier Duplessis has announced that legislation for setting up a system of metropolitan government for the Montreal area is to be introduced at the next session of the Quebec legislature.

In a Quebec City dispatch the Montreal daily says the premier called the legislation "long overdue" and declared every effort would be made to expedite the law when it is introduced.

A committee of city council is studying the question in Montreal.

ACCUSED'S STATEMENT INVALID

Party Theft Charge Fails

A 12-man jury was ordered to bring in a verdict of not guilty in Assize Court Tuesday after Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane had ruled that certain statements by an accused man were inadmissible as evidence.

John Erickson, 429 Belleville, was acquitted of being in possession of stolen goods.

The charge against Erickson followed a house party at 3470 Mayfair last April at which two rings, three watches, a portable radio and a set of cuff links were stolen.

Crown prosecutor Lloyd McKenzie told the court that without the evidence the Crown had no case.

Alan Bigelow appeared for the defence.

Russia Sets Off New Atom Blast

WASHINGTON (AP) — Another nuclear weapons blast has been set off by Russia in the Arctic.

This is the eighth such blast reported by the Atomic Energy Commission since Sept. 30. The commission said the blast was of high yield, similar to the shot announced on Oct. 12. It did not give a date.

PRESENT GENERATION:

Greatest or Worst?

TORONTO (CP)—The present generation, says J. Harold Wilkins, is not beat.

It's the greatest.

The president of Optimist International said in an interview Wednesday that never has youth been so "clean, honest and upright."

"Some of the bilious pessimists of our day are howling that the young people are going to hell because they came up with a new Virginia reel called rock 'n' roll but the capers we cut were a long way from a Wednesday night prayer meeting."

VANCOUVER (CP) — A Roman Catholic priest says the "unbelievable" behavior of many young people points to a serious decline in Christian civilization.

Very Rev. J. P. Leonard, national director of the Holy Child Association, told the 38th annual convention of the Catholic Women's League of Canada Wednesday night:

"As we face the world in which we live we are shocked to find the unbelievable behavior of many young people—their complete misconception of the meaning and the purpose of sex, their lack of good manners, a puzzling disregard for modest clothing and a craze for the most shabby kinds of dress; not to speak of the number of cases that have come to the public attention in the matter of 'drink'."

Australia has chartered two ships for trips to its Antarctic research stations in 1958-59.

Traffic Policemen Blamed For Getting Themselves Hit

Police themselves were blamed Wednesday for an accident in which a woman's car hit two traffic officers investigating another mishap.

"If they hadn't been standing in the street there would have been no accident," defence counsel W. H. M. Haldane told the court.

Mrs. Grace F. Robertson, 1410 Andrews, pleaded not guilty to a careless driving charge laid after the accident on Pandora near Camosun during heavy rain at 1.45 a.m. three weeks ago.

Magistrate H. C. Hall gave the accused benefit of doubt and dismissed the charge.

Cons. Lawrie Belfry stood at the left rear of a parked truck and Cons. Richard Ward stood next to a car parked in front of the truck. Both vehicles had been in an accident.

The policemen were injured slightly by Mrs. Robertson's car when it drew abreast of the parked vehicles.

ARM BAND SUGGESTED

The accused said she had to pull over close because of an oncoming car overtaking another car. There was nothing to indicate an accident nor that there were policemen in the street, she said.

Mr. Haldane said police "should have been wearing some kind of arm band."

He pointed to the fact both officers wore dark clothing, that the street was dark and rain was falling. "It comes up in accident cases all the time.

"The police should be sufficiently trained to take precautions for their own protection and not be opening car doors on the left side."

Cons. Ward said he was standing next to the partly open driver's door of the car while the driver got his auto registration slip.

2 Areas Set To Become Marine Parks

Two areas were set aside Wednesday by the B.C. government for future development as marine parks—the former leper colony site of D'Arcy Island in Haro Strait, and 458 acres near Clayoquot.

D'Arcy Island was a home to lepers between 1892 and 1922 Now returned to the province by the federal government, it was chosen for a marina because of its proximity to Vancouver Island boating.

ARCHIVES GETS PAPERS FROM COLDWELL'S FILES

OTTAWA (CP)—The personal papers of M. J. Coldwell, CCF party leader since 1942, have been deposited in the public archives here for safekeeping.

The 69-year-old party leader, who leaves Canada at the end of November on a United Nations mission to India, said today the papers which include "all sorts of things" won't be accessible to the public for an indefinite time.

Among the papers are letters he has written on matters of public interest, personal letters and notes of his speeches over a 16-year period. The documents now are being sorted and arranged.

The archives already has the papers of J. S. Woodsworth, the first CCF leader who died in 1942.

SOMEONE RATTED TO RATS BEFORE BIG POLICE RAID

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — It was rat killing day in Oklahoma City Wednesday. Shotgun-armed police and firemen with flame throwers waded into a weedy area in the northwest sector.

Police Chief Roy Bergman personally directed the big hunt as housewives who had turned their anti-rat wrath on city hall watched from the sidelines.

After an hour of hunting, a tiny cotton rat poked his nose from the burning debris and was pulverized by shotgun blasts. Only four others were found by the hunters, who had expected some 600.

Bergman said philosophically: "Everyone co-operated but the rats."

Sailors Rescued From Sinking Ship

LONDON (Reuters)—Fifteen crew members of the 1,147-ton Norwegian steamer Gudrun were rescued today from their battered ship as heavy gales swept the North Sea and pounded fishing fleets.

Three ships went to the Gudrun's aid when she reported she was taking water fast and her pumps were not working.

The captain and two crew members stayed on board the vessel in the hope she would remain afloat and be taken in tow.

The Danish trawler Oglint was believed to have sunk in the North Sea after her crew was rescued by another fishing craft. Another trawler was reported missing after sending distress signals.

In England, the Thames overflowed its banks and covered farmland near London. Heavy seas delayed shipping at the river's mouth.

Funeral Set Friday For Harry M. Hind

Funeral services will be held at McCall's chapel at 10.30 a.m. Friday for Harry Muncaster Hind, 759 Newport, formerly Far Eastern manager for Phoenix Assurance Co. of London in Shanghai.

He died Monday at the age of 79.

A resident of Victoria since 1947, Mr. Hind was widely known in golfing and fishing circles.

While his home for many years was in Shanghai, he travelled widely in India, Malaya, Hong Kong and the Philippines. He was an authority on the Far East and counted among his friends many Chinese in the Orient.

In Shanghai, he took an active interest in riding and hunting.

Mr. Hind is survived by the widow, Nancy, and several nephews and nieces in England and Canada.

Island 'Copter Firm Expands Operations

The fledgling firm, Vancouver Island Helicopters, has spread its wings and announced it is ready to add fire-fighting, forest seeding and spraying to its operations.

Operations manager R. P. Taylor said his firm has been granted a class seven specialty licence from the Air Transport Board. Since its origination four years ago, Vancouver Island Helicopters has operated with a class four licence, limiting it to passenger and freight charter service.

The company plans to use its three Beil-47 three-passenger helicopters on seeding and spraying next spring. The aircraft can carry up to 500 pounds of freight.

At this time the company has no plans to increase its fleet. If business warrants it, additional helicopters will be leased for the spring and summer of 1959, Mr. Taylor said.

Short term charter flights cost $100 an hour. Reduced rates apply when the aircraft are used for longer periods.

HUNT FOR MISSING MAN GOES ON

Medicine Man Fails

WANLESS, Man. (CP)—An Indian medicine man burned ritual smoke and chanted incantations Wednesday but searchers following his directions failed to find a trace of Alec Thorne, missing two weeks from his home in this Northern Manitoba settlement.

Louis Prince, a Sioux from the Amactek reservation near Portage la Priarie, told relatives Thorne was killed by an animal and lies in the bush three miles west of his house. He claims to have a sixth sense for finding lost persons.

Thorne, 47, an unemployed railway worker and father of eight children, walked into the bush near his home, Otcober 4. He was lightly clad and carried only a .22 calibre rfile.

Since then RCMP search parties, at times aided by an RCAF helicopter and a police dog, have tramped through the dense bushland. Hundreds of persons have taken part.

RCMP at The Pas, 25 miles south of here, said they are continuing their search independent of the medicine man's directions.

NIGERIA WANTS TO STAY WITH COMMONWEALTH

LONDON (AP)—Membership in the Commonwealth is the aim of all Nigeria's political parties once the country obtains independence in 1960, the prime minister of the Nigerian Federation said Wednesday.

Whatever their differences, said Prime Minister Alhaji Tafawa Balewa, political parties in Nigeria are agreed on two aims:

"Independence in April, 1960, and membership in the Commonwealth."

BIG BOOM AHEAD, SAYS CARLETON DEAN

Local Aid Urged for Universities

Local support from municipal councils and other regional bodies is essential for new universities if they are to "take root and flourish," Greater Victoria educators were told Wednesday.

Addressing a meeting of Victoria College faculty members and principals of lower Island schools at the college auditorium, Carleton University Dean of Arts James A. Gibson emphasized the need for more university facilities to cope with the coming increase of students in Canada.

New universities cannot "be created overnight," he said, and advocated immediate measures to take care of a student increase that will raise the University of Toronto's enrolment to "from 23,000 to 41,000."

"Human materials alone," he said, "can be assembled only with patience and a considerable expenditure and some 'specialist' departments (such as physics) may cost as much in equipment alone as would provide four or five additional professors in the humanities and social sciences."

PEAK BY 1963

Dean Gibson said that the "plateau" represented by a high post-war birthrate could be expected to reach the universities in 1963.

"In 1956 it was estimated that of 100 pupils beginning first grade, seven eventually would arrive at university," he said, "but now it appears that within five years this figure will become at least 11.

"Present universities could cope with this influx but only on a minimum, savagely utilitarian basis.

"It would be many years before they could turn to other than the sheer physical problems of accommodation and maintenance."

Dean Gibson recommended a revaluation of the university process based on a sliding scale of assistance, both academic and financial, to students of varying abilities.

AID FOR STUDENTS

Top students, he said, should receive "generous assistance" and should do "not only better work but more of it."

"Assistance on this scale will be costly," he said, "but I know of no other way in which the intellectual requirements of our universities can be sustained."

For the large mass of average students he advocated a "study now, pay later" plan through the use of bursaries and easy-payment loans.

For the bottom class of students who "may not deserve to proceed to a degree at all" he advocated "tougher treatment."

Hopefuls ought to be told plainly that they can come on the universities' terms, but not on their own. If they enter they must demonstrate effective progress or make room for students who can.

. . . HERE AND THERE . . .

With NORMAN CRIBBENS

I never realized how little there is to do in Victoria until a party of American sailors asked me the simple but difficult question: "Where can we go on a wet afternoon?"

I tried to picture these high-spirited lads walking under the dripping trees in Butchart Gardens, wandering through Helmcken House, the Legislative Buildings or the Art Gallery. No, I couldn't.

What exactly did they want? Why, girls of course. Had they tried the Seamen's Institute on Superior Street?

No good—no girls, they said.

Or the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans' Club on Wharf Street?

No good—no girls.

How about a nice beer in a local tavern?

No good—no girls (unless you take one with you).

What do you do with sailors on a wet afternoon?

SHIP WORKERS TO ASK PEARKES FOR CONTRACTS

A group of out-of-work Victoria shipyard workers today was planning to meet Defence Minister George Pearkes when he visits the city Saturday to open a new technical training school at Naden.

They want to ask him to allot the building of at least one, preferably, two, new destroyer-escorts to the west coast.

A spokesman for the group, Jim McConachie, business manager of Local 191 of the International Brotherhood of Boilermakers here, told The Times it was hoped to form a delegation to Mr. Pearkes, supported by Victoria Metal Trades Council.

"The job situation in the shipyards is so bad now," Mr. McConachie said, "that if we don't get some major shipbuilding work very soon, a lot of men will face a very grim winter indeed."

McDonald pleaded guilty to a charge of careless driving and was fined in city police court.

Police could not say whether the effects of Mrs. Pritchard's injuries actually were responsible for her death. An autopsy was to be performed.

PUBLISHER'S NOTEBOOK

By STUART KEATE

The Truth Can Hurt

VANCOUVER — The first thing to hit me in this city yesterday was a newspaper headline—in big type, screaming: "TOP CITIZENS STINGY, SAYS CHEST HEAD."

Keate

The man quoted was Walter Koerner, the wealthy timber industrialist who came to Canada just before the war and made a fortune out of hemlock by drying it, dressing it up, and calling it "Alaska Pine."

Mr. Koerner pulled no punches.

He took off after Vancouver's doctors—30 per cent of whom ignore the chest drive—architects, engineers, lawyers, dentists, and national companies.

★ ★ ★

All of this, of course, had a familiar ring. It wasn't difficult, even from this distance, to picture a grin creasing the handsome countenance of our own Mr. Justin Harbord.

The only difference was that Mr. Koerner hit harder. Paraphrasing Oscar Levant, he seemed to say: "If there's anybody I've forgotten to insult, I apologize."

I met Mr. Koerner at lunch in the Hotel Vancouver, Wednesday. He appeared bloody but unbowed. "They are saying I am aggressive," he smiled.

★ ★ ★

The cardinal sin of Messrs. Koerner and Harbord is this: They told the truth.

Everyone connected with Chest work has known for years that certain groups were dragging their feet in the matter of charitable giving. The shocking discrepancies have been kept under wraps.

Sooner or later, the facts were bound to emerge. Resentment has been widespread—because the truth always hurts. But Chest officials here wouldn't be too surprised if the end result turned out as Maclean's Magazine revealed in a recent national survey—the more citizens are needled, the more they give.

And, having in mind the really desperate need of many agencies, they're willing to put up with the abuse in order to get the money.

Electric Combine Inquiry Asked

Four Bids On Lighting Identical

City solicitor T. P. O'Grady today was instructed to request a federal anti-combines investigation of four identical bids submitted for street lighting fixtures.

The order to report the tenders and ask for an investigation was issued by finance committee on advice of Mr. O'Grady.

The bids were submitted to council Aug. 28 for 130 street luminaires. Each of the four tenders quoted a price of $52.25 for a single unit or $6,792.50 for the total order.

ALDERMEN SUSPICIOUS

The tenders were made by: Canadian General Electric Co., Canadian Line Materials Co. Ltd., Canadian Westinghouse Supply Co. Ltd., and Northern Electric Co. Ltd.

The bids were rejected after several aldermen voiced suspicion of collusion.

Mr. O'Grady advised finance committee today: "The mere fact that four tenders have . . . quoted the same price for substantially the same article is not, of itself, sufficient to support criminal proceedings."

He said council should not attempt to launch criminal proceedings but should report the matter to the federal anti-combines director and "request he make a further investigation into the circumstances surrounding the transaction."

"That's all we wanted to do," commented Mayor Percy Scurrah. "There was no suggestion that council would prosecute."

Mr. O'Grady was instructed to contact the anti-combines division with the information and report back to the committee.

THE OFF-SHOOT of a 200-year-old grape vine at England's Hampton Court Palace is still yielding 500 pounds of fruit a year at Government House. Head gardener Len Butterworth is seen tending the vine.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today:

Frank Gilbert Dobie, RR1 Victoria, $25 for driving without a licence.

Nancy J. McIlveen, 2850 Park View, $25 for driving without a licence and $20 for speeding over 30.

Leslie R. McMeekin, 1906 Birch, $25 each on two charges of violating his driver's licence restriction and licence suspension until insured.

David Thomas Davidson, RCN, $25 for violation of driver's license restriction and $10 for failing to register a change of address.

Elderly Accused Too Sick, Break-In Trial Adjourned

The trial of an elderly man charged with attempted breaking and entering at Elsea's Gift Shop, 629 Fort Street, was adjourned in Assize Court here today because the man was too sick to attend.

Crown counsel Lloyd McKenzie said John Doak (believed to be 74) of Victoria had been taken from jail to Vancouver General Hospital and was too sick to attend court.

Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane directed that the trial be stood over until Doak was well enough to attend. The 12-man jury sworn in for the trial was excused from duty until Monday next at 11 a.m.

Mr. Doak, of no fixed abode, first was charged at a preliminary hearing at Victoria police court Aug. 13 when he elected to go for trial.

He has no defence counsel.

DADDY'S 200 YEARS OLD

Palace Grapevine Flourishing Here

The offshoots of a 200-year-old grapevine at Hampton Court Palace — stately home of King Henry VIII — are still bearing loads of luscious fruit in a greenhouse at Victoria's Government House.

Len Butterworth, head gardener at Government House, estimates that the 12 vines—two bearing white grapes and 10 black grapes—yield about 500 pounds every year.

Cuttings from the parent vine at Hampton Court were planted in Victoria soil 40 years ago. Since then successive lieutenant-governors and their guests have praised the grapes for their delicious flavor.

Some of them were served to Lord Rowallan, the Chief Scout, when he was entertained by Lieut.-Gov. Frank Ross this week, and afterwards the Chief Scout asked to be shown the historic vine from which they had been picked.

The parent vine at Hampton Court was planted in 1758—long after King Henry and his wives had vanished into history. It has since grown to a length of several hundred yards and is a favorite showpiece for tourists visiting the palace.

The annual yield of this vine is estimated at more than 1,000 pounds a year.

Cuttings from the vine were sent to Government House here in 1918 as a gift from the British government, which now controls Hampton Court Palace.

"The vines have an amazing virility," Mr. Butterworth said, "but they call for careful handling and much care."

Just recently the head gardener took some cuttings from the Government House vines—extending the length of two sides of the greenhouse—and planted them against the end wall.

"They are coming on nicely," he said. "Judging from the history of the parent vine at Hampton Court, they should continue bearing fruit for centuries to come."

Rat-Garbage Hazard Brings Man to Court

Alexander Szpradowski, 733 Discovery, changed his plea to guilty midway through a trial in city police court today on a charge of causing a public health hazard.

Magistrate H. C. Hall remanded him to next Thursday for sentence.

Court was told five properties owned by the accused on North Park were littered with rat and fly-catching garbage spilled out of inadequate containers.

Children were shown in photographs playing amid the filth.

Sanitary inspector Lloyd Smith said the situation was dangerous to public health.

When an inspection was made Sept. 26 there was a dead rat in the vicinity and flies buzzing around the garbage.

There also was scrap metal and lumber lying about. "The place was very untidy and there were no lids for the garbage cans," Mr. Smith said.

Charge was laid under the Public Health Bylaw, 1939, prosecutor T. P. O'Grady said.

He suggested the remand in order that a further report may be made on what steps have been taken to remedy the situation.

The accused, when given the opportunity to make his defence, told Magistrate Hall his lawyer advised him to plead guilty.

Civil Service Commission Stands Firm---No Increase

OTTAWA (CP)—The Civil Service Commission has reaffirmed its recommendation to the federal government against a general salary increase for the civil service.

In a letter to the Civil Service Federation made public today, A. D. P. Heeney, commission chairman, told heads of civil service associations that the commissioners "find no reason to alter the conclusions set out in my letter of recommendation of July 17th to the minister of finance."

Mr. Heeney said he is surprised the protest from the civil service groups that followed the July recommendation made only passing refence to an accompanying commission finding that salaries in certain classes of civil service jobs were appreciably lower than in comparable jobs in industry. Recommendations on that matter will be made to the government by the commission later, he said.

The last general salary increases in the civil service were made in the spring of 1957 when 7,000 professionals received boosts ranging between $200 and $1,000 a year and 130,000 non-professionals and 100,000 members of the armed forces received increases of between five and six per cent.

BOMB THREAT AT CATHEDRAL

NEW YORK (AP)—A telephoned bomb warning sent police and firemen to St. Patrick's Cathedral in the heart of Manhattan today.

Detectives began a search of the huge structure, a city landmark on Fifth Avenue opposite Rockefeller Centre. No evidence of any explosive was found.

Couple Preaches 'Gospel Magic' Without a Word

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Two people who cannot speak or hear addressed a large audience at the Missionary Alliance Tabernacle here Wednesday night.

Rev. and Mrs. Les Hunt, both deaf mutes from early childhood, presented their Gospel message with pantomime routines which are unique in precision and action.

They call it "Gospel magic."

They learned the art of silent interpretation as vaudeville entertainers presenting a comedy magic act in theatres across Canada and the United States.

They met in Vancouver in 1938 and were married in Montreal the following year.

Juliet Hunt, speaking through Art Appleton, who works at Goodwill Enterprises on Yates Street, said: "We combined our acts and played the theatres for nearly 10 years. Then, one day in 1948, we were converted to the Gospel in New York.

Gave It Up

"We tried to continue in show business but soon realized it was Satan's way of seeking our souls and chaining them to a commercial life."

Mrs. Hunt, the daughter of a British naval surgeon, was born at Grand Forks, B.C. She lost her hearing and speech when only nine months old as the result of a fall which injured her head and spine.

Les Hunt, born in South Dakota, was stricken deaf and dumb by double pneumonia following whooping cough when less than two years old. Yet he was for 25 years a successful comedy pantomime magician on the stage and in silent movies.

He says he gave up commercial stage work because "God gave me a warning vision of Hell while I was working at Dayton, Ohio."

"I had been a chain smoker for 37 years," he said. "I tried hard to give it up by my own will but failed. Then I prayed earnestly for deliverance and God caused the tobacco to form a salt taste in my mouth so that I hated it."

No More Tricks

Mr. and Mrs. Hunt both have intelligent and highly animated faces and use fingers and hands with such dexterity that a person who knows the universal deaf and dumb language (as does Art Appleton) can interpret them fluently.

Mr. Hunt has discontinued all tricks. He uses other implements, such as posters and boxes, to interpret the Gospel.

From their home at San Jose, California, the couple travel all over Canada and the United States addressing any church group which invites them.

Since 1954 the couple have travelled under the auspices of the Sky Pilots organization of California.

Mr. and Mrs. Hunt are in Victoria as guests of Mrs. J. J. McIntosh at 2814 Rock Bay. They leave here Friday morning for Vancouver where they will address a Gospel meeting Saturday night.

Prudham Elected To Edmonton Council

EDMONTON (CP) — Hon. George Prudham, mines minister in the former Liberal government, was one of six Edmonton aldermen elected to two-year terms Wednesday in civic elections.

Re-elected to council were Mrs. Ethel Wilson, Mrs. Laurette Douglas, Fred Mitchell and Donald Bowen. Lawyer William Henning won the sixth seat at stake in the 15-man race.

There was no mayoralty contest this year. Mayor William Hawrelak was elected to a two-year term last year.

WRONGWAY MAIL PILES UP

Mink Stole Goes Astray

OTTAWA (CP) — Would anyone be so careless as to mail a mink stole without either a forwarding or return address?

The post office department, albeit a trifle bewildered, answers: Yes.

A mink stole was the highlight of the 54,000 odds and ends collected by post offices across the country last year as a result of careless parcel mailing.

A lot of it is to be auctioned off here Oct. 21 and 22, including the mysterious mink.

From the experience of postal workers, the carelessness of Canadians when it comes to addressing their mail apparently can reach incredible proportions.

Besides the 54,000 parcels that couldn't be delivered — or returned to senders—last year because of improper addressing and failure to include a return address, some 11,000,000 letters, cards and similar mail items got hung up in the post offices for the same reason.

These latter items contained some $42,000 in cash. Post office experts managed to direct all but $14,000 of this to the rightful owners. But they had to give up on the rest and drop it into the federal government till.

NEW CITY HOOP COMMISSION FORMED

VICTORIA COLLEGE ENTERS SENIOR RANKS

Vikings Offer New Hope for Victoria Basketball

Victoria's basketball wagon, with new hands at the reins, has been hitched to a new star—the Victoria College Vikings.

Vikings, who brought the city its first Canadian junior crown last season, have decided to start out on the trail of bigger game. And Victoria has a new basketball commission to make it a new deal all around.

College sports co-ordinator Hugh Farquhar announced this morning that the school will step into senior "A" ranks for the first time. It is planned that Vikings will play a series of exhibition games against visiting clubs before lining up for Vancouver Island playoffs next March.

Moving in against tougher competition, Vikings should prove a much-needed tonic for the hoop sport in this area. But they are facing a tough haul if they hope to pull basketball out of its doldrums of the past few years or match the records of former Victoria cage machines.

Starting in 1932, the Blue Ribbons, Dominoes and Pat Bay RCAF Gremlins tacked a total of six Canadian championships on the wall before the Dominoes disbanded after flattening the best in the Dominion in 1946.

Since then, basketball popularity has steadily declined, and for the past three seasons, Victoria has been without a senior "A" representative and searching desperately for a young, eager team to lead the way back to national prominence.

It could be the Vikings.

Decision to campaign in senior ranks was prompted by the formation of the Victoria Basketball Commission.

Formed during a weekend meeting for an atempt to revitalize basketball in this area, the commission will take definite shape at a meeting on Oct. 26, when officers will be elected and plans for the coming season finalized.

Norm Gloag, chairman of the Vancouver Basketball Commission, announced at Vancouver today that his group, which has played a big part in the resurgence of the court sport on the mainland, will make every effort to help the new Victoria organization.

Gloag and Vancouver officials of the B.C. Amateur Basketball Association, Ebbie Bowering and Luke Moyles, attended the initial meeting along with Vancouver Island president Bob McKellar of Cumberland, Fred Bishop of Alberni and several local hoop enthusiasts.

It is planned that the new commission will co-ordinate basketball activities in the Victoria area, but will not interfere with the operation of the established leagues. It will be ready to assist teams and organizations when requested and could smooth out many of the obstacles that have hampered basketball operations for several seasons.

Vikings probably won't have long to wait until they get a taste of senior "A" competition. They are tentatively scheduled to tackle Alberni Athletics here on Oct. 24 and play a return engagement at Alberni the following night.

Bill Garner, who piloted the club to a runner-up finish in the Dominion finals at Toronto in 1957 and to the Canadian crown last spring, will be back for his third year as coach.

Four members of the championship club—Ken McCulloch, Waldo Skillings Jr., Bob Tomlinson and Ed Kowalyk—are back for another season and Garner will also have former Vikings Doug Flynn and Cyril Foster in uniform.

Moving up from Victoria High School Totems are Willie Wong and Mike Soltice. Jim Wilson is making the jump from the college "B" squad of last year.

A pair of newcomers who could pull a big share of the load are husky Rol Fieldwalker, last season with UBC Jayvees, and Terry Clark, a sharp-shooting Prince George High School product.

Short on height at centre and lacking senior "A" experience, Vikings probably won't collect any titles this season. But they've given Victoria basketball new hope and the future looks brighter.

Bruins Bounce Again

Boston Scores Four Goals In Late Rally

By UP International

Boston Bruins undoubtedly have more bounce to the ounce than any team in the National Hockey League.

Milt Schmidt's skaters spotted the New York Rangers a three-goal lead last Saturday night at Boston and battled back to gain a 4-4 tie.

Wednesday night the Bruins staged even a greater comeback, scoring four goals in the final period to deadlock the Rangers again, 4-4.

A crowd of 14,059 — the Rangers' largest turnout for a home opener in nine years — cheered wildly when Dean Prentice scored twice in the first period to give New York a 2-0 lead. When Red Sullivan and Larry Popein popped in second-period goals, the Bruins looked dead on their feet.

PLAYING POSSUM

But the men from Boston were only playing possum. In almost rapid-fire fashion, the Bruins tied the score on a short poke by Leo Labine, a screen shot by Doug Mohns, an angled drive by Jerry Toppazzini and a rising shot by Bronco Horvath.

Although his men had staged the greatest comeback of the new NHL season, coach Milt Schmidt was his usual calm self in the dressing room.

"We didn't get the breaks in the first two periods, then everything went right for us in the final period," Schmidt said.

Asked what he tells his players when they are trailing 4-0 as they were last night early in the third period, the Bruins' boss declared:

"Well, I tell them a lot of things you couldn't print in a family newspaper. But, honestly, all I ask any time is that my guys keep plugging ... even if we're losing 12 to 0."

WORSLEY RETURNING

Phil Watson, the Rangers' trigger-tempered coach, was almost as calm as Schmidt despite his team's third-period collapse. He declined to single out any player for criticism, including sub goalie Marcel Paille.

"I thought Paille played pretty well," Watson said. "He let down a little when the Bruins started scoring but so did my other players. I got a lot of youngsters on this club, and I'm just going to have to be patient with them."

Lorne Worsley, the Rangers' regular goalie who was injured in a game at Detroit last Sunday night, will work out with the club today.

"If Lorne shows me he can play, I'll use him in the weekend series against Montreal," Watson said.

Hill Leading Scoring Race By 19 Points

WINNIPEG (CP) — The first five leaders remain unchanged in the individual scoring of the Western Interprovincial Football Union as all five clubs saw action during the weekend.

Halfback Jack Hill of Saskatchewan Roughriders increased his first-place margin to 19 points over runner-up Charlie Shepard, fullback with Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

Statistics compiled by The Canadian Press showed Hill with 82 points on nine touchdowns, 25 converts and one field goal. Shepard, 16 points back of Hill last week, managed only a single point in Bombers' lone game and now has 63 points on nine TDs and nine singles.

The leaders:

	TD	C	FG	S	Pts.
Hill, Riders	9	25	1	0	82
Shepard, Bombers	9	0	0	9	63
Mobra, Eskimos	1	16	10	9	61

DUPAS EYES TITLE FIGHT

Ralph Doesn't Care If He Can Keep Busy

MONTREAL (UPI) — Ralph Dupas, who celebrated his 23rd birthday a day late with a shut-out victory over favored Gil Turner, Wednesday night, said today he wants a title fight with welterweight champion Virgil Akins "real bad".

"But I guess I'll have to mess around with the fellas in the top ten first," he said, "because Akins is already booked to fight the winner of the (Gaspar) Ortega (Don) Jordan fight."

"That's the way I like it, though; I like to keep busy. In fact a fighter like me, a boxer, has to keep busy to keep sharp. This is my third fight in five weeks."

The New Orleans youngster, 4-5 underdog in the pre-fight betting, was never in trouble against the fourth-ranked Philadelphian, who entered the ring with a 7½-pound weight pull.

Turner, the heavier hitter, never could catch the elusive Cajun and viewed the decision philosophically and realistically.

JUST TOO FAST

"You can beat Akins easy," Turner told the speedy Dupas as they met in the ring following the unanimous decision. "I don't want to fight you no more."

"You sure got a pair of legs, boy," said Turner's manager, George Katz. "You were just too fast for Gil."

Dupas, who says "I have to fight to support my wife and six brothers and sisters," won every round on the cards of the three judges, who scored the fight under the five-point must system. Judge Rene Ouimet had it 50-38, judge Jim Regan had it 50-38 and judge Leon Germain had it 50-35.

LOST COUNT

Dupas said he "didn't have any plan" when he entered the ring. "I just planned to go along for the first few rounds and see how things went. When we saw how things were going, though, we decided I should stay back and counter punch instead of mixing it up, although I don't think it would make any difference."

The dancing Dupas, a cagy Cajun, seemed just as fresh following the fight as he did at the start. In fact, he had lost count of the rounds and when he was ready to go out for the ninth round, Dupas asked Dundee if it was the seventh.

Dundee said he thought that a "natural" fight would be a match with Dupas and Gale Kerwin, an unranked Ottawa boy who now fights out of Valley Stream, N.Y.

"It really doesn't matter," he added. "The main thing is to keep busy."

Johnny Should Know What Time It Is

CHICAGO (AP) — John Longden, 48-year-old jockey who has ridden 5,236 winners, more than any other rider in history, returned to Sportsman's Park Wednesday for a celebration.

Longden, recovering from a broken leg suffered at Del Mar Sept. 7, made his first appearance here since winning the Sportsman's riding championship at the 1934 fall meeting.

Longden received a gold watch for that achievement and was given a similar timepiece Wednesday and a race today was named in his honor.

The Alberta-born jockey, who has broken the same leg twice within a year, said he hoped to resume riding at Santa Anita this winter.

Miss Argonaut Picked

TORONTO (CP) — A petite 20-year-old brunette Wednesday night was chosen Miss Toronto Argonaut for 1958.

Barbara Bricker, formerly of Edmonton, will compete with other football club queens for the Miss Grey Cup title in Vancouver.

PCL PRESIDENT RETIRING

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Leslie O'Connor said Wednesday night he plans to retire as president of the Pacific Coast League when his term expires in 1959.

SOUTH AFRICANS WIN

BELFAST (AP) — South Africa defeated the Northern Ireland Football Association 5-2 in an international soccer game Wednesday night.

Hershey Clips Springfield In Thriller

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP)—In a thrill-packed game Hershey Bears defeated Springfield Indians, 5-4, in an American Hockey League game Wednesday night.

The Bears trailed 4-1 at the end of the first period. In the second Hec Lalande scored from the blue line and Les Duff lofted a long shot into the Indians' net to narrow the gap.

Duff's second goal in the last period tied the count. Jacques Gagnon tipped Gordon Strate's long shot into the Springfield net for the winning goal.

Ken Schinkel, Colin Kilburn, Duke Edmundson and Jimmy Anderson were the Springfield scorers in the first period. Len Haley scored for Bears.

STENGEL LAYS DOWN LAW . . .

. . . NAMES DIMAGGIO GREATEST

Will Super-Star Catch Fire?

NEW YORK (UPI)—Casey Stengel laid down the law to his world champion Yankees for next year — and made it clear that it applies to everyone, even super-star Mickey Mantle.

Stengel, who headed for his Glendale, Calif., home today with a new two-year contract that could bring him nearly $100,000 a year, got a number of things off his chest at Wednesday's gala signing ceremony.

The 68-year-old Casey predicted his 10th pennant in 11 years, then suddenly grew solemn and warned some of his players they'll be peddled "if they fool around too much."

Of course, Stengel certainly isn't going to trade Mantle but a suspicion existed that he was trying mighty hard to light a fire under his celebrated center-fielder when he named Joe DiMaggio, followed by Yogi Berra and Hank Bauer as the three greatest players he has managed since coming to the Yankees in 1949.

What about Mantle?

"Well," Casey said, "he has everything to make him the greatest, but there are times he doesn't look like it. The whole thing is up to him. I know he can do it, and I'll tell you something else, I'm very glad I have him."

Getting back to the possibility of dealing off some of his players, Stengel mentioned no names but did say, "a player can't be satisfied with life and remain around here. That's the sure way of getting fired. We may have to make some trades we don't want to make."

The Yankee manager came right out and said he was after a pitcher and an outfielder.

Again, he didn't mention any names but it's no secret he would like to obtain either southpaw Billy O'Dell of the Orioles or Pedro Ramos of the Senators to strengthen his pitching staff. The two outfielders who appeal to him most are Roy Sievers of the Senators and Roger Maris of the Athletics.

Warriors Clipped Again; Stampeders Edge Royals

Dorohoy's Goal Gives Calgary Overtime Win

By The Canadian Press

Winnipeg Warriors, last season's Prairie Division champs in the Western Hockey League, are registering this year at the other end of the scales.

Winless in three starts, the Warriors have only scored six goals to their opposition's 16, four of them gained by the Edmonton Flyers in Wednesday night's encounter at Winnipeg.

Flyers held off a late drive by the Warriors and then scored into an open net for a 4-2 victory before 2,466 fans.

At New Westminster, Calgary Stampeders moved into a first-place Prairie Division tie with Saskatoon as they clipped the Royals, 3-2, in an overtime struggle watched by 1,700 fans.

DOROHOY SCORES

Eddie Dorohoy's slap shot at 4.14 in the overtime period, the first shot on goal of the extra play, gave Stampeders their victory.

It was the second win in three games for Calgary on its coastal tour. They defeated Victoria but lost to Seattle.

Dorohoy scored through a maze of players around Bev Bentley's goal after Bruce Lea's effort had failed. Chuck Blair and Ron Lepold brought Calgary into contention with earlier goals after New Westminster's Art Jones and Hugh Barlow put the Royals ahead.

EARLY LEAD

New Westminster was in front, 1-0, at the end of the first and 2-1 after two periods.

Rookie goalie Roy Edwards handled 27 shots in the Calgary nets while veteran Bentley stopped 25.

Referee Scotty Morrison called 26 minutes in penalties in the lack-lustre game, 14 to Calgary.

Rookie defenceman Howie Young was assessed three of the Royal penalties, bringing his total to seven in the two games New Westminster has played this season.

INTERCEPTED PASS

Gene Achtymichuk, Murray Oliver, Ed Daichuk and Gerry Melnyk scored for Edmonton while Ray Brunel and Barry Ross tallied for Winnipeg.

Warriors were swarming all around goalie Dennis Riggin in an attempt to get the equalizer when Melnyk intercepted a pass, broke down the right boards and scored into the empty net at 19.16 of the final period.

Spokane Pros Win in Court

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP)—The Washington State Supreme Court Wednesday upheld the decision of Spokane city commissioners to grant exclusive hockey rights in the Spokane Coliseum to a professional hockey team.

In a unanimous five-judge departmental decision, the high court held that the city commission was not required to make the coliseum available to an amateur hockey team on the same basis as the professional one.

TURNED PRO

The coliseum was used in previous seasons by Spokane Flyers of the Western International Hockey League. The team turned professional this year and joined the Western Hockey League. A group of Spokane individuals moved to form another amateur team to contest the WIHL but could not rent the coliseum.

The amateur team applied for dates to use the coliseum after the professional team had entered into a rental agreement with the city council for use of the coliseum during the 1958-59 season.

The council, on advice of an advisory committee of businessmen and after conducting a public hearing, voted against more than one hockey league using the coliseum.

The Spokane superior court ruled that the council was obliged to rent the auditorium to the amateur team if suitable dates were available. The high court Wednesday reversed that ruling.

At Nelson, WIHL officials said the league will "definitely" operate with three teams despite the setback in Spokane's bid to join the league this season.

First game will be played tonight at Trail, with the Smoke Eaters against Nelson Maple Leafs. Trail goes to Rossland for the second game Saturday.

"SURPRISED"

At Spokane, Clarence Tubbs, president of the amateur group, said he was "surprised and upended."

Tubbs said a group of Spokane businessmen are interested in building a 4,000-seat hockey arena in the city and he would field an amateur team in the WIHL again next year.

Tubbs had hoped to field the Spokane Jets in the league this year.

Roy McBride, manager and coach of the Spokane Flyers, said the court decision was "the best thing that could happen for hockey in Spokane."

Pro Baseball Fate In Lap of Council

By GRAHAM COX

Definite word on the fate of Royal Athletic Park must be known within the next ten days if the hope of professional baseball in Victoria for the 1959 season is to be kept alive.

This was the information gathered Wednesday after an exclusive talk with Victoria Ventures Ltd. spokesman Fred Mackenzie, whose group will be bringing pro baseball back to Victoria this summer if there is a park in which to play.

Mackenzie has been invited to attend a meeting of the Pacific Coast League in Portland, Oct. 26 and at that time will have to know the fate of the park, if he is to come to terms with any team in that league or in the majors.

A letter has been sent to Mayor Percy Scurrah in council requesting the necessary information and assurances.

"If we don't get immediate assurance," stated Mackenzie, "there's no point in even attending the meeting."

Doubt was cast on the availability of Royal Athletic Park early in the month by the news of its projected sale to a private group for commercial use.

Purpose of the purchase was reported to be utilization of the property contained in the park for the erection of a shopping centre.

Victoria Ventures at that time had planned on entering a team in the Northwest Baseball League, competing against teams from Eugene, Lewiston, Tri-City, Yakima, Salem, Wenatchee and one other new entry.

Plans had then advanced to the point of talks with major league clubs concerning either partial or full working agreements with one of them.

All plans and talks have come to a standstill since word of the rumored park sale.

Flyers Forfeit Victory

SEATTLE, Wash. (CP)—Edmonton Flyers of the Western Hockey League will forfeit to Calgary Stampeders a WHL game played at Calgary Oct. 11, because Flyers used an ineligible player.

The game, won 3-1 by Flyers, now will be recorded as a 1-0 victory for Stampeders. However, it will not count as a shutout for Calgary goalie Roy Edwards and individual players' statistics will remain unchanged.

Al Leader, president of the WHL, said here Wednesday the game was forfeited because Edmonton dressed 14 players, exclusive of a netminder. League rules allow only 13 men, exclusive of netminders.

At the same time, Leader said both clubs were fined $200 for similar infractions in a game Oct. 10 at Edmonton, won by Flyers 2-0. The result of that game will not be altered.

Orioles Filling Nest

VANCOUVER (CP) — Baltimore Orioles of the American League Wednesday recalled two pitchers from its Vancouver farm-team of the Pacific Coast League. George Bamberger and Russ Hemen became the sixth and seventh members of the Mounties called up by Orioles.

BEAT NORTH IRELAND

MADRID (AP)—Spain defeated Northern Ireland 6-2 in a soccer match at Chamartin Stadium Wednesday night.

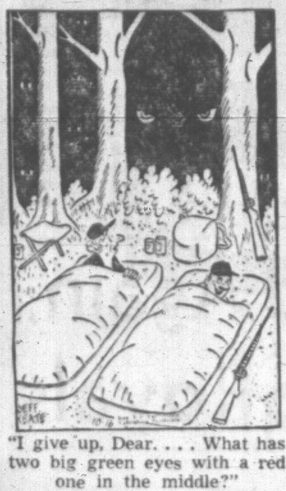
Soviet Army Far Ahead In 'Friendly' War Game

TIME OUT! by JEFF KEATE



"I give up, Dear. . . . What has two big green eyes with a red one in the middle?"

ALDERSHOT, England (AP) — A miniature war game pitting Americans against Russians is going on in this British garrison town.

And the Russians are winning hands down.

Nobody at the pentathlon world championships openly admits the existence of "an atmosphere." Everything is on the friendliest level. But there are overtones generated by the military nature of the pentathlon itself and the current state of world politics that leave their mark.

When the Greeks first practised the pentathlon 3,000 years ago, it was designed to find the best warrior of the day.

SOLDIERLY SKILL

The modern pentathlon, no less, is an exercise and proving ground for soldierly skill.

It delves beneath the technology of modern armies and ferrets away at men. It throws a man back on his resources and sets out to find how he could cope if he had to ride, run, swim, fence and shoot his way through enemy country.

A win for the Soviet Union in a championship of this kind is priceless propaganda. For the Americans, the implication that the toughest Joes are in somebody else's army is unpalatable.

The United States Army squad has a chance of catching the second-place Hungarians, but the Russians, barring accident or injuries, are out of reach—more than 1,000 points ahead.

Kaziamerz Mazur, of Poland, fired a 194 out of a possible 200 Wednesday to win the pistol shooting event.

Russia took the team title with 2,780 points. Hungary was second with 2,580 and the United States and Finland tied for third with 2,500. Poland was fifth with 2,480.

With the riding, fencing and pistol shooting ended, only swimming and running remain to be settled among the 14 nations involved.

At this stage, Russia leads with 8,220 points, followed by Hungary with 7,148, and the United States with 7,031.

Oak Bay Picked To Keep Titles

Barring unforeseen circumstances, such as Bob Wheaton breaking an arm, Victoria Amateur Swimming Club president Jim McCague sees both Oak Bay Senior and Oak Bay Junior High Schools repeating their inter-high swimming gala wins this month.

The galas, sponsored by the VASC, will be held at the Crystal Garden, October 24, for the seniors, and October 30 for the juniors.

Deadline for entries in the senior event has been set for Friday, to be left for McCague at the Crystal Garden, while the junior high deadline is October 14.

TROPHIES AT STAKE

Both galas will be divided into 16 events, with four relays and 50 freestyle, backstroke and breaststroke events.

The junior gala will be bracketed under and over 13 years of age, while seniors will be divided at 16.

Main award in the senior contest will be the Sir Edward Beatty Trophy, held by Oak Bay High, while the junior award is the Dickinson & Dunn Trophy, held by Oak Bay Junior High.

Moore Reaches Bonspiel Semis

First to the fours of the President's event in the Victoria Curling Club novelty bonspiel Wednesday night was the Gordie Moore rink, who defeated Bill Purdy 9-8 to advance.

In the tertiary Directors' event, seven rinks moved to the eights led by Clare Anderson and Don Fisher.

Others were W. Spink, J. Martin, Jerry Lauder, J. Gallaugher and B. J. Merchant.

Finals of the week-long event will be held Friday night.

Harvey Sidelined

MONTREAL (UPI) — Montreal Canadiens defenceman Doug Harvey will be lost to the club for "two or three weeks" with a cracked ankle, the team announced today.

Harvey was hit by a shot off the stick of Bruins defenceman Doug Mohns Sunday night in Boston. X-rays revealed he had suffered a cracked and chipped right ankle bone.

Lorimer, Collett Back With Totems

By GARRIE McNAUGHTON

Back in action this year with a tight schedule of workouts, the Victoria High Totems are preparing for a basketball season they hope will finally lead to the B.C. high school championship.

Heading the roster this year are Darrell Lorimer, Tom Wyatt, Tom Collett, Barry Sadler and Robin Barnes, all first-rate seniors from last year's team, plus Dave Nelson and Dave Black, transfers from Esquimalt and Mount View, respectively. This initial lineup will be backed by an eager squad of talented juniors.

When asked to comment on this season's Totems, George (Porky) Andrews said "We will not be able to tell how they look as a team until later in the season." "But," he added, "On paper, they sure look good."

This year's greater Victoria High School League is divided into two sections, the first with Victoria High, Mount View, Esquimalt, Belmont and St. Louis College. The second section includes Oak Bay, Mount Douglas, North Saanich and Milne's Landing High Schools.

Play-offs, to begin in February, will decide which teams will enter the Lower-Island tournament. The top four from this will enter the Vancouver Island playoff, which will decide three clubs to represent the Island at Vancouver in the provincial tourney.

Andrews indicated the Totems hope to play a couple of games against the Canadian junior champion Victoria College Vikings.

"Of course," he grinned, "we would like a crack at Lord Byng." Lord Byng High of Vancouver won the B.C. title last year.

Commercial Puck Club Still Seeking Sponsor

One of the two city teams in the Victoria Commercial Hockey League, tentatively slated to open at Memorial Arena on or around the second week of November, still needs a sponsor.

The second team, coached by arena manager Joe Dukowski and named Centennials will be sponsored by the Greater Victoria Minor Hockey Association.

The "orphan" team will operate, under coach Bill Jensen, whether sponsored or not. Enough equipment is owned by the league to make it possible.

EXHIBITION SCHEDULE

More than 40 players turned out for the last joint workout of the two city teams with fine showings being made by Army and Navy players.

An exhibition schedule has been drawn up for the league with teams from Powell River, Chilliwack, Vancouver and Nanaimo.

First solo practice for the Centennials will be held in Memorial Arena Tuesday night following the Victoria Cougar-New Westminster Western Hockey League game.

means wise use of fishery resources

Canada has been a pioneer in the establishment of international commissions, the aims of which are to conserve and develop stocks of fish, sustaining their productive level whenever this is threatened by natural and human causes.

This country is a party to three bilateral fishery agreements with our neighbor to the south, and is also a member of four international conventions which include other countries in addition to the United States.

Fish populations renew themselves if given the chance. The purpose of international co-operation is to make sure that they are given this chance . . . through practical programmes of scientific research and by common sense fisheries regulations.

Undefeated so far this season, Victoria High School's senior soccer team rode to an easy 4-2 victory over previously unbeaten Oak Bay Wednesday.

Showing stronger attacking tactics than those that carried them to a clean league sweep last season, the Vics scored more goals in their first game of this season than they did all last season.

In their first two games of the season, they defeated Mount View and Mount Douglas by 8-1 and 7-1 scores, respectively.

Other teams in the loop also made 4-2 scores the order of the day as Mount View clipped Milnes Landing and Mount Douglas downed Esquimalt.

Dave Rees set a two-goal pace for Vic High, with singles going to Alec Lacey and Tom Wyatt, while both Oak Bay replies came from John Youson.

Phil Little led Mount Doug against Esquimalt with two tallies, backed up by Ralph Blakel and Hal Scott. Bob Fraser and Dennis Fey scored for the losers.

Mount View scoring against Milnes Landing was more a team effort with Bill Monroe, Clyde Bond, Vern Pratt and Ray St. Denis tallying against the solo pair by Ron Dumont.

League action next Wednesday will have Mount View playing Esquimalt at Mount View, Oak Bay taking on Mount Doug at Oak Bay and Vic High meeting Milnes Landing at Vic High.

HIKE MARGIN TO 90%

U.S. Clamps Down On Market Credit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal reserve board today put into effect the stiffest stock market credit restraints in nearly 12 years. The board's purpose: To discourage speculation with borrowed money.

The board announced Wednesday plans to increase to 90 per cent the margin, or minimum down payment, required on purchases of stocks. The minimum margin had been 70 per cent since Aug. 5, when it was raised from 50 per cent—the present Canadian margin.

A leading Victoria investment dealer today said the significance of the New York exchange move is the fact "that the government is doing something to temper excessive speculation."

Herbert J. Kennedy, manager, James Richardson & Sons, said margin buying doesn't amount to big money in Canada where there is no margin on stocks under $1. The volume of margin trading in Canada is considerably below that of the U.S. where "they have a wide number of high-priced stocks."

Mr. Kennedy said the market has picked up due to the general advance in business created in part by government easing of credit restrictions.

"When tight money policies exist, together with a mild business recession, the pendulum swings the other way and this is reflected in a drop on the market."

The latest action means investors henceforth must put up at least $90 in cash for every $100 in stocks they buy. It hasn't any retroactive effect on stocks bought when margins were lower.

Only once before have margins been this high—when they were 100 per cent in the first year after the war.

Wall Street had been expecting an increase, and some stock analysts said they believe the action had been discounted in advance. The market reached an all-time high Monday but prices fell in heavy trading Tuesday and Wednesday.

When the reserve board raises margins the aim is to prevent excessive use of credit in the stock market. One reason is that if too much borrowed money moves into the market, that much less money is available for use by borrowers in other sectors of the economy.

G. Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange, said credit on that exchange totals $3,100,000,000. He said this is only 1.3 per cent of the total market value of the stocks on the big board.

NOT KEPT PACE

Funston said stock market credit has not kept pace with increases in stock prices or with non-government credit in the rest of the economy.

A reserve board spokesman said loans by brokers and banks for purchasing stocks totalled $4,300,000,000 at the end of September. He said this was the largest amount since this type of statistic was first collected during the 1930s.

Although the reserve board is concerned primarily about credit rather than stock prices, there is no doubt it glanced at the stock ticker before reaching its latest decision.

Historically, a strong and rising market attracts speculators eager to get rich quick with borrowed money. It encourages expansion of credit in the market.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Last-Hour Recovery Noted at Toronto

The Toronto market improved its position in the last hour today, but remained down in light mid-afternoon trading.

Macfie remained the most active issue, trading 275,000 shares. It was off 2 cents at 28. Wiltsey was down 1 cent at 26 on a 130,000-share turnover.

Aluminum cuts it loss to ¼ at 33½, while Ford had eliminated a ½-point loss.

At New York stocks closed on a burst of strength with the tickers falling behind the market. Low-priced autos stole the show in gain and volume of turnover.

Early selling stemmed in part from rise in margin requirements from 70 to 90 per cent announced Wednesday.

AT TORONTO base metals shortened their losses as International Nickel gained ½ at 87¾, and Noranda converted a ⅜ loss to a ¼ gain at 52½. Hudson Bay shaved ⅛ of its one-point loss at 57⅞.

Hollinger gained ½ at 27 to help balance fractional losses to Dome and Kerr-Addison but Bralorne led juniors off, down 15 cents at $5.85.

Losses of ⅜ went to Bailey Selburn, Calgary and Edmonton and Home Oil B among western oils.

AT NEW YORK International Nickel reversed itself to be ahead a point in the Canadian sector. Canadian Pacific and Dome Minies were also higher. McIntyre Porcupine lost a point. Other losers were Aluminium Ltd., Distillers Seagrams, and Hudson Bay Mining.

The mixed trend was reported on the American stock exchange. Richwell gained a fraction among Canadian stocks. Jupiter Oils, Preston East Dome, Eureka and Shawinigan all were lower.

AT MONTREAL prices generally were lower in moderate trading today on the stock exchange. Some changes exceeded a point.

AT LONDON the advance on the stock market was halted today by some adverse factors. The passing of the Cunard interim dividend and the raise in share margins in the United States, coupled with the setback overnight on Wall Street, provided operators with talking points. Selling however was only slight.

AT VANCOUVER trading was light and showed slight change in prices during the forenoon. Prosper sold 2,000 at 34. Royal Canadian Ventures moved 2,000 at 45. Bethlehem Copper traded 2,000 at $1.05. North West Ventures moved 2,000 at 6. Trojan traded 4,500 at 16.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

CHICAGO (AP) — Old-crop wheat and all soybean futures steadied in late transactions on the board of trade today but the entire list of corn deliveries again dipped to lows for the season.

Steadiness of wheat near the close of trading was attributed to export covering. Yugoslavia purchased 260,000 bushels of U.S. wheat for shipment from the gulf and the trade reported other foreign sales were in the making.

WINNIPEG (CP) — Most prices showed a firm tone in moderately active trade today on the Winnipeg grain exchange.

There was broader export interest with small lots of oats, barley and flax reported sold, mostly to the United Kingdom.

The flax market was irregular with small hedges and selling for American interests with exporters buying on recessions.

Fairly active trade occurred in barley with shipping interest on the buying side in connection with both domestic and export orders. Oats trade also disclosed moderate shipping demand.

Rye prices were weak and irregular in early dealings but showed rallies from the low levels.

There was no information on overnight export loadings of Canadian wheat.

Lakehead prices for class two, IWA and domestic wheat were down one-quarter cent from Wednesday.

Peasant Motto Grew Into Chain Of Credit Unions

By HAL MALONE
Times Business Editor

"It is better to light a candle flame than to curse the darkness. . . ."

These humble words, uttered by poor but Christian-minded Friedrich Wilhelm Raiffeisen in 1846, led to the birth of the credit union movement.

Malone

Mr. Raiffeisen died in 1888 but credit union members throughout the world have cause to thank him today as they mark International Credit Union day. "Not for Profit, not for Charity, but for Service" was the creed of Friedrich Raiffeisen when he instituted the movement in an effort to lift the illiterate peasants of Flammersfied, Germany, from poverty and despair.

Many people had to live on cabbages and a dark bread made from ground oak bark 112 years ago in Flammersfied. What meagre crops they produced were seized by the money lenders to whom they were in debt. In many cases the interest on their loans amounted to 10 times the amount borrowed. So they turned to Raiffeisen.

LOW INTEREST

He enlisted the aid of a few prosperous citizens to buy flour and to provide cash for cattle-buying at a very low rate of interest. But soon he realized that charity wasn't the answer. What was needed was a self-help organization, formed among people with a common bond, where men could work co-operatively together for the benefit of themselves and others.

The movement was founded in Canada at the turn of the century by Alphonse Desjardins of Levis, Que. Little did he realize that his modest plan would become "Big Business" by 1958.

Frank Greenway and F. T. S. Sehl offered the evidence Wednesday. Secretary-treasurer and assistant, respectively, of the Greater Victoria Savings Credit Union, they showed that since 1900, more than 4,300 credit unions have been established in Canada ,serving 13 per cent of the country's population. In B.C. alone last year, 375 credit unions issued loans amounting to $200,996,747 compared with $36,369,612 in 1950.

CHILDREN SAVE, TOO

More men than women participate in credit unions, Sehl said. But working women have separate savings. And children are particpating in growing numbers through a school savings plan. In Victoria the plan is in effect at St. Ann's Academy and St. Louis College, and "the results are remarkable."

Are credit union borrowers good risks?

"Since 1940," Sehl said, "we have issued 3,412 loans amounting to $1,438,539.29. Our write-offs totalled $1,482, or exactly one-tenth of 1 per cent."

Cheat the credit union? No, sir. You only cheat yourself.

RETAIL SALES DROPPED 2% IN AUGUST

OTTAWA (CP) — Retail sales in Canada in August declined 2 per cent compared with the corresponding month last year but were up by a similar amount in the first eight months of 1958 due mainly to increased business by food stores and lumber dealers.

The bureau of statistics said Wednesday that retail sales in the month fell to $1,243,924,000 from $1,268,372,000 in August of last year. In the January-August period they rose to $9,707,312,000 from $9,539,948,000.

LONG STORE HOURS BOOST PRICES, GROUP CLAIMS

Food Coupons 'Trick on Consumer'

MONTREAL (CP) — Any increase in daily shopping hours would lead to an eventual boost in retail prices, the Quebec Retail Merchants Association maintained today as it sought extra safeguards against the big chain stores and supermarkets.

The association, representing independent grocers and butcher shops, charged also that so-called loss-leader below-cost sales represent false economy and the use of premiums, coupons and trading stamps "are but a deceptive trick against consumers."

Appearing before the royal commission on price spreads, association spokesmen joined consumer groups in calling for a ban in the use of trading stamps to promote food sales. It urged also that the use of premiums and coupons be declared illegal.

HIGHER LABOR COSTS

As for extensions in daily shopping hours, longer working hours would mean higher labor costs, adding to the cost of handling food. Corner stores were struggling to survive against competition of the big chains. Any additional burden of costs would worsen the problem.

The association said also:

1. Controls should be imposed on cattle exports. The heavy flow from Canada resulted in domestic scarcities that tended to boost retail prices of beef and other products.

2. Loss-leader sales should be abolished. The sale by a chain of one product at below cost to attract customers usually resulted in higher prices for other products. No retail sale should be allowed without the addition of at least five per cent on the retailers' cost price.

3. The big retail chains should not be allowed to get special concessions from manufacturers simply because of their greater purchasing power. Efficiency and public service should be the rules in guiding manufacturers' preferences to retailers.

Woman Magistrate, Guide Leader Touring Canada on Scholarship

Girl Guide international chairman for the area, Mrs. F. Maurice, greets Miss Peggy Simmons of Essex, England, as she arrived in Victoria yesterday to meet local Guide leaders.

Attractive Miss Peggy Simmons is a young Englishwoman whose varied services include training of Girl Guide leaders, studying problems of juvenile delinquency, and being a magistrate.

The last is unexpected, as far as appearances go, but stems from her interest in youth work.

"I don't know how you get to be a lay magistrate, but I believe someone submits your name and eventually it goes to higher authority for approval, and you're appointed if they feel you're worthy," Miss Simmons explained in an interview just after she arrived in Victoria Wednesday afternoon.

"At any rate there are 27 lay magistrates in our district—of whom five are women—and we have a legal clerk to advise us."

Miss Simmons is here on a two-day visit as part of a tour of Canada on a King George VI memorial bursary of $1,000, granted annually to an outstanding leader in youth work.

At the King's death, it was decided that a memorial fund would be much more benefit than a statue, so funds were divided equally between work for youth and work with the aged.

Thanks to the bursary, she is travelling across Canada as guest of the Canadian Girl Guide Association. The five-month tour will take her to all ten provinces, where she will observe and exchange ideas in Guiding, as well as study delinquency problems in this country.

During her tour Miss Simmons has formed some definite opinions of Canada:

"It's a most exciting place. I don't think any visitor from England could help but be amazed at what you've achieved in so little time. We have the age, but you have the future. And I'm not just saying this to be polite — I really do believe Canada must be the country of the future."

In Victoria, Miss Simmons is the guest of Mrs. F. W. Midgley, 2926 Tudor Road. While in the city her crowded schedule called for a dinner with division commissioners, ranger guiders and trainers, Wednesday evening, followed by a training session at Pandora Street Guide hall where she addressed commissioners and guiders.

This morning was devoted to sightseeing, and at a luncheon she met members of the Guide area committee.

Tonight, a dinner at the home of deputy attorney-general Dr. Gilbert Kennedy and Mrs. Kennedy, will combine guiding and legal interests. Mrs. Kennedy is Gonzales Division commissioner of Girl Guides, and guests will be Girl Guide personalities and members of the legal profession, including His Honor Judge J. B. Clearihue and Mrs. Clearihue, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Wootton, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. D. Lawson, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Gosling, Major and Mrs. Keith McDougall, Mrs. F. W. Midgley and Miss Anna Wootton.

After her Victoria visit, Miss Simmons returns to Vancouver and will visit other centres on her way back to her home in Essex.

St. Joseph's Alumnae Presents Bridge Tea

Rose-hued chrysanthemums flanked by matching candles centred the tea table at the annual bridge tea presented by the alumnae of St. Joseph's School of Nursing.

The affair was held Wednesday afternoon in the nurses' residence.

Mrs. A. Bridge was tea convener and received guests with Mrs. Kenneth Kissinger, president of the alumnae. Serviteurs were student nurses of St. Joseph's Hospital. Bridge was played by the many visitors in the auditorium during the afternoon, and in the evening, Mrs. W. McLuhan and Mrs. P. Coste were in charge of bridge arrangements.

Contests were arranged by Mrs. L. Roach and a display of Christmas cards were presented by Sister Mary Gregory of St. Joseph's Hospital.

A Christmas cake was donated by Mrs. R. Kersey for the occasion.

At the end of the day, a sum of $425 was realized by the group.

CWL Names National Officers; Asks Tighter Publishing Laws

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mrs. Theodore Taylor of Victoria was elected a vice-president of the Catholic Women's League of Canada at session Wednesday of the league's 38th annual convention. Miss Grace L. Caughlin of Woodstock, N.B., was elected president.

British Columbia delegate on National Council is Mrs. E. Nucich. Mrs. Ross Alexander of Quebec is secretary, and Mrs. M. A. Panaro of Winnipeg is treasurer.

Delegates to the convention Wednesday asked the federal government to tighten existing regulations regarding entry to Canada of immoral publications.

Delegates also asked for the introduction of legislation making any Canadian publisher of obscene literature liable to severe prosecution.

Section 150 of the Criminal Code of Canada is ineffective in preventing the publication, distribution and circulation of obscene literature, the convention said.

The convention also recommended federal payments for children of immigrant families be administered by the family allowance department.

Payments, now administered by the immigration department, provide $5 a month for each child under 16 years during the family's first year of residence in Canada.

A study by social action groups of existing housing needs and legislation was urged by the convention. Delegates said that while present legislation is laudable it "does not yet provide for adequate family housing at low cost . . ."

Drowning Is Quickest Way to Kill Plants

NEW YORK (NEA) — What is a "green thumb"? The Gardener of the Year calls it love of plants and the soil.

And to plant killers of the world, Mrs. C. L Collins of Sylacauga, Ala., says "You've got to have that green thumb to be a blooming success."

Maggie Collins dropped this discouraging news while in Manhattan to enjoy prizes of a national contest involving 900 garden clubs. In addition to the gardener title, she'll take home an aluminum greenhouse.

Mrs. Collins is so much in love with her hobby that she admits, "My daughter claims that 'Mother would go without food to buy a new plant!'"

At home she is known as the woman who always has a bouquet ready. Although she calls it a hobby, Mrs. Collins' flourishing garden and lean-to greenhouse furnish flowers for the Sylacauga hospital wards, friends' parties and weddings. And she has decorated the First Presbyterian Church every Sabbath for 22 years.

"I never sell my plants. But I do love to give them away," she says.

Gardener of the Year, Mrs. C. L. Collins, shows some of the flowers she has grown in her own garden.

Her yen for growing things began in a high school botany class. From there, while her three children were growing, she read all she could find on the subject. Today she calls herself a self-taught gardener but chatters like a botanical encyclopedia.

As a judge, she is a familiar sight in southern flower show circles.

For those who have mild interest but little knowledge of flowers and arrangements, she reveals what wins the ribbons at floral competitions.

A judge simply looks for perfection in color and texture. In point score judging there are points for length of stem, color of leaves and stems, texture of petals and absence of disease.

If you are thinking of entering a favorite petunia in the next flower show, Mrs. Collins suggests you become a garden club member. In a club, members learn winning requirements and can enter certain classes of arrangements such as French, Colonial, Early American and Persian with more confidence.

It seems this grey-haired grandmother is always boosting garden club activity. Just as some women are lifelong bridge-clubbers, Mrs. Collins found a home with garden clubs after founding one in a Mississippi town in 1926. They're good both for education and comfort—especially when a plant turns up its toes and dies. There are a half-million national club members ready to sympathize.

She also tells beginners to select plants like zinnias, marigolds or petunias for first efforts. They'll grow with little frustration on your part.

Mrs. Collins passed that stage years ago, however. Now she putters professionally about the greenhouse attached to her home planting and tending rare and unusual plants. She is proud of her orchids and now is nurturing a special pink day lily. And she may market a "new" flower one of these days.

"I love variety in flowers and am always looking for something new," she says. And then adds, "I think this is where men and women gardeners differ. It seems men tend to specialize. And they like their plants big. The bigger, the better."

Before scooting off down a "tree-lined" Manhattan street, she offered this advice to those who like a few plants around the house. "It is better to underwater than overwater. The quickest way to kill a plant is to drown it."

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

These Motions Will Give Silhouette Lovely Pickup

Yesterday I told you that weight reduction is always much more successful, figure-wise, when it is accompanied by exercise. Today I want to describe several motions which will give your silhouette a lovely pickup.

Stand tall with your feet comfortably separated. Bend the trunk all the way down. Now raise the trunk midway so that it is at right angles to the body. While in this position reach forward with the left arm and back with the right arm. Reach as far as possible so that you feel the stretch. Then reach forward with the right arm and back with the left. Continue bending the trunk and then raising midway and reaching with the arms, alternating forward and back reaches.

The following exercise is wonderful for reducing the abdomen and any fat you may have across your back. It also is slimming to the waist. You see, it is one of those bargain exercises!

Lie on the floor on your back with your arms resting on the floor overhead. Swing your arms forward as you bend your knees up close to your abdomen. You will be in a sitting position with your legs and trunk off the floor. Return legs and trunk and arms to the floor and continue.

This exercise is a little difficult at first, mainly because it's hard to balance. Also your abdominal muscles must be fairly strong in order to execute it.

When I taught exercise it often would amaze me to see what very weak abdominal muscles many women have. I wondered how they supported their internal organs. If you would like to begin strengthening and flattening your abdomen, but cannot do the more difficult exercises, try the next two.

Lie on the floor on your back with your arms resting on the floor and your legs straight. Raise the left leg up as far as comfortable with a stiff knee. Lower leg to the floor. Raise the right leg up as far as possible. Lower leg. Continue . . . alternating left and right.

* * *

If you would like to have my short routine of exercise which is planned especially for women, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 19. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

LOUISE DAVIS

On Etiquette

When a widow remarries:

I am a 25-year-old widow with a three-year-old daughter. I am to be married soon at an afternoon church wedding, and we are planning to have the families and a small group of friends. The invitations will be done verbally. Would a reception be proper? If so, what type of refreshments should be served? Should my daughter be at the ceremony and, if so, with whom should she sit? My mother will be present. What type dress would be appropriate for me to wear and how about a hat?

Louise Davis

Louise Davis Answers:

A reception would be all right, but you might prefer to call it an informal gathering or an At Home. The word reception suggests formality and large size. Appropriate refreshments would be punch and canapes supplemented by salted nuts and bon-bons. You can serve coffee too and, if you are having a wedding cake, I suggest that it be decorated in a pastel shade rather than white. A three-year-old is much too young to understand what it's all about. For her sake and for all concerned, I suggest that you leave her at home with a baby sitter. But if you decide that she be present, I'm sure your mother could handle her better than anyone else. As for your dress, be sure to avoid white or anything that looks "bridey." A simple afternoon dress would be appropriate. Wear a hat at the church, but remove it afterwards if you wish.

He knows the Score!

Right now, football — and thoughts of football — take up his every waking moment. When not out with the team, he's hidden behind the sports page snitched from Dad's newspaper. Ask him the score in the second game in Vancouver last year, and chances are he'll tell you . . . probably tell you the yards gained into the bargain.

But he knows the score on more serious things, too. Take saving, for instance. For the past year, he's operated his own savings account at the B of M where they've fixed up a special wicket just for the school-children. That's how he bought his football outfit — by depositing part of his allowance every Friday after school. Next on his list is a pair of skates. Says he'll have them, too, before the rink opens.

Why not open a savings account for your youngster this Friday afternoon? It only takes a dollar to start. Then, when it comes to attaining those other, more important goals in life he'll know the score . . . his sense of thrift and responsibility — gained through having his own savings account as a boy — will be one of his most valuable assets.

Entertain For Son, Financee

Mr. and Mrs. George Bennett entertained at their home on Linden Avenue in honor of their son, Michael, and his fiance, Miss Marjorie Keifer, whose marriage takes place Friday evening in Fairfield United Church.

Buffet supper was served to guests, including members of the wedding party, following the wedding rehearsal. Centering the refreshment table was a "good luck" cake decorated with two tiny silver horseshoes which had been on the wedding cake at the hosts' marriage 23 years ago.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Keifer, Mr. and Mrs. L. LaPierre, Mrs. Roland Webster, Mrs. Basil Fraser, Mrs. E. Gordon, Mrs. Pat McIvor, Anne Sugden, Betty Anne Sutherland, Carol Keifer and Frances Keifer; Dr. Jim Donald, Stewart MacIntosh, Rodney Webster, John Dunaway, David Bennett and Franklin Keifer.

Last evening, the Young Peoples' Society of Fairfield United Church, met at the home of Miss Betty Ann Sutherland to honor the affianced couple, Miss Keifer and Mr. Bennett. The surprise party was held at the Sutherland home on Kipling Street. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her grandmother, Mrs. E. Gordon.

Autumn Red Chiffon Gowns Worn by Bridal Attendants

A trio of attendants, dressed identically in autumn red tone gowns accompanied bride Miss Marsha Jeanne Burdock up the aisle of St. John's Anglican Church recently, for her marriage to David Morton.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Burdock of Unity, Sask., and her groom is the son of Mrs. M. Porter of Fernwood Street, Victoria.

Canon G. Biddle officiated at the ceremony.

F. Chubb played wedding music at the organ.

A floor-length gown of white silk organza was worn by the bride. The bodice of Chantilly lace was styled with a high sabrina neckline and lily-point sleeves. Pearls and paillettes trimmed the dainty dress which was accented at the back with a large bow. A halo of pearls held her finger-tip veil and she carried a cascade of stephanotis and a white orchid.

She was given in marriage by her father.

Attendants were Mrs. B. Cave, matron of honor; Mrs. S. Daggit and Mrs. S. Harris, bridesmatrons. Their ballerina-length gowns were of chiffon and they had matching headpieces. All carried bouquets of white daisies.

William Harris was best man and Rae Daggit and Clyde Porter ushered.

Alex Horne, uncle of the bride, proposed the toast at the reception at Holyrood House. A three-tier cake centred the bridal table, embedded in pink tulle on a lace cloth.

Leaving on honeymoon to the mainland, the bride donned a teal blue Blin and Blin sheath style dress with forest glow and beige accessories. She topped the ensemble with a squirrel stole.

The couple will live at 666 Gorge Road.

DEAR ABBY . . .

There Are Others, Too!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR MISS VAN BUREN: I am elderly and unmarried. Before my passing I would like to do something for animals, preferably dogs. Do you know of any organization (not a racket) dedicated to serving animals? My idea is to leave something to benefit them. Animals have so few friends.
ANIMAL LOVER.

DEAR LOVER: Look into the "Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals." Far be it from me to discourage your noble intentions, but before you leave everything to dogs, won't you consider the many worthy organizations dedicated to serving unfortunate and deserving people? The mentally ill, physically ill, orphaned, blind, aged, displaced and crippled to name a few.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is beautiful, 27 years old, and has had two unsuccessful marriages. Now she is in love with a married man. She knows there is no chance of his getting a divorce to marry her because his wife would never agree to it. But my daughter says she doesn't care as long as she can see him a couple of times a week. What kind of a life is that for a respectable girl, I ask you? Is there any way I can keep her from throwing her life away on this man?
BROKEN-HEARTED MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: When a woman is in love, the last person in the world she will listen to is her mother. If you can't get her to talk to a psychologist, a clergyman or just any mature person with horse sense, she'll have to learn the hard way.

DEAR ABBY: My husband has been in debt over his ears for the entire 18 years of our marriage. He's worked steady and makes good money. Right now we have four bills in the hands of collectors, and they have threatened to repossess our furniutre. We have two impending law suits for back payments and we've had our telephone and water disconnected and the electricity would have been, but our child was sick when the electrician came. He owes $1000 to a loan agency and is trying to borrow more. Does my husband sound like a normal man with the responsibility of a family? What can I do with him? MRS. O.

DEAR MRS. O.: Your husband sounds like a little boy who knows that green apples will give him a stomach ache, but he eats them anyway. YOU should get his pay check directly from his employer and give your husband carfare and lunch money.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am a 15-year-old girl and my mother and I had a heart to heart talk. She told me I should tell her everything. Well, I told her everything and now she won't let me go around with my best girl-friend because she says she is wild and is a bad influence on me. She won't let me go out with either of the two boys I like because she thinks they are fast and I might get into trouble. If I listened to my mother I wouldn't have any friends. My mother is real square. Abby, what can a girl do when she has a square mother? "15".

DEAR "15": Your mother is NOT square—she is round as she is sound. Better to walk alone than to be in the company of questionable companions.

CONFIDENTIALLY YOURS
—by Byrne Hope Sanders

MONTREAL, Oct. 16th — Watch it grow! . . . I'm thinking of the new series of Canada Savings Bonds now on sale at the BANK OF MONTREAL. As in previous CSB issues, you pay only 5% down and the balance in 11-monthly instalments. This means you can buy a $50-bond for $2.50 down-payment or a $100-bond with a $5 down-payment. What's more, they have a yield of approximately 4.19% if held to maturity. Safe, dependable Canada Savings Bonds are an investment in Canada's future — and in your own. Why not drop in today and buy your bond at the nearest branch of "My Bank"? Then watch your investment grow!

"MOTHER, YOU'RE A DOLL!" That's warm praise to hear. Make them these cookies with EAGLE BRAND Sweetened Condensed Milk, and you'll win it. They're moist, chewy cookies you can make in about 10 mins. . . . Coconut Peanut Macaroons

Blend 2/3 cup Eagle Brand Sweetened Condensed Milk (half 15-oz. can), 3 cups shredded coconut, ½ cup coarsely chopped peanuts, and 1 tsp. vanilla. Drop by teaspoonfuls on well-greased baking sheet about 1-inch apart. Bake in moderate oven (350 deg.) until a delicate brown — about 8-10 mins. Remove from pan at once. Makes about 30 cookies.

I'M A REAL FAN for anything I can use in a lot of different ways . . . especially when it makes my cookery taste better! That's why I depend so much on BAKER'S CHOCOLATE CHIPS — those unusually delicious, deeply-rich bits of chocolate goodness. Baker's Chocolate Chips do magic things to cookies, cakes, desserts and frostings — and do them more flavorfully than any other chocolate chips I know. Their unfailingly crunchy, fresh quality is perfectly preserved by the exclusive foil package, which keeps the chips as fresh as the day they were made.

I LIKE TO SEE A HIGH-SPIRITED DOG — a dismal pup depresses me. That's why I make sure that our Mr. Kipps feeds on the food that is best for him — DR. BALLARD'S CHAMPION DOG FOOD. Dr. Ballard's is the veterinary diet that contains all the nutrients a dog needs. I'm sure you'll find your pet will do equally well on this long-time favourite of dogs and their owners. Give him Chicken, Liver or Regular — each one is a flavour he'll eat with gusto. Dr. Ballard's has constant uniformity and quality in every tin — with balanced nourishment that encourages a shiny coat, bright eyes and a cheery outlook on life. Get Dr. Ballard's for your pet today, won't you?

HELP NEEDED! . . . sometimes it's a problem to satisfy hearty cool-weather appetites. Here's my suggestion:— bake a high, light and handsome cake for dessert — or perhaps a flaky pie. And make sure your baking is extra-successful by using BLUE BONNET MARGARINE. Blue Bonnet is now, and always has been, an all-vegetable margarine . . . with essential vitamins and minerals added. Use it for all your baking and as a spread for bread. Perfect, too, as a topping for vegetables. Blue Bonnet is tops in flavour, nutrition and energy-building qualities.

MOTHER TALK: WILL YOU JOIN ME FOR A MOMENT in agreeing that breakfast is a most important meal? Will you agree, too, that a delicious hot cereal, such as RED RIVER is the best way to stimulate appetites on a brisk Fall morning? We've always served Red River in our family because everyone enjoys the delicate flavor of the blended cracked wheat, rye and flax. Cooks in just a few minutes, too. Best of all, Red River is wonderful for all age groups. Active workers and youngsters find it contains energy values for strenuous days. Sedentary workers and older people find that it guards regularity. Do order some Red River Cereal this week!

I MUST STRING TOGETHER SOME ADJECTIVES . . . for I need them to describe the nut-like, sweet, delicate, delectable flavor that only HOVIS BREAD has. There's really nothing like it — and it's equally delicious plain, or toasted. Hovis has five times the amount of wheat germ that ordinary whole wheat breads contain, and is an excellent source of Vitamin B. complex, including the very important Vitamin B1. Serve Hovis for luncheon sandwiches; toast it for breakfast; make party treats, placing your favorite tid-bits on dainty slices of Hovis. Hovis is a "must" in our house. At better bake shops and grocery stores.

DOUBLY DELICIOUS! — COMBINE TWO vegetable favourites — MINUTE RICE and carrots — for a flavoursome treat with any meat. Easy-to-prepare Minute Rice goes with almost everything — and it 'fixes itself' in just 5 minutes . . . plump, tender, separate kernels every time.

Carrot Rice

Add 1-1/3 cups Minute Rice and 1/2 teaspoon salt to 1-1/3 cups boiling water in saucepan. Mix just to moisten all rice. Cover, remove from heat, and let stand 5 minutes. Add 1 cup hot finely diced cooked carrots, 2 tablespoons butter and a dash of pepper. Mix lightly with a fork.

NOVA SCOTIA JOINS HOSPITAL INSURANCE

OTTAWA (CP)—Signing of a hospital insurance agreement between the Nova Scotia and federal governments was announced here today.

Federal Health Minister Monteith was in Halifax today for the signing, which brings seven provinces into the federal-provincial scheme.

The others are Ontario, British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Newfoundland.

Nova Scotia's program will become effective next Jan. 1, the same date as Ontario's. Those of the other signatory provinces have been in effect since July 1.

POSSIBLE, SAYS ENGINEER

Nuclear Power Could Compete With Coal Here

Nuclear electric power could compete today with coal-produced electricity on Vancouver Island, a Canadian General Electric power engineer said here Wednesday night.

J. L. Olsen, 37, of CGE's marketing research in civilian atomic power department at Peterborough, Ont., spoke to members of the Victoria branch, Institute of Power Engineers.

"We are not trying to shove nuclear power down anyone's throat," Mr. Olsen said after addressing the meeting on nuclear power development in Canada.

"If you are sitting on top of a coal or gas field or have hydro-electric power in your backyard, then they are still the cheapest sources of power."

In a question period the engineer, a UBC graduate, told the meeting:

"If you have transmission distances in the order of 400 miles or more, then we are extremely interested in looking at a comparison between nuclear and hydro power.

"If coal-produced power costs 40-50 cents per BTU, then, again, we would be interested in a comparison. We (nuclear power producers) would be in an excellent position to compete," Mr. Olsen said.

He directed the latter reply to a question about power production on Vancouver Island.

If there were a nuclear power plant meeting Canadian requirements today he believes its electricity would be cheaper here than coal-produced power, but as far as Vancouver Island is concerned hydro power would be cheaper still.

However, it is recognized that handy hydro power sources on the Island are diminishing.

First Plant Operating By 1961

Mr. Olsen said nuclear power could compete with the proposed large scale hydro development in the Rocky Mountain Trench Peace River area if power was to be transmitted to the lower mainland, a distance of more than 490 miles directly.

Canada's first atomic energy power plant is still in the development stage at General Electric.

The speaker said plans are to have it in operation in 1961, producing 20,000 kilowatts of power by means of a three-stage system comprised of nuclear reactor, heat transfer stage and steam turbines.

Eventually it is hoped nuclear power plants based on the G-E devised procedure will reduce the net cost of imported fuel to the industrial regions of Canada, Mr. Olsen said.

The studies began in 1955 with the co-operation of Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., a crown corporation, and Ontario Hydro-electric Commission.

Mr. Olsen said Canada is a large per capita energy user and one of the largest net power importers in the world.

He said Canada imports more than half as much again as the U.S. and has only one-tenth the population. The reason is that most of the country's fossil fuels, such as coal and petroleum, are in the west, and most of the industry is in the east, resulting in high transportation costs.

Consequently industry imports from sources closer at hand in the U.S. and South America.

Nuclear power, from uranium concentrate found in large quantities in the east, produces 15,000 times as much power per pound as coal, even though the cost per kilowatt to build a nuclear plant is twice as much as to build a coal power plant, the speaker said.

WINS TRIALS HERE

Vancouver Collie Tops on Obedience

Vancouver-owned collie Benire's Golden Prince took top honors in recent trials held by the Greater Victoria Dog Obedience Training Club.

Owned by Mr. and Mrs. Ben Taylor, Prince obtained the highest qualifying score in utility class and in open "B" class to win the meet as highest scored working dog.

Highest scored sporting dog was Patsy of Berehaven, owned by Mrs. V. G. Pinhorn.

Twenty-two dogs were entered for both trials.

Other winners in the first trial were Wycliffe Merely Mike, a standard poodle owned by Mrs. S. M. Macro of Victoria who took novice "A"; Andre of Roundoak, a miniature poodle owned by Mrs. C. E. Laundy of Victoria who came first in novice "B" and Layfield's Knight Errant, a cocker spaniel owned by Mrs. L. H. MacQueen of Royal Oak who took top honors in open "B".

In the second trial Patsy of Berehaven, a Labrador retriever owned by Mrs. V. G. Pinhorn of Victoria came first in the novice "A" class.

New Hospital Plan Approved For Vancouver

Approval for construction of a new 285-bed hospital was given North and West Vancouver Hospital Society Wednesday.

The association now may call tenders. Cost is estimated at $4,775,000—with the provincial government paying half. Federal grants are also anticipated.

The new building will adjoin the existing North Vancouver General Hospital. Its design will permit eventual expansion to accommodate another 40 beds.

Health and Welfare Minister Eric Martin and North Vancouver MLA Newton Steacy, Minister of Agriculture, joined in announcing government approval of the project.

U.S. Airlines Increase Fares

WASHINGTON (AP) — The civil aeronautics board has voted to let the United States airlines increase round trip and family plan fares effective Monday.

Eight major lines asked the board for permission to eliminate the five per cent discount on round trips.

The eight lines, and probably some others, are expected to boost their fares under the ruling.

Wage Boost Set For Launderers

Some 175 workers in three Victoria laundries will get a pay increase Nov. 1 as a result of an agreement signed today.

Following negotiations between the companies and Victoria Laundry Workers' Federal Union No. 1 (CLC) workers at Standard Steam Laundry Ltd. will get 12 to 38 cents more an hour in a two-year agreement; employees will get 12 cents more an hour at New Method Laundries Ltd. and 17 to 25 cents more an hour at Economy Steam Laundry Ltd.

Hourly rates now range from $1.13 to $1.83.

In addition to union shop conditions, revisions were made in workers with 10 years' service to get three weeks' annual holiday.

MASTER OF CEREMONIES at Victoria College's first alumni reunion Saturday at 7.30 p.m. will be Raymond Whitehouse, a program director of the CBC who was student council president at the college in 1940. Friday at 8 p.m., this year's graduates and their parents will attend the college's annual assembly in Victoria High School auditorium for presentation of awards to prize winners.

Butterfly Steals Scene

LONDON (AP)—A red admiral butterfly, a gorgeous insect, fluttered to the stage of the Garrick Theatre Wednesday night.

What the butterfly and the audience didn't know is that the star of a revue, Dora Bryan, is mortally afraid of butterflies and moths.

Dora squeaked. But co-star of the revue, Patience Collier, who isn't afraid of bugs, tried to keep the show going. It was a scene in a cafe.

Lines were forgotten, while Patience ran around trying to catch the red admiral.

"Let's go to another cafe," said the terrified Dora.

"Don't worry, I'll get the beast," said Patience.

The red admiral went high and dive-bombed Patience, landing on her elbow. She opened a jewelled handbag and popped the red admiral inside.

Dora regained her composure and finished the scene. Then came a flood of congratulations. Best performance in extempore excitement he had ever seen, said her manager.

And to prove it, the audience thought it was all part of the act.

(BB PLUS) "A CERTAIN SMILE" (Royal) — There is a quality of life captured in the stories of France's celebrated young writer Francoise Sagan that can be classified only as civilized tragedy, that is tragedy that comes about through the calm, unemotional and quite intentional breaking of the moral code.

As exemplified by "Bonjour Tristesse," the first of the adaptations of Miss Sagan's novels, and now 20th Century Fox's "A Certain Smile", it is all very gay and chi-chi and even the ensuing tragedy seems to bear a certain mark of left bank respectability.

There will be some, however, without being prudes, who will rue the necessity for them. They are dirty stories, far dirtier than others that are reviled for their morbidity, violence and sex. They leave one feeling unclean of soul because the sins are committed by such nice-looking cultured persons who should know better. Evil always looks so much more evil on a well-bred intelligent face.

* * *

"A CERTAIN SMILE" picks up young French actress Christine Carere, a law student at the Sorbonne in Paris. She is in love with fellow student Bradford Dillman, who will marry her just as soon as he can get his mother to release the necessary money from his father's estate. He takes Christine to visit his mother in her lavish home. There she meets Dillman's middle-aged Uncle Luc, played by handsome Rossano Brazzi, and his wife, Joan Fontaine. A stolen kiss in the garden causes the girl to wonder if she isn't in love with uncle more than she is with her fiance.

In an effort to forget him she invites Dillman to spend the holiday at her home. But he upsets her mother and leaves. Feeling neglected she sets off to spend a week clandestinely with Brazzi in the Riviera.

The photography, especially of Paris and the Provinces, is excellent, as is the acting.

New Organizer For Freedomites

VANCOUVER (CP)—With only a week left in which to sign up for their proposed migration to Russia, British Columbia's Sons of Freedom Doukhobors have appointed a new organizer.

PETER ELASOFF JR.
. . . takes over

STEFAN SOROKIN
. . . in Uruguay

Peter Elasoff, Jr., has taken over the task from the Sons' executive secretary, Bill Moojelsky.

Mr. Moojelsky retains his position as executive secretary and leader of the radical Doukhobor sect in the absence of its spiritual leader, Stefan Sorokin.

When last heard from Sorokin was in Uruguay. He is understood to have collected sums of money several years ago from Freedomite Doukhobors to investigate the possibility of establishing communities in South America, but was not heard from after. Freedomite leaders have consistently declined to comment on his absence.

Mr. Moojelsky said in an interview he will help Mr. Elasoff in any difficulties, but plans mainly to spend about a month preparing a biographical document on the 60 years of Doukhobor life in Canada.

FAMED SIGNAL OF NELSON TO FLY HERE

Trafalgar Day next Tuesday, will be marked by a display of Nelson's famous message to the fleet prior to engaging the forces of Napoleon.

The "England expects . . ." message will fly from the flagstaff fronting the legislative buildings.

Signal flags to be used will be on the same design as flags used by Nelson's yeoman.

Two RCN signals ratings and a petty officer will raise the signal at 9 a.m. and strike it at 5 p.m.

Naval historian F. V. Longstaff, notes the hoisting of the signal is a revival of an old custom here.

Park Youth Training Plan Big Success Says Westwood

Provincial Parks branch employed 120 youths last summer in provincial recreation areas under its youth training plan.

The boys, who receive $3 a day ($3.25 for second year), free board, lodging and travel, worked in 10 crews in the Mount Robson and Manning Park areas.

Recreation and Conservation Minister E.C. Westwood said the scheme has proved highly successful. He said many of the youths have chosen careers in forestry and conservation following a summer in the service.

Boys qualified for the summer work must be between 16 and 18 and are recommended by their principals or counsellors.

Their supervisors are usually school teachers also seeking summer employment.

The boys put in a 5½-day week with a half day of organized recreation between July 1 and the end of August. They are employed at trail clearing and similar tasks.

PAINTINGS BRING RECOR D PRICE

SOLD: For $2.1 Million

LONDON (AP)—Seven French impressionist paintings changed hands Wednesday night at a 20-minute auction that set records both for the price paid for a single picture and for the total realized at one art auction session.

Cezanne's Boy in the Red Waistcoat fetched £220,000, more than twice as much as ever was paid before for a single painting at auction, with the seven paintings bringing £781,000 ($2,186,800) in all.

"This will put up prices in the art world everywhere," said Peter Wilson, who auctioned off the paintings at Sotheb 's.

The purchases all were art dealers, six of them Americans. Georges Keller of New York was the high bidder for the record-breaking Cezanne.

BANKER'S COLLECTION

All the paintings were part of the collection of Jacob Goldschmidt, the late banker, who had ordered them sold in his will.

The other six paintings were:

Edouard Manet's self-portrait, Manet with Palette, sold to an American, John Summers, for £65,000.

Manet's portrait of Madame Gamby, La Promenade, sold to Keller for £89,000.

Manet's La Rue de Berne, sold to Keller for £113,000.

Van Gogh's Public Garden at Arles, sold to New York art dealer, Paul Rosenberg, for £132,000.

Cezanne's still life, Big Apples, sold to Rosenberg for £90,000.

Paul Renoir's La Pensee sold to London dealer Edward Speelman for £72,000.

U.S. CARDINALS BREAKING LAW BY VOTING?

WASHINGTON (AP)—The state department declined comment Wednesday on a contention that three Roman Catholic cardinals from the United States would violate American law by voting in the election of a new pope.

Department officials said there will be a reply in due course to the argument made Tuesday by Protestants and other Americans united for Separation of Church and State.

The predominantly Protestant organization made public a letter to State Secretary Dulles contending that the successor to Pope Pius XII will be not just an ecclestiastical sovereign but also the head of a sovereign state, Vatican City.

The group said U.S. laws forbid citizens from voting in an election in a foreign state.

DR. EDITH SUMMERSKILL

Dr. Summerskill, red-haired storm centre of Britain's Labor Party, has been ousted from the party's national executive committee in favor of beefy Mrs. Braddock, 240-pound Liverpool representative in Parliament. Dr. Summerskill grabbed headlines when she claimed Norwegian nationality in reaction against British action in the Suez crisis two years ago.

'Isolation Rooms' Prepared 'For Cardinals' Papal Vote

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Funeral masses were celebrated today for Pope Pius XII in St. Peter's Basilica and at a chapel near the pontiff's tomb in the grottos of the great church.

Bricklayers and carpenters erected barriers to isolate the Sistine Chapel and adjoining Vatican buildings to be occupied by the College of Cardinals during the conclave to elect his successor.

The workmen were arranging living quarters for the cardinals, who cannot leave the conclave area from the time they enter Oct. 25 until a new Pope is elected.

Pope Pius XII was elected in a day. But the Vatican was taking no chances, and was preparing for a prolonged meeting. Vans were moving in beds and kitchens were being set up in Vatican courtyards.

Other workmen in St. Peter's were putting up stands for final weekend funeral services for Pius XII.

In Rome, Italian President Giovanni Gronchi and other government leaders attended a special funeral mass at Santa Maria Degli Angeli.

The cardinals now present in Rome held another meeting to discuss preliminary work for the conclave. Thirty-one attended.

Meanwhile, the first of foreign delegations to attend final funeral services Sunday began arriving in Rome.

TO SIGNAL POPE'S ELECTION

Vatican Hunted For Lost Stove

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The stove is gone. And tradition insists it has to be found.

Workmen have looked everywhere, in the Vatican warehouses and outside. But they cannot find it.

This stove is used to signal the outcome of votes at papal conclaves in the Sistine Chapel.

The stove has been used as long as anyone can remember to burn ballots after cardinals vote for a Pope.

If the cardinals failed to agree on a new Pope, a little wet straw was mixed with the ballots. That produced a grey smoke. People watching from St. Peter's Square knew the cardinals had failed to elect a pontiff.

If two-thirds of the cardinals present plus one voted for a Pope, then the ballots were burned without straw. The result was white smoke. To the crowds in the square, that meant a new Pope had been elected.

The stove was last used in 1939 and presumably had been stored away after that conclave elected Pope Pius XII. Possibly it was just misplaced.

"It's hard to think that someone would steal it," a Vatican official said.

5 Missionaries Under Arrest In Red China

Witnesses Called 'Subversive' Sect

TOKYO (AP)—Peiping radio reported today the arrest in Shanghai of five Jehovah's Witnesses and banning of the religious sect.

The five—two Britons and three Chinese—were accused of trying to wreck China's "socialist construction."

The charge was denied in New York by the head of the sect, which sent the Britons to China in 1947.

The Britons are Stanley Ernest Jones, 42, and Harold George King, 56, the only foreign missionaries of the Jehovah's Witnesses in Communist China. Peiping gave no immediate indication of what will become of them or of the three Chinese.

Other missionaries in China have been sentenced to long prison terms for various laleged offences.

Peiping radio said the group headed by Jones and King "was by no means a religious organization, but an imperialist base for subversive and disruptive activities."

The broadcast added that "the reacationary organization was led by the U.S. imperialist, N. H. Knorr."

Knorr is president of the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society, which carries on the work of Jehovah's Witnesses. He said the charge against his men is untrue and absurd.

Three Killed In USAF Operation

HONOLULU (AP) — Three men were killed and three others survived a dunking in the North Pacific Ocean in an ill-fated U.S. air force operation 90 miles northeast of here Tuesday, the air force has announced.

The pilot of a jet fighter plane which was running low on fuel died when he bailed out. Two members of one marine helicopter were killed when their chopper blew up in the rescue operation and three aboard another were rescued after ditching their craft in the ocean.

Needle Tests for TB

Victoria-Esquimalt health department this winter will switch over from X-ray to needle tests for tuberculosis among school children.

Dr. Elizabeth Mahaffy, medical health officer, told the union board of health Tuesday that the tests would be made on all children over 15 in Greater Victoria school district, with parental consent.

Advantage of the needle test is its capacity of showing, from one year to another, whether a child has changed from negative to positive classification.

An X-ray only tells whether or not there ever has been tuberculin infection in the child. Once a position finding is made, it recurrs in each subsequent X-ray of that child.

Dr. Mahaffy said the new technique would enable health officials to determine whether, in the past year, any of the children have come in contact with the disease.

A positive reaction does not necessarily mean that the child had tuberculosis.

"But it would be followed by a home visit to determine who was the source of the contact," said Dr. Mahaffy. "This will enable us to find what we call the 'quiet TB cases'."

THE UNION OF TWO COLONIES (November 19, 1866)

For eight years each of the two separate colonies, Vancouver Island and British Columbia, maintained its own government and government officials. This was too costly for a combined population of only twelve thousand people particularly when, by 1866, business was falling off and depression setting in.

The people on Vancouver Island suggested a union to cut down the expenses. Despite the objections of people on the mainland, Governor Seymour recommended to the British Government that such a union be sanctioned.

This was done in 1866 and here we see Governor Seymour delivering a speech at the first meeting of the legislative council representing the now complete colony of British Columbia which met in New Westminster in 1867. But this city was to be the capital for only a short time. The Council passed a resolution that Victoria be the capital and by 1868 the change was made.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Mike Andrews, aged 10, of Omaha, Neb., for his question:

Who Invented the Days of the Week?

For countless ages early man was a wanderer over the earth. He was a hunter, following herds of animals for his food. The herds moved with the changing seasons, wherever the pasture was best. And man noticed the seasons and the passing years. In time he settled down to be a farmer and a shepherd. He had time to watch the night sky and he saw that the heavens provided him with a calendar to mark the months, the seasons and the years.

The stars provided a calendar for the seasons. Bright Sirius and the constellation Orion appear at night to adorn the winter sky. The straggly constellation Scorpio appears only on summer nights. Each season has its own pattern of stars in the night sky. And the parade of stars repeats itself once each year. So wherever man settled he soon learned to count time in years.

He noticed that the moon also provided a timepiece. It goes through its four phases once in 27 and a third days. The moon, however, confused many of the ancient peoples. They could not fit the lunar month into a neat pattern of days and years. In fact, our own calendar months do not agree with the lunar month.

Not all ancient peoples thought of dividing months into weeks. The early Romans, for instance, simply divided each month into a certain number of days. The Romans, of course, were empire builders. They conquered other peoples and imposed their laws and customs. They also learned from other peoples. They learned some people divided the months into seven-day weeks. And the Romans adopted the week as their own.

They named Sunday for the sun and Monday for the moon. The other five days were named for the gods of the five known planets. They were Mars the god of war, Mercury the god of medicine, Jupiter the king of the gods, Venus goddess of love and Saturn, the deposed king of the ancient gods.

The Anglo-Saxon peoples of Europe liked the Roman plan of seven days in a week. But they did not like the Roman gods or their names. So they renamed the days of the week to honor their own ancient gods. In Anglo-Saxon, Sunday and Monday remained sacred to the sun and the moon. They had no god similar to old Saturn so Saturday remained the same.

Mars, however, was thrown out to honor Tiu, the Norse god of war. His day became Tuesday. Mercury was thrown out to honor Woden, king of the Norse gods. His day is Wednesday. Jupiter was replaced with Thor, Norse god of thunder. His day is Thursday.

The Romans had made one day sacred to a goddess, Venus the goddess of love. The Norsemen, too, had a goddess of love. She was Frigga, wife of Woden the king. Her day is Friday. So the names for our days of the week came partly from the Romans and partly from the Anglo-Saxon peoples of Europe, who took them from the Norse.

Instrument Rockets Soar 90 Miles

CHURCHILL, Man. (CP)—United States scientists Tuesday fired two instrument-laden rockets to heights of 90 miles to launch the fall program of International Geophysical Year tests in the upper atmosphere over this sub-Arctic station.

A 14-foot Nike-Cajun carrying radio equipment to measure the density of meteorite dust was shot up from the $8,000,000 U.S. government base just east of this Hudson Bay port, 610 miles north of Winnipeg.

A large Aerobee-Hi rocket equipped to test air pressure and density followed. They were the 55th and 56th in a series that will see about 78 rockets launched here as Canadian and U.S. scientists co-operate in an effort to learn more about the upper atmosphere, where much of the earth's weather begins.

Both firings were described as successful.

Local Group Boosts Fuller's Lake Park

CHEMAINUS—A committee representing various organizations in the community has been set up to assist the municipality in the development of a nine-acre public park at Fuller's Lake.

Harry Ewart has been named chairman, and secretary-treasurer is Murray Poskitt. Committee members are Les Clarke, longshoremen; Ray Millard, firemen; Harry Nicholls, Rotary Club; Don Beattie, Canadian Legion; Helge Staffanson, MacMillan & Bloedel Ltd., and Dave Murray, Kinsmen Club.

In co-operation with the municipality, the committee hopes to develop a well planned public park with campsites, picnic area, and facilities for swimming and boating.

Fuller's Lake is situated just off the Trans-Canada Highway, near Chemainus.

Firemen Ask Hall Addition, New Truck

CHEMAINUS — A delegation from Chemainus Volunteer Fire Department this week asked North Cowichan council to approve plans for an addition to the local firehall and the purchase of a new one-and-a-half ton truck fully equipped with a salvage unit.

Estimated cost of both items, including a new heating system for the firehall, was given as $28,000.

The delegation, headed by fireman William Fyffe said that crowded conditions make it necessary to take one of the two trucks out of the firehall before any work can be done on any of the equipment. With the population of the area increasing rapidly, the firemen feel that a salvage-rescue unit is needed.

NO PAY

Chemainus firemen, Mr. Fyffe said, had pledged not to ask for any remuneration, as paid most volunteer firemen, until such time as the new addition and equipment is paid for.

Mr. Fyffe urged that a bylaw for the hall addition and new equipment be put to Chemainus ratepayers in December.

Reeve C. A. P. Murison assured the delegation that council will study the proposal at once.

450 Teachers Open Meeting

CAMPBELL RIVER — Close to 450 teachers attended opening sessions here today of a three-day North Vancouver Island teachers' convention.

They came from every section of the Island from Parksville north, and including Alert Bay.

Speakers will include Dr. Gerald S. Craig, New York, a scientist, and Roy C. Brookbank, coordinator of training and development for the B.C. Electric.

A symposium will be held Saturday with the following panel members: J. R. Caldwell, local lawyer; Dr. J. F. K. English, deputy minister of education, and Reginald Cox, B.C. Teachers' Federation.

High School Fire Still Investigated

NANAIMO — Investigation is continuing into the cause of the $200,000 fire at Nanaimo Senior High School, Aug. 29, according to a letter received by the school board here from the office of the provincial fire marshal.

Cause is still "unknown," according to the fire marshal. The early morning blaze destroyed the school cafeteria, but fire doors protected the rest of the building.

Royal Oak Man Named Dairymen's President

DUNCAN—Members of the Vancouver Island Dairymen's Association, meeting here Tuesday, elected Robert Godfrey, Royal Oak, president.

Ed Smith, Courtenay, was elected vice-president, and John Hulbert, Koksilah, treasurer. Directors for the ensuing year are P. Hoole and J. Pendray, Royal Oak; Archie Stevenson, J. S. Fall, and M. Hanson, Duncan; H. Dawson and J. Denslowe, Coombs; J. Hurford, Courtenay; C. Bulman and A. Galloway, Cedar; L. McKinnon and B. McKinnon, Alberni.

The meeting was adjourned as only 25 members remained in attendance and will be reconvened Oct. 28 to complete business on the agenda, including another resolution to establish a single selling agency and the report of the VIDA director of the B.C. Federation of Agriculture.

GRIEVANCES TO PROVINCE

Pensioners Load Salvo

NANAIMO (CP) — A three-point brief, outlining long-time grievances, will be presented the deputy minister of health and welfare at a meeting Friday in Vancouver of the Old Age Pensioners' provincial executive.

B.C. OAP Association president Ralph Coles of New Westminster, here to open the annual fall bazaar of the association, said subjects of the brief will be ambulance charges, chronic hospitals and the 5 per cent improvement tax assessment on old-age homeowners.

He said the executive was charging the present B.C. government with failure to absorb ambulance costs to pensioners. This, he said, was a common practice with earlier governments, the only stipulation being the ambulance call must have been advised by a doctor.

BRIDGE LESSON

By Oswald Jacoby

The cards in today's hand are stacked in favor of East and West and when it was played in the recent Tri-State Tournament at Shreveport, all East and West pairs came out with plus scores.

North	East	South	West
1 ♥	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead—♠ 2

Top score went to one pair who succeeded in beating two spades four tricks. I must admit that declarer helped them a little but the whole play is interesting as an example of what good defence can accomplish.

West opened the deuce of spades and no one can blame declarer for playing low from dummy. East played his jack and after he recovered from the surprise of holding the trick he returned the suit. West took his ace and led a third trump which went to dummy's king. East signaled with the nine of diamonds.

South took dummy's ace of hearts and ruffed a small heart with his one remaining trump. This gave him three tricks and dummy's king of clubs made four. He led a second club and would have made a fifth trick if he had taken his ace. Instead he finessed the jack and West won with the queen.

Now West led the jack of hearts and as you can see the defence had no trouble about winning the rest of the tricks.

HELLO THERE!

SO GLAD YOU COULD COME! DID YOU KNOW WE ARE IN THE MIDST OF A BIG STOCKTAKING SALE? YES, WE FOUND ALL KINDS OF ODDS AND ENDS THIS WEEK, AND IF YOU'LL ALLOW ME, I'LL SHOW YOU AROUND OUR "BARGAIN ALLEY."

Over here, we have some doors—odd sizes, yes, but look at them! 6 only, Sylvacord - Faced Monodoors, several sizes, each $6.50

26 Fir Mono Doors, 1-2 x 6-6 x 1⅜, and 4 only, 1-4 x 6-6 x 1⅜, each $4.00. (Just the thing for small linen, coat or broom closets.)

4 only, Fir Mono Doors, 1-6 x 5 1/12x 1⅜, each $5.00

And on this side, we have some very nice hardwood Doors in various sizes: 9 only, Sen Doors, 1⅜ thick, each $10.00

42 only, Birch Doors, 1⅜ thick, each $10.00

And over here, 17 only, Birch Doors, 1¾ thick at $12.50

If you're interested in Plywoods, allow me to show you these: 29 sheets 4 x 8 Sylvatile and 11 sheets 4 x 8 Sylva Craft at per sheet $3.99. Also 14 sheets 4 x 8 Block Line at per sheet $4.50

In this rack we have 30 sheets 32"x96" Etchwood at per sheet $3.99. Here's a good buy. 26 sheets 4 x 8 prefinished V-Groove Mahogany, either Ribbon Grain or Rotary. You'll notice the odd scratch on some sheets, so you can have them for per sheet $7.00

This next item is an exceptionally good buy. The price has been cut by ⅓. ½x4, ½x6 and ½x8 Tongue and Groove Oak Panelling at, per board foot 20c

If your home is in the framing stage, you might be interested in this: Donnacona Saturated Exterior Sheathing. Large 4 x 8 x 7/16 sheets go up fast in place of Shiplap; less cutting and less waste. A good price, too $64.50 per M.

What's in those cartons? They're Sylvacord squares, 16" x 16" and they're perfect for ceilings or walls for rumpus rooms, etc. These Sylvacord squares are precision cut and look very smart applied in a basket-weave pattern, each 25c

Or if you prefer Weldtex squares, here's 75 pieces 15 x 15 for, each 15c

Just around the corner we have 244 pieces of ⅛ P.V. Hardboard, 36"x48" at 72c each, and 29 pieces 24 x 48 at 48c each. They're just the thing for cabinet backs and drawer bottoms.

What's this? I don't know what these are doing here, but they look like 100' rolls of Green Screening, 24" and 20" widths. Useful for screens, screen doors, roof vents, etc. Price? I'd say they're worth $10.00 per roll.

Would any of you be interested in 8 kegs of 2½" Finish Nails at $5.00 per keg? Em Showers tells me they're probably slightly rusty, they have been around so long. But for $5.00, who cares?

I'd like to show you, before you go, our regular stock of ¼" Rotary cut, prefinished V Groove Mahogany Plywood. Believe me, this Plywood being prefinished saves many hours of hard work and messy cleaning up. The price isn't much more than regular unfinished Plywood, and I feel at these prices, you would be wise to consider it.

4 x 8 sheets, each $8.00

4 x 7 sheets, each $7.00

The 4 x 7 size would probably be just the thing for the rumpus room or extra bedroom you are planning for your basement.

That's it for now, folks. Thank you so much for looking in. See you next week?

P.S.: Cliff Fetterly, our B-H Paint and Color Authority, just asked me to PLEASE remind you folks about our B-H Quality Shingle Stain Clearance. He says, protect your roof now, before real winter weather starts.

Several nice colors still available. Special to clear ... $3.99 per gallon

Mackenzie's Raiders Debuts at 6.30; 'Little Women' at 7.30

By PHIL LEE, Times TV Editor

THE BOB HOPE SHOW (Fair)—It may just have been the suicidal mood that Eddie Fisher left me in that caused me to take such a dyspeptic view of Bob Hope's conglomeration, Tuesday night. But no matter how I looked at it in retrospect the show held all the allure of a dog's breakfast a la carte.

Even Hope's jokes, usually so dependable, emerged as tasty as yesterday's victuals, scarcely as warm as a Boy Scout's first fire in the rainy season. But the real cause of the near-fiasco wasn't so much rapid Robert's as his choice of guests. They were, so to speak, a bunch of squares looking for round holes which weren't there.

Now Joan Crawford is a dramatic actress of quality as her Oscars will attest. But as a comedienne in Hope's scheme of things she was as funny as a barked shin. The actress, who loves live cameras like Debbie loves Eddie, was assured the skit with Hope would be on film. It was. Thus any chance that the act would gain warmth by her being there was lost.

The appearance of Hope and France's magic comic, Fernandel, also failed to make sparks for the very reason that their brands of humor simply don't mix. Individually each is a funny man but together they seem restrained, if not in awe of one another, then at least vividly conscious of protocol. At any rate, they were both so busy muttering "After You, Alphonse," that they forgot the prime purpose of their being there, to make us laugh loud and long.

SCARPELLI

"He's sure begging us to use his product!"

Although, to give credit where credit is due, I did enjoy their song routine to a certain degree. The real flop de resistance, however, was the Parisian cafe sketch that first played on Noah's Ark and didn't get many rave notices then. And as a full stop to this review I'll mention the Bernard Brothers. And that's all I'll do, mention them. Full stop.

THE EDDIE FISHER SHOW (Poor)—Eddie Fisher is one of the most awkward television hosts I've had the displeasure to watch. About the best thing you can say about Eddie is that when he is singing he's a star and when he stops he's a flop.

However, Tuesday night's debacle was not all Fisher's fault. He had two solid partners in crime, one named Betty Hutton and the other Red Buttons. He also had Jerry Lewis on as a surprise guest. And if Jerry wasn't very funny at least he was very, very loud.

Now Miss Hutton is an entertainer who used to be extremely humorous and exciting as she warbled popular ditties back in the 30's as a singer with Vincent Lopez and his band. It was one of those peculiarities of show-business that she was to rise in a few short years to a pinnacle that artists boasting many times her talents must have envied.

But, alas and alack, the one-time blonde bombshell is only a squib of her former self. What once in her girlishness used to come off with a roar now is only embarrassing, as though one's own sweet, little, white-haired grandmother had suddenly taken to smoking long, black cigars and whirling hulu hoops. Betty, in brief, has artistically out-lived her age. There is a small place for swing in the era of the rock 'n' roll.

As for Red Buttons. If he doesn't soon get off that "Sayonara" kick of his the U.S. will be deporting him to Japan as an alien—which on the basis of Tuesday night's show, might be just as well.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 17, 1958

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—It is possible to know exactly how you stand now with associates and even competition. Show gratitude for being allied with them. Decide on matters of policy far into the future. P.M. analyze your status in personal, intimate affairs.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21)—See that you delve into all labors that need to be performed by you today early, since you can achieve a great deal. In p.m. you will be free then to enjoy your dearest friends at some mutually pleasant entertainment or recreation.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—It is imperative to give much attention to family matters in a.m. Later in the day you can then be in the outside world of activity and also have a fine social time. P.M. is excellent for things romantic, sporting, recreational.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—It's all right to do all your shopping, stocking up, etc., today, but be sure you also straighten out any existing unpleasant conditions or problems. P.M. fine for fun at own residence.

Foreign Buying Shows 12% Drop

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's foreign buying, depressed by a drop of nearly 15 per cent in imports from the United States, declined by 12 per cent in the first half of this year.

Imports totalled $2,570,000,000 in the six months, compared with $2,904,600,000 in the first half of 1957, the bureau of statics has reported.

Purchases from the U.S. fell to $1,816,700,000 from $2,136,000,000.

The bureau reported sharp reductions in imports of iron and steel goods, machinery, rolling-mill products, farm implements, auto parts, and pipes, tubes and fittings. There were also considerable declines in the inflow of crude oil and petroleum products, coal and cotton products.

City council and two local utility companies were roundly criticized by Victoria Labor Council at a meeting Wednesday.

Council was rapped for not installing traffic lights at Shelbourne and Hillside; B.C. Telephone Co. drew censure for failing to justify its "horrible" new telephone directory; B.C. Electric was scolded for its "cold and damp" buses.

The city came under fire when a labor delegate said the reason it had not installed a traffic light at Shelbourne and Hillside was that there was insufficient money in this year's budget; the light would be provided for next year.

"Nonsense," snapped builders' delegate Percy Rayment. "The cost can't be so enormous they can't pay for it out of their contingency fund. The life of a child is worth so much more than a traffic light."

POLICE ACCIDENT

One delegate said the police did not seem to consider the intersection dangerous, then noted that the latest traffic accident there involved a police car.

The labor council, which has asked for the traffic light three times in recent months, will ask again.

B.C. Telephone Co. was castigated for claiming that abbreviations were used in the new telephone directory in order to save money.

The reason was advanced in a company letter to the council replying to criticism of the directory voiced at the last labor meeting.

"FOR ECONOMY"

Some members said at that time that the book's street abbreviations were a "threat" to spelling in the schools, which brought from the company the retort that the abbreviations were used to "cut production costs and for economy."

The company also explained that a hole was not punched in the book for "tethering" purposes "because it would have meant that some of the listings would have been obliterated."

"That's a lot of hooney," said Mr. Rayment, then went on to ask why the directory was not printed every six months instead of once a year.

COLD BUSES

Woodworkers' delegate Jack MacKenzie said the phone company would probably be able to put out a better directory if the service were publicly-owned, a remark which brought loud applause from the 58 delegates.

The council members also directed their wrath at the B.C. Electric Co. for not pre-heating their "cold and damp buses" before sending them out on the streets.

The Teamsters' Chester Preston said passengers sometimes had to wipe mist from windows when they boarded early morning buses.

The council will write the company a letter.

In other council activity, the members decided to:

Receive and file a letter from Mayor Percy Scurrah promising that Royal Athletic Park would not be sold "if the people do not vote for it being sold";

Receive and file a letter from the office of provincial Labor Minister Lyle Wicks saying that council's protest over the convening of the recent labor-management conference would be "brought to the minister's attention";

Acknowledge a letter from Defence Minister Pearkes in which he "hoped the allocation of new ship-building will soon be made," in reply to the council's letter asking for work for local shipyards;

Accept "with sincere regret" the resignation after six years service of council stenographer Mrs. May Calver.

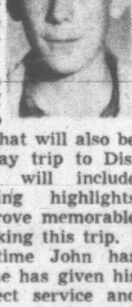
Times Honor Carrier

Each day this month The Times honors one of its "junior merchant" carrier boys who have demonstrated qualities of leadership and application to their endeavors. Today's candidate is:

JOHN BOORMAN



John resides with his family at 2306 Oak Bay Avenue and is a Grade 9 student. A member of the YMCA, his sports interests are basketball and football. John is one of a large number of carriers who will be attending a thrilling B.C. Lions football game at Vancouver's Empire Stadium early next month.

He also stands a good chance of being one of two Times carriers that will also be winning a six-day trip to Disneyland which will include other fascinating highlights which should prove memorable to the boys, making this trip.

During the time John has been a carrier he has given his customers perfect service and handles his route each afternoon with courtesy and care. It is little wonder therefore that John has won for himself the Times' 1958 Ace Sales Crest award and is mentioned as "TODAY'S TIMES HONOR CARRIER. Congratulations, John Boorman.

'DON'T BE MISLED'

'Beaver' Enters Memoirs' Issue

TORONTO (CP) — Lord Beaverbrook said Wednesday he hopes no one will be misled by the Montgomery memoirs into thinking the British wartime commander's plan of campaign would have resulted in a British-American occupation of Berlin.

Lord Beaverbrook, in Toronto on private business, said in an interview that plans for the occupation of Berlin had been determined at the diplomatic level long before the war ended.

Field Marshal Montgomery said in his memoirs that his plan for the Western Allies after the breakout in northern France in 1944 was for a single thrust into the Ruhr Valley.

He proposed a 40-division drive into Germany and on to Berlin after the Normandy fighting had left the Germans disorganized. Instead, the Western Allies advanced on a broad front.

Lord Beaverbrook, Canadian-born publisher who served as minister of aircraft production in Prime Minister Churchill's cabinet during the Second World War, said:

"Long before the war was over the European advisory commission — with John G. Winant of the United States as chairman, William Strang for the British, Dedor Gusev for the Russians — had already defined what the zones of occupation for the Allied armies were to be when the war was over."

Under the commission agreement the Russians were to occupy Berlin and the British and Americans would be required to move to a given line between the occupation zones, whether that meant at war's end they moved backward or forward.

Gen. Guenther Blumentritt, chief of staff of the German western armies under Field Marshal Erich von Rundstedt, commented on Lord Montgomery's plan that he was "absolutely convinced that the war would have been over by Christmas, 1944, that there would have been a saving of Allied lives and that the Western Allies would have been in Berlin before the Russians, had ontgomery's plan been carried out."

Lord Beaverbrook said, "The fact is our entry into Berlin would have merely meant withdrawal later and handing over the capital to the Russians as had been agreed by the European advisory commission earlier than Christmas, 1944."

Lord Montgomery's memoirs are being serialized by Weekend Magazine.

Women Escape Injury As Car Rolls 150 Feet

NANAIMO—Two Kelsey Bay women are suffering shock but otherwise are in satisfactory condition after rolling down a 150-foot embankment in their car early Wednesday morning.

The accident occurred near Caig's Crossing, 20 miles north of here.

Mrs. Marie Fredrickson crawled to the highway, where an unidentified motorist, heeding her warning, ran to the wrecked car and removed Mrs. Mathilda Dillon, who was unconscious. He then telephoned for help.

Homes for Aged Fund Drive Draws 300 Volunteers

PORT ALBERNI (CP)—Three hundred persons have volunteered to canvass in a $50,000 campaign to reduce the debt of this district's first homes for senior citizens.

Another 200 canvassers are required. Service clubs have already pledged $500, although the campaign does not start until Oct. 27.

Ernie Ward, chairman of the Alberni Valley Memorial Society's campaign committee, said an average of $10 from each household is needed to meet the objective.

Island Foods For Jaycee Congress

NANAIMO (CP) — Five Junior Chambers of Commerce from Vancouver Island have decided to send Vancouver Island products to the World Congress of Junior Chambers of Commerce at Minneapolis, Minn., in mid-November.

The products: 100 pounds of salmon, a case of oysters, and 750 pieces of Nanaimo's 10,000-pound centennial birthday cake.

Roads to Open N.W.T. By '60, Says Engineer

There will be suitable roads for the economic development of the Northwest Territories around Great Slave and Great Bear Lakes by 1960 or 1961, J. E. Savage of Edmonton said here Wednesday.

Mr. Savage is supervising engineer for the federal highways department in the Northwest Territories and is responsible for road plans in the federal government's $100,000,000 planned development of the northland.

At the 11th annual group conference of the Western Association of Canadian Highway Officials at the Empress Hotel, he said mining interests are ready to work mineral deposits in the northland as soon as the roads make it feasible.

"This year $4,000,000 is being spent on roads in the north and that is expected to be increased next year as the project gains momentum."

Mr. Savage said 140 miles of 24-foot gravel road have already been constructed and the right-of-way is being cleared for 332 miles.

"No limit has been set on the amount of road to be built."

The conference continues until Saturday.

3 A-Blasts In 24 Hours

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP)—Another nuclear shot in the current test series was fired today from a balloon suspended 500 feet over Yucca Flat.

This was the first time three atomic devices have been detonated here within 24 hours.

The blast was not seen nor felt in nearby Las Vegas.

The biggest tunnel shot ever fired here—but a baby as nuclear blasts go—jarred the ground two miles away Wednesday night.

TEMPTATION WINS SYMPATHY

DUNCAN — Turning in of false fire alarms from boxes is understandable, Ald. R. K. Cairns, fire warden, told city council.

"That's just what I would like to do," he admitted. "I've always had an impulse to try one of those little hammers and see what would happen."

Missile For Seattle Area

SEATTLE (AP)—The army announced Wednesday it will install Hawk supersonic missiles in the Seattle-Tacoma-Olympia area to supplement existing Nike sites.

The initial program is for six Hawk batteries ringing Puget Sound. Each would cost $1,500,000, plus land acquisition, and would be manned by 75 officers and men.

The Hawk, a bullet-shaped ground-to-air missile, is 16 feet long. It was developed by the Raytheon Manufacturing Co.

The announcement was made by Col. John R. Day, commanding officer of Ft. Lawton and Col. John K. McCormick, army air defence commander here.

McCormick said building of Hawk bases is planned for 1960, with about one year required for construction.

Each Hawk will have up to 12 launchers, each capable of firing three missiles. Bases will be located on high ground in most cases, with each site covering about 60 acres.

The Hawk was described as an effective low-altitude weapon that can home on aerial targets at tree-top level. McCormick said it will "complement and supplement the high-altitude Nike."

McCormick said the Hawk has "multiple warhead capabilities." He declined to say specifically if these include nuclear warheads, but indicated they do.

Comox MLA Boosts Early North Road

COURTENAY (CP) — Dan Campbell, Social Credit member of the legislature for Comox, is to set up a committee this weekend to promote early construction of a north-Island road. The province has given a target date of 1960, but Mr. Campbell is seeking federal participation for an earlier start to the project.

Rescuers Fight Antarctic Cold

CHRISTCHURCH, N.Z. (UPI)—Rescue workers fought 40 below zero cold today to reach the side of a giant U.S. air force Globe-Master transport plane that crashed in the Antarctic wastes.

Six of the 13 men on board were killed, and "several" of the seven survivors were reported critically injured.

The plane crashed early today as it was attempting a supply air drop to a U.S.-New Zealand base.

In the crash, a load of lumber on board apparently shifted on impact and smashed into the men on the cargo deck.

Emergency SOS signals were sent out automatically by a battery-powered radio on the wrecked plane, and air and overland rescue efforts started at once.

De Gaulle Wins Showdown With Algerians

ALGIERS (CP)—Threatened strikes and demonstrations by right wingers opposing Premier Charles de Gaulle's sweeping Algerian reforms collapsed like a punctured balloon today.

The vast Forum Square where the right-wing committee of public safety called a protest demonstration was empty at the appointed hour.

It was ringed with troops and fire trucks, just in case.

A general strike and the demonstration were hastily called off after the committee's leaders held a showdown conference with de Gaulle's representative, Gen. Raoul Salan, the military and civilian commander here.

Details of Salan's talk to the committee leaders were not disclosed, but he carried firm instructions from de Gaulle, whom he had seen barely 24 hours before in Paris.

The committee—fighting to stave off its own dissolution—called the strike and the demonstrations in cities throughout Algeria to protest de Gaulle's order removing the army from politics.

ISSUES COMMUNIQUE

The committee issued a special communique to announce it was calling off its protest bid.

The communique said that the new move was made because the committee did not want to interfere with the army's actions. The army had warned the committee against both the strike and the demonstration.

The committee said it maintained full confidence in the army and that Salan this morning had explained the new orders from de Gaulle.

The communique also added, somewhat disconsolately, that the committee wished to preserve its unity, already badly shattered.

BOMB BURSTS NEAR JEHOVAH HOME MEETING

BOSTON (AP)—A homemade bomb exploded near a meeting place of the Jehovah's Witnesses religious sect Wednesday night.

The meeting of the group at the home of Mrs. Agnes Harootunian had adjourned about an hour before the explosion.

No one was injured but the blast blew out about 30 windows in nearby tenements.

Police refused to comment on the possibility the explosion was in any way connected with the recent bombings of synagogues in Peoria, Ill., and Atlanta, Ga.

U.K. Official Shot To Death In Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters)—A British government official was killed and five other persons injured today as the bloody round of bombings and ambushes continued on Cyprus.

British authorities said a man, identified only as an official of the colonial government, was shot to death in the village of Kokkinotrimithia, 10 miles west of Nicosia.

A civilian engineer was wounded in the back when a gunman opened fire as he started to drive his car from his home in a Nicosia suburb. He was identified as John McGillivary, 39, employed by the Cyprus' telecommunications authority.

Four Greek Cypriots—one of them a woman—were injured in two of four bombing attacks against British patrols.

The renewed violence prompted authorities to clamp a house curfew on Nicosia but loudspeaker trucks later toured the streets announcing the curfew applied only to Greek Cypriots.

The slain government official is the 124th Briton to be killed on the island since the Greek underground organization EOKA started operations more than three years ago.

PUBLIC DEMAND AVERTS CNR TRAIN CUTS

MONTREAL (CP)—The Canadian National Railways today said it has reversed its decision to eliminate eight of its 16 transcontinental trains on the Montreal-Vancouver run during winter.

In a surprise move, the railway said "public reaction" to the proposed curtailment of service led to the change in plans.

"The attitude of the public indicates there continues to be a substantial demand for two CNR trans-continental services even during the off season," said CNR President Donald Gordon.

$4 Million Pledged By Canada

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—Canada today pledged a total of $4,000,000 to helping under-developed countries through the United Nations.

Canadian representative Dr. R. P. Vivian told a conference of the expanded program of technical assistance that the Canadian government is seeking parliamentary approval for two contributions of $2,000,000 each.

One would go for UN technical assistance programs which have provided a "unique and important contribution" by making available experts and equipment to direct economic growth of under-developed countries.

The other would be for a special fund approved by the UN Tuesday to provide more immediate aid.

NEGRO WILL STAY FREE

Road Gang Escapee Caught Jaywalking

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—A Negro whose arrest for jaywalking in Detroit brought to light the fact that he had escaped from an Alabama road gang 27 years ago can keep his freedom.

Frank Lee, deputy state prison commissioner, said Alabama won't ask Michigan to send Victor Moore back to finish his term.

Moore's prison record was disclosed when he was fingerprinted in Detroit for failure to pay a jaywalking ticket. Police said the prints were identical with those of Lee Murray, who escaped from a prison work gang near Montgomery in 1931 while serving a four-year term for burglary.

Detroit police said Moore admitted his identity when confronted with the fingerprint evidence. He married after going to Detroit eight years ago and is the father of five children.

Historic HBC Parley At Winnipeg

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Hudson's Bay Company today held the first meeting of its board of directors outside London, England, in 288 years.

The meeting was held in Hudson's Bay House in Winnipeg and presided over by company governor, W. J. Keswick, of London. Other United Kingdom directors attending were Lord Weeks and J. E. H. Collins, both of London.

During the 18th and 19th centuries, meetings of the northern council of the company were held at York Factory, Norway House and Lower Fort Garry in Manitoba and were presided over by the then-governors of Rupert's Land.

"It is singularly fitting," Mr. Keswick said, "that we should hold our first board meeting outside the City of London in Manitoba, which has been the headquarters of the company in North America for nearly three centuries."

ON SALT SPRING

All-Out Search For Lost Pilot

Mainland mountaineers hunting for John L. Dudra, 32, mountain climber and airman lost Sunday night after having radio contact with Vancouver's International Airport, today started searching all of Salt Spring Island for the missing plane.

Clue that Dudra might have crashed on the island was given by Walter A. Brigden, whose farm is at Fulford Harbor, near 2,400-foot Mount Bruce at the southern end of Salt Spring Island.

"Between 6.10 and 6.20 p.m. Sunday I heard a crash on Mount Bruce that sounded like a tree falling," he said. "I thought nothing of it until Monday, when I heard this aircraft was missing, so I reported it to the RCMP here."

"Mount Bruce is heavily timbered," he said, "and although air searches have been made, there are gullies that would hide a light plane and make it impossible to see except from the ground."

Climbers taking part in the hunt made their headquarters at Mr. Brigden's farm, and 12 were with him Wednesday night. It was they who started the extended search today, he said.

An oil slick discovered off the mouth of the Fraser River was being examined today as a possible sign of the plane's disappearance.

Fog has continued to hamper air searches of the Gulf Island district.

NEW GUNS FROM U.S. FOR QUEMOY

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Gun emplacements for new U.S.-made artillery are being set up on rocky Quemoy, underscoring a shift in emphasis from manpower to firepower on the offshore islands.

Under the continuing Chinese Communist cease-fire, new U.S. 155-mm. and 8-inch artillery were being unloaded and swung into position. Ammunition is being stockpiled.

The Nationalists previously have emphasized manpower on the offshore islands, stationing perhaps 100,000 troops, or one-third of their effective combat forces, in the Quemoy and Matsu groups.

Other Isles Of Chiang Eyed By Reds

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Four Communist planes flew over the tiny Wuchiu Islands today, raising speculation on Formosa that the Reds might try to seize those Nationalist outposts midway between Quemoy and Matsu.

The Wuchius lie in the Formosa Strait 15 miles from the mainland and 80 miles from Formosa. One of the two islands, Wuchiu, is 128 acres, and the other, Little Wuchiu, is 57.6 acres.

The Chinese Nationalists use them as lookout posts. At one time they were a base for commando raids to capture prisoners on the mainland who might provide intelligence and also were a staging post for Nationalist agents slipping in and out of China.

UNIVAC PLAYS CUPID IN HOLLYWOOD MARRIAGE

It Was Love at First Bleep

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The first mating by automation takes place Saturday when Shirley Saunders marries Bob Kardell at the First Presbyterian Church of Hollywood.

The cupid in this match was an electronic brain called Univac. For months, the People Are Funny television show has been trying to make a romantic match by means of the machine.

It works this way: A contestant fills out a form detailing what he or she seeks in the ideal mate, plus his or her own qualifications. All this is fed into Univac, which comes up with the name of another contestant who seems a likely mate.

Unfortunately for the show, most of the chosen couples ended up in a state of indifference. Some openly detested each other.

But not Shirley and Bob. With them, it was love at first bleep.

"We were on the show five weeks together," Bob reported in a pre-marital interview. "We were formally engaged before that time was up."

Thet many houses sounds like a division, not a subdivision.

Gordon Head Likely Site

A $9,000,000 government-financed housir development may rise in Saanich if 12,000 rat payers approve a massive sewer project in th December elections.

If both schemes materialize, Victoria College ma have to look beyond Gordon Head as a future building site.

REEVE CHATTERTON
... reveals plan

The housing development largest of its kind ever undertaken in Greater Victoria area, hinges largely on the approval of a sewer project by 12,000 ratepayers in the Cadboro Bay and Ruby-Road-Shelbourne Avenue area.

Whether Victoria College will lose its Gordon Head building site depends on talks between Saanich reeve George Chatterton and Victoria College officials.

Proponent of the $9 million housing development plan, Reeve Chatterton wants to find out when Victoria College plans to build on its 50-acre Gordon Head holding.

"We released the land to Victoria College after we obtained it from Crown Assets Corporation," the reeve said.

"If they plan to leave it idle for 10 or 15 years, we may want it back. It fits in perfectly with the housing development."

The reeve plans to outline the government-financed housing scheme to Saanich council.

Briefly, here's how it works:

Under section 36 of the National Housing Act, the municipality makes land available (the core would be in the area where sewers are projected but would not have to be a single unit) to Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, a federal housing agency.

CMHC buys the land, pays for sewers, construction of roads, water and lights.

When the subdivision is serviced, CMHC offers the land to individual buyers first—probably for 90 days—and then sells the remaining lots to contractors for speculative building.

Federal and provincial government would share costs, 75 and 25 per cent, respectively.

Municipality would pay only legal and administrative costs.

The reeve's plan is the latest of several major and minor construction projects slated for development in Greater Victoria's second largest and fastest-growing municipality.

Largest Boom In Saanich History

Total amount of construction in the next three years is expected to exceed $20,000,000—the largest building boom in Saanich's history.

Nearly 2,000 persons a year are moving into Saanich where 600 homes have gone up in the first nine months this year.

The need for housing "will continue to be felt," said the reeve, "because Victoria is running out of building lots."

Reeve Chatterton said it is hoped to put the $2,139,998 sewer project to the 12,000 ratepayers in the Cadboro Bay-Ruby and Shelbourne Street district on the Dec. 11 ballot.

If ratepayers turn down the sewer project, the government housing scheme is out of the question.

The reeve sees the government-financed housing project as an answer to the municipality's ever-growing septic-tank situation.

"Where you have septic tanks on small lots with a clay base the ground quickly becomes saturated with septic affluent," he said.

"A development such as the one we plan to study may well be the answer to this problem."

Exact area where sewers are proposed is the lower part of Gordon Head north to Ruby Road and on a line between Finnerty and Gordon Head Roads, excluding Queenswood where the area is rocky, prohibiting small lots.

The area is roughly between 100 and 200 acres, large enough for 400 homes or possibly more.

Before asking council to approve the project, Reeve Chatterton said he has made arrangements with councillors to discuss the matter with CMHC officials. The meeting will be held in the near future.

The subdivision, he said, would be beneficial to both the municipality and residents of Saanich.

It would enable prospective owners to buy fully serviced lots at a cheaper rate than the open market.

The government would also share costs for laying lateral sewer pipes, trunks, pressure lines and the treatment plant.

Residents in the subdivision would pay lower taxes.

"One other main benefit would be a well-planned subdivision with playground for children," he said. "This is equally as important."

The scheme is expected to get the support of both CMHC and provincial government officials.

J. D. Baird, supervisor of Municipal Affairs, described the government housing development scheme as "one of the best."

"Other municipalities, such as

HALIFAX (CP)—The luckless British racing yacht Sceptre, beaten challenger for the America's Cup, arrived here today with a hole in her bottom.

The big 25-ton sloop broke loost from her cradle on the deck of a freighter bound for Britain. She slammed against a ventilating pipe that pierced her hull.

Sceptre was being taken home on the British freighter Manipur from New York. Soon after sailing Sunday the ship ran into a gale.

The 8,500-ton Manipur docked at the Halifax naval dockyard, where the yacht was hoisted ashore to permit repairs to the broken cradle. It is not known where the yacht will be repaired.

TRDEGAR, England — Donald Brooker complained today that he just can't afford to go to work.

Brooker, 58-year-old father of 13 children, said he receives more than £16 from the government in free meals, milk and clothing for his children and in national assistance and family allowance payments.

He said he would have to earn at least £12 a week to break even if he took a job. The last job he had paid him £7 10s a week and resulted in his national assistance payments and the free food and clothes for his children being cut off.

"I was worse off," Brooker said.

Brooker said he is buying his own home on the welfare payments.

MARYSVILLE, Calif. — Grave digger Kenneth G. Waddell, 49, was found dead Wednesday in a grave he had just dug in Sierra View Memorial Park—victim of an apparent heart attack.

VANCOUVER — Danica d'Hondt, 19-year-old Vancouver beauty who represented Canada in the Miss America contest at Atlantic City, said Wednesday she was told by judges she might have won had she been an American.

The Vancouver blonde said in an interview: "They told me that the U.S. public just wouldn't stand for a Canadian being chosen as Miss America unless she was 50 to 100 per cent more talented and beautiful than anyone else."

"But I don't go along with those who say there's no use entering a Miss Canada. Some day a Canadian will win—and it's a wonderful experience anyway."

DENVER—An atomic scientist carried a bulging briefcase to the energy resources conference here Wednesday.

A reporter asked Tuck whether some new nuclear development was concealed in the briefcase.

Replied Tuck: "No, it's part of my wife's vacuum cleaner. There is no repairman in Los Alamos and she insisted that I have it fixed in Denver."

PRESCOTT, Ariz.—For 12 years, Postmaster James M. Smith trudged a foot-wearying route in the Miller Valley with a smile and a kind word for everyone.

Smith is the father of two children and expects a third one soon.

The register, listing 40,000 Canadians who are considered socially acceptable by the book's social arbiters, is being mailed today to members of the Social Register Association of Canada.

PLEAD NOT GUILTY

Pulp, Paper Firms Charged as Combine

MONTREAL (CP) — Seventeen pulp and paper companies have been arraigned in court here on charges of conspiring to lessen competition in the purchase of pulpwood.

All submitted pleas of innocence when the case came up before sessions judge Redmond Roche Wednesday. Preliminary hearing of the charges was set tentatively for Oct. 29.

Eighteen firms were originally named in court summonses Sept. 23. But one firm, the Diamond Match Company, claimed it is a United States company and did not appear.

The charges allege that the companies conspired unlawfully to combine together to prevent or lessen unduly competition in production, purchase, barter, sale and transportation of pulpwood in Ontario, Quebec and New Brunswick.

Companies involved are; Abitibi Power and Paper Company Limited; Anglo-Canadian Pulp and Paper Mills Limited; Armstrong Forest Company; Canadian International Paper Company Limited; the E. B. Lash is Answer Judge Declares

(From CP Dispatches)

VANCOUVER—Judge S. J. Remnant of Vancouver said Wednesday that vandalism can be discouraged by use of the lash.

He made the statement on sentencing Harold Richard Hill, 21, of Vancouver, to two years in prison for rolling a $20,000 truck over a 300-foot embankment into Howe Sound June 6.

"I think it is time the courts showed their disapproval of this type of vandalism in the hope it may come to the attention of other youths similarly inclined.

". . . I am firmly of the opinion that if not cured it could at least be discouraged if it were possible for me to sentence you to a short term of imprisonment and whipping, but the law does not permit such a penalty," the judge said.

The board recommended no wage increases.

Chamber Music Myth Exposed

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

Anyone who has inclined to regard chamber music as more of an intellectual stimulant than an emotional experience would have learned a good deal from Victoria Musical Art Society's opening concert Wednesday night.

Introducing the newly formed Cambrian Trio, consisting of Clifford Evens, violin, Mary Evens, 'cello, and Lloyd Powell, piano, the concert proved that chamber music, far from being esoteric and remote, is warm, human and deeply moving.

It seems a great pity that Holyrood House auditorium was not filled to capacity, for the opportunity to hear such delightful music so well played is rare.

These were three highly proficient artists, who, having selected an unusual and challenging program, performed it with devotion and brilliance.

As a trio the Cambrian has excellent prospects of building a solid reputation on the Pacific coast. Having performed together in various duo combinations, they have already established a unity that is the essence of the true chamber group.

There was an occasional lack of refinement of tone that roughened the overall quality; in fact, tonal imbalance in this respect was possibly the only flaw of major importance to be found.

The trio was at its best in the expressive and moody Frank Bridge Phantasie and Dvorak's splendid Dumky Trio. Sweep and color of this latter work, reflecting the heights and depths of Slavic mood were breathtakingly beautiful.

Deeply poetic in idea and imaginative in treatment, the Bridge composition was a beautifully integrated piece of work.

A polished performance of the Beethoven C Minor No. 3 was the program's opening number.

A WOMAN'S OUTLOOK

By RUTH ENKE

Free From Fear

I SUPPOSE THAT, in a couple of months from now, the sayings of 1958 will be rounded up and reprinted in the last papers of the year.

I hope that the journalists whose task this is will remember Mr. Justice Cyril Salmon and what he said to the nine young men he sentenced at London's Old Bailey for their part in the Notting Hill Race Riots.

I hope, too, that parents and teachers who have not already brought this speech to the attention of the young will find the time and chance to do so.

Ruth

What Justice Salmon said was this:

"You are a minute and insignificant section of the population who have brought shame upon the district in which you live, and have filled the whole nation with horror, indignation and disgust.

"Everyone, irrespective of the color of their skins, is entitled to walk through our streets in peace with their heads erect, and free from fear. This is a right which these courts will always unfailingly uphold.

"As far as the law is concerned, you are entitled to think what you like, however foul your thoughts; to feel what you like, however brutal and debased your emotions; to say what you like provided you do not infringe the rights of others, or imperil the Queen's peace.

"But once you translate your dark thoughts and brutal feelings into savage acts such as these, the law will be swift to punish you, the guilty, and to protect your victims."

He thereupon sentenced the nine youths to four years' imprisonment.

* * *

To my mind, the key sentence is: "Everyone, irrespective of the color of their skins, is entitled to walk through our streets in peace with their heads erect, and free from fear."

Justice Salmon's grammar is shocking. His sentiments are magnificent.

As an ordinary citizen, I am truly grateful to the journalists who seized upon his words as noble and important, and sent them out to a watching, worried world.

My fervent hope is that in the future when the non-white races are in control they, too, will remember Justice Salmon's words.

May their courts always unfailingly uphold the right for US to walk through the streets with our heads erect, and free from fear.

Psychoanalytic Theories

and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

The other day a well-educated woman was angry with me because she heard me say that I just couldn't believe in many of the weird theories of psychoanalysts. I pointed out that they were only theories, many of which could never be proved either right or wrong. I said that this sort of thing is outside the field of science. In science one uses theories, but they are admittedly tentative, and usually they are only attempts to correlate and explain a large group of facts.

Alvarez

If I could have taken the angry lady into my library and pulled out a number of articles written by eminent phychiatrists, I could have shown her that they were not satisfied with some of the theories. For instance, I might show her a fine book called "The Caricature of Love: A discussion of the social, psychiatric, and literary problems of abnormal and mixed-up sexuality in men and women,". (Ronald Press Co., N.Y.). It was written by my friend, Dr. Hervey Cleckley, Clinical Professor of Psychiatry and Neurology at the Medical College of Georgia. It will be remembered that he and his associate, Dr. Thigpen, recently wrote the remarkable book called "The Three Faces of Eve," (McGaw-Hill, N.Y.). Dr. Cleckley wrote, also, "The Mask of Sanity" (Mosby, St. Louis, Mo.), in which he described perfectly the psychopathic delinquent and his often weird behavior.

In his new book on the problems of homosexuality, Cleckley said "Some of the popular theoretical concepts widely regarded as valid psychiatric discoveries are so unrealistic that those who support them find it necessary to alter the meaning of commonplace words in order to define and discuss them with straight faces. Such concepts are, nevertheless, so fashionable today, so identified in many minds with the idea of progress and scientific achievement, that it is scarcely an exaggeration to say that he who dares to question them is often made to feel guilty of impiety." I hope my readers will note that this statement was made by a distinguished professor of psychiatry—not by me.

Dr. Cleckley points out that Fliess, the man who for 10 years was Freud's confidant in his work and the man who had the strongest influence on his thoughts during his formative years was a curious person who certainly was no scientist. "He not only worked with the methods of numerology, but also enthusiastically extended the researches on planetary influences begun centuries before by medieval astrologists."

It was Fliess who gave Freud the idea that all of us to some extent are bisexual. On this pseudo-scientist, Freud bestowed the title of "The Kepler of biology." Kepler, of course, was one of the great men in early scientific astronomy. Interestingly, in the end, most of Fliess' postulates and imaginary discoveries had to be rejected by Freud. The one that he hung onto was the one on bisexuality.

To me, one of the most important sentences I have read in a long day is a statement on page 115 of Cleckley's book in which he quotes from the report of a 1951 conference on psychiatric education. The committee then wrote, "Some of the bolder dynamic hypothese, such as the libido theory of Freud, have not been of a character that made feasible prompt scientific validation or rejection (could not be proved or disproved). Many teachers of psychiatry have been troubled by the problem of the medical student who has been prematurely indoctrinated in some abstract system of psychodynamic hypotheses, and who needs special help in working out a more realistic integration of facts and concepts."

In simple words, one of the saddest things about young workers in psychiatry today is that, while they were in college, their minds were so filled up with unproved and unprovable theories that later, few were able to learn anything new from their experience. They could not learn because they were so sure they already knew all they needed to know.

* * *

In order to see if today some executives are really working too hard, a while ago Mr. Arthur S. Talbott questioned 111 top executives in California, all of whom were getting $35,000 a year and upward. He found 37 men who, perhaps because they owned their company or had a small business, worked only some 30 hours a week. They took life easy. But there was a group of 10, hard-working, 40-hour-a-week men, and also a group of 64 men who worked hard from 69 to 112 hours a week. They were nearly all connected with large national corporations. They came to the office at 8 and left about 6.30 with a brief-case full of work. Often they went to dinner with men with whom they had to talk business.

Most of these executives were pleasant and affable and highly efficient. They got things done. But three out of four had an unhappy wife who felt badly neglected. In several cases the wife got so fed-up with neglect that she got a divorce. But the man so loved his strenuous life that when there came a choice between wife and work, he clung to his work.

Prepare for Winter Now

Too often we forget La Fontaine's fable of the cricket and the ant. Like the cricket, we are apt to spend our time enjoying these beautifully mild fall days and forget to prepare for winter.

Jack

The evening will come, most likely within the next few weeks, when we shall look outside and find the clouds gone, the sky bejewelled with stars, and the frost sparkling on the ground.

It is then our thoughts will turn to putting a little heat on in the greenhouse and the covers on the cold frames.

At this point it is not uncommon to discover that some part of the heating system requires attention before it can be used.

Stove pipes, a very essential part of the heating system in most small greenhouses, have a habit of rusting away during summer and giving a disconcerting display of sparks and smoke when heat is needed in a hurry.

Even electrical heating systems can act up. A half-dozen earwigs, some sow bugs, and a quarter-mile of spider web inside a switch or thermostat can keep the amateur greenhouse man guessing for half the night.

Rarely do we find the cold frame covers intact after several months in storage. There is usually a piece of glass missing directly over the plants requiring the most protection.

The cricket enjoyed every hour of warmth and sunshine while the ant industriously attended to its needs for the winter. When the first frost comes, how many of us will be crickets and how many ants?

All metals except mercury are solid at ordinary temperatures.

The Day YOU Were Born

Young Mrs. Audrey Naylor, of 1213 Palmer Road, is today's birthday guest.

The Naylors (he works in the parts department of a motor supply firm) have a son who will be two in December, and another brand new baby due at the same time. They met while ice skating here, but are too busy now for much skating with their new house and new hobby of 8 mm. movie-making.

Audrey also knits for both her family and her friends, and there will be many a new sweater or pair of socks under Christmas trees from her flying fingers this year.

On the day she was born:

John N. Garner, vice-president of the United States, paid a visit to Victoria, accompanied by 46 members of the Senate and Congress. They sailed the same evening on the Ss. President Grant for the Orient, where they took part in the inaugural ceremonies of the first president of the Philippine Commonwealth. Mr. Garner stated that his trip was of "deep international significance".

The retiring Prime Minister of Canada, R. B. Bennett, was clearing out his desk while Premier-elect, Mackenzie King, meditated upon the formation of his cabinet.

Twenty Victorians met in the Union Building and organized themselves into the "British Columbia Provincial Social Credit League".

Rev. F. W. McKinnon was chosen president, D. L. McMartin vice-president, and C. Keeping secretary. They announced that though the two federal Social Credit candidates had polled only 1,815 votes between them, they had resolved to contest every provincial seat in the next British Columbia election. "We had only 20 at our meeting," said Mr. McKinnon, "but . . . hundreds are behind us."

The date? Wednesday, October 16, 1935.

BLIND DOUK YOUTH

'He Doesn't Want To Talk'

TRAIL (CP) — A Sons of Freedom Doukhobor youth who was seriously injured in a bomb blast several weeks ago has returned to his home at Winlaw.

Harry Bojey, 18, lost one eye and has partial vision in the other eye.

The youth was charged by police with manufacturing a bomb and is on $5,000 bail. He was released from hospital in Vancouver last Wednesday. He is scheduled to appear in court in Kelowna Thursday.

Bojey's father, William, said in an interview his son is "in no condition to see anyone. Even his mother and I stay with him only for limited periods of time."

Harry was 17 when the explosion occurred. He observed his 18th birthday Sept. 21 as surgeons fought to save his vision. Now, says his father, "we are trying to save his mind."

"Harry doesn't talk much any more. He doesn't seem to want to talk. He just lies in bed and we try to get him into conversation for a limited period of time. He's very depressed."

AUTOMATIC LANDING SYSTEM

Pilot Just Sits Back

LONDON (AP)—British aviation scientists today announced a new automatic landing system that can bring a plane down safely on the runway through thick fog while the pilot sits back with folded arms.

Landing systems now in use guide aircraft down a radio beam to about 150 feet but the pilot has to control the touchdown after sighting the ground.

The new system, developed by scientists of the government supply ministry, utilizes magnetic fields induced by two cables along each side of the runway. These hold the aircraft to the runway centre line.

An instrument known as a radio altimeter provides accurate measurements of height down to zero and automatically adjusts the rate of descent.

An automatic speed control keeps speed constant during approach and shifts throttles to a safe idling speed as the plane levels out to land.

At a demonstration Wednesday the system brought a Vickers Varsity aircraft down to land from about six miles away.

B.C. Leading Labor Party Drive

British Columbia is leading the rest of Canada in holding area conferences between the CCF and labor on creation of a new political force, B.C. Opposition leader Robert Strachan said Wednesday.

The CCF leader left the city today on a province-wide tour promoting CLC-CCF political action. He is to attend the B.C. Federation of Labor convention at Vancouver next week.

Mr. Strachan said Canada is the last of the Commonwealth countries to create a political force drawing together the "intellectuals, white collar workers, farm groups and trade unionists."

Move toward formation of the new party began at the CCL-TLC merger convention at Hamilton in 1956. At Winnipeg this year, the new unified labor body, the Canadian Labor Congress, proposed a merger with the CCF for political purposes.

CLOSE TO CCF

Mr. Strachan said the principles proposed for policy and constitution are closely aligned with CCF policies.

An executive committee of nine members from the CCF and nine from the CLC is preparing reports and recommendations which will go before both the 1960 conventions of the CLC and the CCF.

"The report will lay down terms under which a founding convention will be called, probably in 1961," said Mr. Strachan.

He thought the next provincial election would see the new party taking the place of the CCF in B.C. politics.

The national committee is split into subcommittees, one examining workings of previous labor governments and one preparing a booklet of 50 or 60 questions.

DRAFT CONSTITUTION

They will ask: How will the new party be financed? Who will be members? What will the name be? These and other questions will be circulated among all trade unions, CCF union groups and other interested groups. They are expected to discuss the questions. Answers will be sent back to the national committee.

When a draft constitution and statement of policy is arrived at in the CCF, the documents will go back to the local groups, at least three months before the 1960 convention, so submissions can be prepared at the "grass roots" level.

On party financing, Mr. Strachan said, "The CLC has 1,000,000 members—even at two cents a month, think what it would do," in building a campaign fund.

The Druses fighting in Lebanon's civil war are an 11th century religious sect.

METROPOLITAN SETUP REPORTED FOR MONTREAL

MONTREAL (CP) — The Gazette says today Premier Duplessis has announced that legislation for setting up a system of metropolitan government for the Montreal area is to be introduced at the next session of the Quebec legislature.

In a Quebec City dispatch the Montreal daily says the premier called the legislation "long overdue" and declared every effort would be made to expedite the law when it is introduced.

A committee of city council is studying the question in Montreal.

Party Theft Charge Fails

A 12-man jury was ordered to bring in a verdict of not guilty in Assize Court Tuesday after Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane had ruled that certain statements by an accused man were inadmissible as evidence.

John Erickson, 429 Belleville, was acquitted of being in possession of stolen goods.

The charge against Erickson followed a house party at 3470 Mayfair last April at which two rings, three watches, a portable radio and a set of cuff links were stolen.

Crown prosecutor Lloyd McKenzie told the court that without the evidence the Crown had no case.

Alan Bigelow appeared for the defence.

Russia Sets Off New Atom Blast

WASHINGTON (AP) — Another nuclear weapons blast has been set off by Russia in the Arctic.

This is the eighth such blast reported by the Atomic Energy Commission since Sept. 30. The commission said the blast was of high yield, similar to the shot announced on Oct. 12. It did not give a date.

HIKE MARGIN TO 90%

U.S. Clamps Down On Market Credit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal reserve board today put into effect the stiffest stock market credit restraints in nearly 12 years. The board's purpose: To discourage speculation with borrowed money.

The board announced Wednesday plans to increase to 90 per cent the margin, or minimum down payment, required on purchases of stocks. The minimum margin had been 70 per cent since Aug. 5, when it was raised from 50 per cent—the present Canadian margin.

A leading Victoria investment dealer today said the significance of the New York exchange move is the fact "that the government is doing something to temper excessive speculation."

Herbert J. Kennedy, manager, James Richardson & Sons, said margin buying doesn't amount to big money in Canada where there is no margin on stocks under $1. The volume of margin trading in Canada is considerably below that of the U.S. where "they have a wide number of high-priced stocks."

Mr. Kennedy said the market has picked up due to the general advance in business created in part by government easing of credit restrictions.

"When tight money policies exist, together with a mild business recession, the pendulum swings the other way and this is reflected in a drop on the market."

The latest action means investors henceforth must put up at least $90 in cash for every $100 in stocks they buy. It hasn't any retroactive effect on stocks bought when margins were lower.

Only once before have margins been this high—when they were 100 per cent in the first year after the war.

Wall Street had been expecting an increase, and some stock analysts said they believe the action had been discounted in advance. The market reached an all-time high Monday but prices fell in heavy trading Tuesday and Wednesday.

When the reserve board raises margins the aim is to prevent excessive use of credit in the stock market. One reason is that if too much borrowed money moves into the market, that much less money is available for use by borrowers in other sectors of the economy.

G. Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange, said credit on that exchange totals $3,100,000,000. He said this is only 1.3 per cent of the total market value of the stocks on the big board.

NOT KEPT PACE

Funston said stock market credit has not kept pace with increases in stock prices or with non-government credit in the rest of the economy.

A reserve board spokesman said loans by brokers and banks for purchasing stocks totalled $4,300,000,000 at the end of September. He said this was the largest amount since this type of statistic was first collected during the 1930s.

Although the reserve board is concerned primarily about credit rather than stock prices, there is no doubt it glanced at the stock ticker before reaching its latest decision.

Historically, a strong and rising market attracts speculators eager to get rich quick with borrowed money. It encourages expansion of credit in the market.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Last-Hour Recovery Noted at Toronto

The Toronto market improved its position in the last hour today, but remained down in light mid-afternoon trading.

Macfie remained the most active issue, trading 275,000 shares. It was off 2 cents at 28. Wiltsey was down 1 cent at 26 on a 130,000-share turnover.

Aluminum cuts it loss to ¼ at 33½, while Ford had eliminated a ½-point loss.

At New York stocks closed on a burst of strength with the tickers falling behind the market. Low-priced autos stole the show in gain and volume of turnover.

Early selling stemmed in part from rise in margin requirements from 70 to 90 per cent announced Wednesday.

AT TORONTO base metals shortened their losses as International Nickel gained ½ at 87¾, and Noranda converted a ⅜ loss to a ¼ gain at 52½. Hudson Bay shaved ⅛ of its one-point loss at 57⅞.

Hollinger gained ½ at 27 to help balance fractional losses to Dome and Kerr-Addison but Bralorne led juniors off, down 15 cents at $5.85.

Losses of ⅜ went to Bailey Selburn, Calgary and Edmonton and Home Oil B among western oils.

AT NEW YORK International Nickel reversed itself to be ahead a point in the Canadian sector. Canadian Pacific and Dome Mines were also higher. McIntyre Porcupine lost a point. Other losers were Aluminium Ltd., Distillers Seagrams, and Hudson Bay Mining.

The mixed trend was reported on the American stock exchange. Richwell gained a fraction among Canadian stocks. Jupiter Oils, Preston East Dome, Eureka and Shawinigan all were lower.

AT MONTREAL prices generally were lower in moderate trading today on the stock exchange. Some changes exceeded a point.

AT LONDON the advance on the stock market was halted today by some adverse factors. The passing of the Cunard interim dividend and the raise in share margins in the United States, coupled with the setback overnight on Wall Street, provided operators with talking points. Selling however was only slight.

AT VANCOUVER trading was light and showed slight change in prices during the forenoon. Prosper sold 2,000 at 34. Royal Canadian Ventures moved 2,000 at 45. Bethlehem Copper traded 2,000 at $1.05. North West Ventures moved 2,000 at 6. Trojan traded 4,500 at 16.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

CHICAGO (AP) — Old-crop wheat and all soybean futures steadied in late transactions on the board of trade today but the entire list of corn deliveries again dipped to lows for the season.

Steadiness of wheat near the close of trading was attributed to export covering. Yugoslavia purchased 260,000 bushels of U.S. wheat for shipment from the gulf and the trade reported other foreign sales were in the making.

WINNIPEG (CP) — Most prices showed a firm tone in moderately active trade today on the Winnipeg grain exchange.

There was broader export interest with small lots of oats, barley and flax reported sold, mostly to the United Kingdom.

The flax market was irregular with small hedges and selling for American interests with exporters buying on recessions.

Fairly active trade occurred in barley with shipping interest on the buying side in connection with both domestic and export orders. Oats trade also disclosed moderate shipping demand.

Rye prices were weak and irregular in early dealings but showed rallies from the low levels.

There was no information on overnight export loadings of Canadian wheat.

Lakehead prices for class two, IWA and domestic wheat were down one-quarter cent from Wednesday.

New Organizer For Freedomites

VANCOUVER (CP)—With only a week left in which to sign up for their proposed migration to Russia, British Columbia's Sons of Freedom Doukhobors have appointed a new organizer.

PETER ELASOFF JR.

STEFAN SOROKIN
. . . in Uruguay

Peter Elasoff, Jr., has taken over the task from the Sons' executive secretary, Bill Moojelsky.

Mr. Moojelsky retains his position as executive secretary and leader of the radical Doukhobor sect in the absence of its spiritual leader, Stefan Sorokin.

When last heard from Sorokin was in Uruguay. He is understood to have collected sums of money several years ago from Freedomite Doukhobors to investigate the possibility of establishing communities in South America, but was not heard from after. Freedomite leaders have consistently declined to comment on his absence.

Mr. Moojelsky said in an interview he will help Mr. Elasoff in any difficulties, but plans mainly to spend about a month preparing a biographical document on the 60 years of Doukhobor life in Canada.

FAMED SIGNAL OF NELSON TO FLY HERE

Trafalgar Day next Tuesday, will be marked by a display of Nelson's famous message to the fleet prior to engaging the forces of Napoleon.

The "England expects . . ." message will fly from the flagstaff fronting the legislative buildings.

Signal flags to be used will be on the same design as flags used by Nelson's yeoman.

Two RCN signals ratings and a petty officer will raise the signal at 9 a.m. and strike it at 5 p.m.

Naval historian F. V. Longstaff, notes the hoisting of the signal is a revival of an old custom here.

Park Youth Training Plan Big Success Says Westwood

Provincial Parks branch employed 120 youths last summer in provincial recreation areas under its youth training plan.

The boys, who reecive $3 a day ($3.25 for second year), free board, lodging and travel, worked in 10 crews in the Mount Robson and Manning Park areas.

Recreation and Conservation Minister E.C. Westwood said the scheme has proved highly successful. He said many of the youths have chosen careers in forestry and conservation following a summer in the service.

Boys qualified for the summer work must be between 16 and 18 and are recommended by their principals or counsellors.

Their supervisors are usually school teachers also seeking summer employment.

The boys put in a 5½-day week with a half day of organized recreation between July 1 and the end of August. They are employed at trail clearing and similar tasks.

In the November HOLIDAY Magazine, top Canadian author Hugh McLennan explores the border from coast to coast, giving you the why's and wherefore's of the Canadian attitude toward Americans. Why do Canadians think and feel as they do about Americans? It takes hundreds of years of history . . . from important wars, head-bowing defeats and such lighter things a gentle hand with amateur liquor-running during Prohibition and shared holidays in closely knit communities that happen to span the border. Find out in this vivid feature what Canadian-American relations have been and what can be expected for the future.

And in this look to the future, find out what the Seaway will mean not only to the economy but to the importance of Canada. PAINTINGS BRING RECOR D PRICE

SOLD: For $2.1 Million

LONDON (AP)—Seven French impressionist paintings changed hands Wednesday night at a 20-minute auction that set records both for the price paid for a single picture and for the total realized at one art auction session.

Cezanne's Boy in the Red Waistcoat fetched £220,000, more than twice as much as ever was paid before for a single painting at auction, with the seven paintings bringing £781,000 ($2,186,800) in all.

"This will put up prices in the art world everywhere," said Peter Wilson, who auctioned off the paintings at Sotheby's.

The purchases all were art dealers, six of them Americans. Georges Keller of New York was the high bidder for the record-breaking Cezanne.

BANKER'S COLLECTION

All the paintings were part of the collection of Jacob Goldschmidt, the late banker, who had ordered them sold in his will.

The other six paintings were:

Edouard Manet's self-portrait, Manet with Palette, sold to an American, John Summers, for £65,000.

Manet's portrait of Madame Gamby, La Promenade, sold to Keller for £89,000.

Manet's La Rue de Berne, sold to Keller for £113,000.

Van Gogh's Public Garden at Arles, sold to New York art dealer, Paul Rosenberg, for £132,000.

Cezanne's still life, Big Apples, sold to Rosenberg for £90,000.

Paul Renoir's La Pensee sold to London dealer Edward Speelman for £72,000.

U.S. CARDINALS BREAKING LAW BY VOTING?

WASHINGTON (AP)—The state department declined comment Wednesday on a contention that three Roman Catholic cardinals from the United States would violate American law by voting in the election of a new pope.

Department officials said there will be a reply in due course to the argument made Tuesday by Protestants and other Americans united for Separation of Church and State.

The predominantly Protestant organization made public a letter to State Secretary Dulles contending that the successor to Pope Pius XII will be not just an ecclestiastical sovereign but also the head of a sovereign state, Vatican City.

The group said U.S. laws forbid citizens from voting in an election in a foreign state.

'Isolation Rooms' Prepared 'For Cardinals' Papal Vote

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Funeral masses were celebrated today for Pope Pius XII in St. Peter's Basilica and at a chapel near the pontiff's tomb in the grottos of the great church.

Bricklayers and carpenters erected barriers to isolate the Sistine Chapel and adjoining Vatican buildings to be occupied by the College of Cardinals during the conclave to elect his successor.

The workmen were arranging living quarters for the cardinals, who cannot leave the conclave area from the time they enter Oct. 25 until a new Pope is elected.

Pope Pius XII was elected in a day. But the Vatican was taking no chances, and was preparing for a prolonged meeting. Vans were moving in beds and kitchens were being set up in Vatican courtyards.

Other workmen in St. Peter's were putting up stands for final weekend funeral services for Pius XII.

In Rome, Italian President Giovanni Gronchi and other government leaders attended a special funeral mass at Santa Maria Degli Angeli.

The cardinals now present in Rome held another meeting to discuss preliminary work for the conclave. Thirty-one attended.

Meanwhile, the first of foreign delegations to attend final funeral services Sunday began arriving in Rome.

TO SIGNAL POPE'S ELECTION

Vatican Hunted For Lost Stove

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The stove is gone. And tradition insists it has to be found.

Workmen have looked everywhere, in the Vatican warehouses and outside. But they cannot find it.

This stove is used to signal the outcome of votes at papal conclaves in the Sistine Chapel.

The stove has been used as long as anyone can remember to burn ballots after cardinals vote for a Pope.

If the cardinals failed to agree on a new Pope, a little wet straw was mixed with the ballots. That produced a grey smoke. People watching from St. Peter's Square knew the cardinals had failed to elect a pontiff.

If two-thirds of the cardinals present plus one voted for a Pope, then the ballots were burned without straw. The result was white smoke. To the crowds in the square, that meant a new Pope had been elected.

The stove was last used in 1939 and presumably had been stored away after that conclave elected Pope Pius XII. Possibly it was just misplaced.

"It's hard to think that someone would steal it," a Vatican official said.

5 Missionaries Under Arrest In Red China

Witnesses Called 'Subversive' Sect

TOKYO (AP)—Peiping radio reported today the arrest in Shanghai of five Jehovah's Witnesses and banning of the religious sect.

The five — two Britons and three Chinese—were accused of trying to wreck China's "socialist construction."

The charge was denied in New York by the head of the sect, which sent the Britons to China in 1947.

The Britons are Stanley Ernest Jones, 42, and Harold George King, 56, the only foreign missionaries of the Jehovah's Witnesses in Communist China. Peiping gave no immediate indication of what will become of them or of the three Chinese.

Other missionaries in China have been sentenced to long prison terms for various laleged offences.

Peiping radio said the group headed by Jones and King "was by no means a religious organization, but an imperialist base for subversive and disruptive activities."

The broadcast added that "the reacationary organization was led by the U.S. imperialist, N. H. Knorr."

Knorr is president of the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society, which carries on the work of Jehovah's Witnesses. He said the charge against his men is untrue and absurd.

This next item is an exceptionally good buy. The price has been cut by ⅓. ½x4, ½x6 and ½x8 Tongue and Groove Oak Panelling at, per board foot 20c

If your home is in the framing stage, you might be interested in this: Donnacona Saturated Exterior Sheathing. Large 4 x 8 x 7/16 sheets go up fast in place of Shiplap; less cutting and less waste. A good price, too $64.50 per M.

What's in those cartons? They're Sylvacord squares, 16" x 16" and they're perfect for ceilings or walls for rumpus rooms, etc. These Sylvacord squares are precision cut and look very smart applied in a basket-weave pattern, each 25c

What's this? I don't know what these are doing here, but they look like 100' rolls of Green Screening, 24" and 20" widths. Useful for screens, screen doors, roof vents, etc. Price? I'd say they're worth $10.00 per roll.

Would any of you be interested in 8 kegs of 2¼" Finish Nails at $5.00 per keg? Em Showers tells me they're probably slightly rusty, they have been around so long. But for $5.00, who cares?

I'd like to show you, before you go, our regular stock of ¼" Rotary cut, prefinished V Groove Mahogany Plywood. Believe me, this Plywood being prefinished saves many hours of hard work and messy cleaning up. The price isn't much more than regular unfinished Plywood, and I feel at these prices, you would be wise to consider it.

Mackenzie's Raiders Debuts at 6.30; 'Little Women' at 7.30

By PHIL LEE, Times TV Editor

THE BOB HOPE SHOW (Fair)—It may just have been the suicidal mood that Eddie Fisher left me in that caused me to take such a dyspeptic view of Bob Hope's conglomeration, Tuesday night. But no matter how I looked at it in retrospect the show held all the allure of a dog's breakfast a la carte.

Even Hope's jokes, usually so dependable, emerged as tasty as yesterday's victuals, scarcely as warm as a Boy Scout's first fire in the rainy season. But the real cause of the near-fiasco wasn't so much rapid Robert's as his choice of guests. They were, so to speak, a bunch of squares looking for round holes which weren't there.

Now Joan Crawford is a dramatic actress of quality as her Oscars will attest. But as a comedienne in Hope's scheme of things she was as funny as a barked shin. The actress, who loves live cameras like Debbie loves Eddie, was assured the skit with Hope would be on film. It was. Thus any chance that the act would gain warmth by her being there was lost.

TV TEE-HEES

"He's sure begging us to use his product!"

The appearance of Hope and France's magic comic, Fernandel, also failed to make sparks for the very reason that their brands of humor simply don't mix. Individually each is a funny man but together they seem restrained, if not in awe of one another, then at least vividly conscious of protocol. At any rate, they were both so busy muttering "After You, Alphonse," that they forgot the prime purpose of their being there, to make us laugh loud and long.

Although, to give credit where credit is due, I did enjoy their song routine to a certain degree. The real flop de resistance, however, was the Parisian cafe sketch that first played on Noah's Ark and didn't get many rave notices then. And as a full stop to this review I'll mention the Bernard Brothers. And that's all I'll do, mention them. Full stop.

* * *

THE EDDIE FISHER SHOW (Poor)—Eddie Fisher is one of the most awkward television hosts I've had the displeasure to watch. About the best thing you can say about Eddie is that when he is singing he's a star and when he stops he's a flop.

However, Tuesday night's debacle was not all Fisher's fault. He had two solid partners in crime, one named Betty Hutton and the other Red Buttons. He also had Jerry Lewis on as a surprise guest. And if Jerry wasn't very funny at least he was very, very loud.

Now Miss Hutton is an entertainer who used to be extremely humorous and exciting as she warbled popular ditties back in the 30's as a singer with Vincent Lopez and his band. It was one of those peculiarities of show-business that she was to rise in a few short years to a pinnacle that artists boasting many times her talents must have envied.

But, alas and alack, the one-time blonde bombshell is only a squib of her former self. What once in her girlishness used to come off with a roar now is only embarrassing, as though one's own sweet, little, white-haired grandmother had suddenly taken to smoking long, black cigars and whirling hulu hoops. Betty, in brief, has artistically out-lived her age. There is a small place for swing in the era of the rock 'n' roll.

As for Red Buttons. If he doesn't soon get off that "Sayonara" kick of his the U.S. will be deporting him to Japan as an alien—which on the basis of Tuesday night's show, might be just as well.

CITY UNDER FIRE, TOO

Phone Garble, Cold Damp Buses Rapped by Labor

City council and two local utility companies were roundly criticized by Victoria Labor Council at a meeting Wednesday.

Council was rapped for not installing traffic lights at Shelbourne and Hillside; B.C. Telephone Co. drew censure for failing to justify its "horrible" new telephone directory; B.C. Electric was scolded for its "cold and damp" buses.

The city came under fire when a labor delegate said the reason it had not installed a traffic light at Shelbourne and Hillside was that there was insufficient money in this year's budget; the light would be provided for next year.

"Nonsense," snapped builders' delegate Percy Rayment. "The cost can't be so enormous they can't pay for it out of their contingency fund. The life of a child is worth so much more than a traffic light."

POLICE ACCIDENT

One delegate said the police did not seem to consider the intersection dangerous, then noted that the latest traffic accident there involved a police car.

The labor council, which has asked for the traffic light three times in recent months, will ask again.

B.C. Telephone Co. was castigated for claiming that abbreviations were used in the new telephone directory in order to save money.

The reason was advanced in a company letter to the council replying to criticism of the directory voiced at the last labor meeting.

"FOR ECONOMY"

Some members said at that time that the book's street abbreviations were a "threat" to spelling in the schools, which brought from the company the retort that the abbreviations were used to "cut production costs and for economy."

The company also explained that a hole was not punched in the book for "tethering" purposes "because it would have meant that some of the listings would have been obliterated."

"That's a lot of hooney," said Mr. Rayment, then went on to ask why the directory was not printed every six months instead of once a year.

COLD BUSES

Woodworkers' delegate Jack MacKenzie said the phone company would probably be able to put out a better directory if the service were publicly-owned, a remark which brought loud applause from the 58 delegates.

The council members also directed their wrath at the B.C. Electric Co. for not pre-heating their "cold and damp buses" before sending them out on the streets.

The Teamsters' Chester Preston said passengers sometimes had to wipe mist from windows when they boarded early morning buses.

The council will write the company a letter.

In other council activity, the members decided to:

Receive and file a letter from Mayor Percy Scurrah promising that Royal Athletic Park would not be sold "if the people do not vote for it being sold";

Receive and file a letter from the office of provincial Labor Minister Lyle Wicks saying that council's protest over the convening of the recent labor-management conference would be "brought to the minister's attention";

Acknowledge a letter from Defence Minister Pearkes in which he "hoped the allocation of new ship-building will soon be made," in reply to the council's letter asking for work for local shipyards;

Accept "with sincere regret" the resignation after six years service of council stenographer Mrs. May Calver.

Times Honor Carrier

Each day this month The Times honors one of its "junior merchant" carrier boys who have demonstrated qualities of leadership and application to their endeavors. Today's candidate is:

JOHN BOORMAN

John resides with his family at 2306 Oak Bay Avenue and is a Grade 9 student. A member of the YMCA, his sports interests are basketball and football. John is one of a large number of carriers who will be attending a thrilling B.C. Lions football game at Vancouver's Empire Stadium early next month.

He also stands a good chance of being one of two Times carriers that will also be winning a six-day trip to Disneyland which will include other fascinating highlights which should prove memorable to the boys, making this trip.

During the time John has been a carrier he has given his customers perfect service and handles his route each afternoon with courtesy and care. It is little wonder therefore that John has won for himself the Times 1958 Ace Sales Crest award and is mentioned as TODAY'S TIMES HONOR CARRIER. Congratulations, John Boorman.

'DON'T BE MISLED'

'Beaver' Enters Memoirs' Issue

TORONTO (CP) — Lord Beaverbrook said Wednesday he hopes no one will be misled by the Montgomery memoirs into thinking the British wartime commander's plan of campaign would have resulted in a British-American occupation of Berlin.

Lord Beaverbrook, in Toronto on private business, said in an interview that plans for the occupation of Berlin had been determined at the diplomatic level long before the war ended.

Field Marshal Montgomery said in his memoirs that his plan for the Western Allies after the breakout in northern France in 1944 was for a single thrust into the Ruhr Valley.

He proposed a 40-division drive into Germany and on to Berlin after the Normandy fighting had left the Germans disorganized. Instead, the Western Allies advanced on a broad front.

Lord Beaverbrook, Canadian-born publisher who served as minister of aircraft production in Prime Minister Churchill's cabinet during the Second World War, said:

"Long before the war was over the European advisory commission — with John G. Winant of the United States as chairman, William Strang for the British, Dedor Gusev for the Russians — had already defined what the zones of occupation for the Allied armies were to be when the war was over."

Under the commission agreement the Russians were to occupy Berlin and the British and Americans would be required to move to a given line between the occupation zones, whether that meant at war's end they moved backward or forward.

Gen. Guenther Blumentritt, chief of staff of the German western armies under Field Marshal Erich von Rundstedt, commented on Lord Montgomery's plan that he was "absolutely convinced that the war would have been over by Christmas, 1944, that there would have been a saving of Allied lives and that the Western Allies would have been in Berlin before the Russians, had ontgomery's plan been carried out."

Lord Beaverbrook said, "The fact is our entry into Berlin would have merely meant withdrawal later and handing over the capital to the Russians as had been agreed by the European advisory commission earlier than Christmas, 1944."

Lord Montgomery's memoirs are being serialized by Weekend Magazine.

Women Escape Injury As Car Rolls 150 Feet

NANAIMO—Two Kelsey Bay women are suffering shock but otherwise are in satisfactory condition after rolling down a 150-foot embankment in their car early Wednesday morning.

The accident occurred near Caig's Crossing, 20 miles north of here.

Mrs. Marie Fredrickson crawled to the highway, where an unidentified motorist, heeding her warning, ran to the wrecked car and removed Mrs. Mathilda Dillon, who was unconscious. He then telephoned for help.

Homes for Aged Fund Drive Draws 300 Volunteers

PORT ALBERNI (CP)—Three hundred persons have volunteered to canvass in a $50,000 campaign to reduce the debt of this district's first homes for senior citizens.

Another 200 canvassers are required. Service clubs have already pledged $500, although the campaign does not start until Oct. 27.

Ernie Ward, chairman of the Alberni Valley Memorial Society's campaign committee, said an average of $10 from each household is needed to meet the objective.

Island Foods For Jaycee Congress

NANAIMO (CP) — Five Junior Chambers of Commerce from Vancouver Island have decided to send Vancouver Island products to the World Congress of Junior Chambers of Commerce at Minneapolis, Minn., in mid-November.

The products: 100 pounds of salmon, a case of oysters, and 750 pieces of Nanaimo's 10,000-pound centennial birthday cake.

Roads to Open N.W.T. By '60, Says Engineer

There will be suitable roads for the economic development of the Northwest Territories around Great Slave and Great Bear Lakes by 1960 or 1961, J. E. Savage of Edmonton said here Wednesday.

Mr. Savage is supervising engineer for the federal highways department in the Northwest Territories and is responsible for road plans in the federal government's $100,000,000 planned development of the northland.

At the 11th annual group conference of the Western Association of Canadian Highway Officials at the Empress Hotel, he said mining interests are ready northland as soon as the roads to work mineral deposits in the make it feasible.

"This year $4,000,000 is being spent on roads in the north and that is expected to be increased next year as the project gains momentum."

Mr. Savage said 140 miles of 24-foot gravel road have already been constructed and the right-of-way is being cleared for 332 miles.

"No limit has been set on the amount of road to be built."

The conference continues until Saturday.

3 A-Blasts In 24 Hours

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP)—Another nuclear shot in the current test series was fired today from a balloon suspended 500 feet over Yucca Flat.

This was the first time three atomic devices have been detonated here within 24 hours.

The blast was not seen nor felt in nearby Las Vegas.

The biggest tunnel shot ever fired here—but a baby as nuclear blasts go—jarred the ground two miles away Wednesday night.

TEMPTATION WINS SYMPATHY

DUNCAN — Turning in of false fire alarms from boxes is understandable, Ald. R. K. Cairns, fire warden, told city council.

"That's just what I would like to do," he admitted. "I've always had an impulse to try one of those little hammers and see what would happen."

Missile For Seattle Area

SEATTLE (AP)—The army announced Wednesday it will install Hawk supersonic missiles in the Seattle-Tacoma-Olympia area to supplement existing Nike sites.

The initial program is for six Hawk batteries ringing Puget Sound. Each would cost $1,500,000, plus land acquisition, and would be manned by 75 officers and men.

The Hawk, a bullet-shaped ground-to-air missile, is 16 feet long. It was developed by the Raytheon Manufacturing Co.

The announcement was made by Col. John R. Day, commanding officer of Ft. Lawton and Col. John K. McCormick, army air defence commander here.

McCormick said building of Hawk bases is planned for 1960, with about one year required for construction.

Each Hawk will have up to 12 launchers, each capable of firing three missiles. Bases will be located on high ground in most cases, with each site covering about 60 acres.

The Hawk was described as an effective low-altitude weapon that can home on aerial targets at tree-top level. McCormick said it will "complement and supplement the high-altitude Nike."

McCormick said the Hawk has "multiple warhead capabilities." He declined to say specifically if these include nuclear warheads, but indicated they do.

Comox MLA Boosts Early North Road

COURTENAY (CP) — Dan Campbell, Social Credit member of the legislature for Comox, is to set up a committee this weekend to promote early construction of a north-Island road. The province has given a target date of 1960, but Mr. Campbell is seeking federal participation for an earlier start to the project.

CHICAGO (AP)—Fire broke out early today on the fifth floor of the Palmer House, one of Chicago's biggest hotels, forcing scores of guests to flee their rooms.

Heavy smoke filled the fifth-floor corridor, lower floors and lobby of the 2,250-room hotel before the blaze was struck out about 20 minutes after arrival of firemen.

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Broadcasting Company said today the televised quiz show Twenty-One will be dropped from the network after its performance tonight. The move came as an aftermath to a wave of charges that answers on the show were rigged.

Air Search Armada Over Labrador

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Twenty planes, including six helicopters, searched the rugged Labrador country today for three men missing in two planes.

De Gaulle Wins Showdown With Algerians

ALGIERS (CP)—Threatened strikes and demonstrations by right wingers opposing Premier Charles de Gaulle's sweeping Algerian reforms collapsed like a punctured balloon today.

The vast Forum Square where the right-wing committee of public safety called a protest demonstration was empty at the appointed hour.

It was ringed with troops and fire trucks, just in case.

A general strike and the demonstration were hastily called off after the committee's leaders held a showdown conference with de Gaulle's representative, Gen. Raoul Salan, the military and civilian commander here.

Details of Salan's talk to the committee leaders were not disclosed, but he carried firm instructions from de Gaulle, whom he had seen barely 24 hours before in Paris.

The committee—fighting to stave off its own dissolution—called the strike and the demonstrations in cities throughout Algeria to protest de Gaulle's order removing the army from politics.

ISSUES COMMUNIQUE

The committee issued a special communique to announce it was calling off its protest bid.

The communique said that the new move was made because the committee did not want to interfere with the army's actions. The army had warned the committee against both the strike and the demonstration.

The committee said it maintained full confidence in the army and that Salan this morning had explained the new orders from de Gaulle.

The communique also added, somewhat disconsolately, that the committee wished to preserve its unity, already badly shattered.

U.K. Official Shot To Death In Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters)—A British government official was killed and five other persons injured today as the bloody round of bombings and ambushes continued on Cyprus.

British authorities said a man, identified only as an official of the colonial government, was shot to death in the village of Kokkinotrimithia, 10 miles west of Nicosia.

A civilian engineer was wounded in the back when a gunman opened fire as he started to drive his car from his home in a Nicosia suburb. He was identified as John McGillivary, 39, employed by the Cyprus' telecommunications authority.

Four Greek Cypriots—one of them a woman—were injured in two of four bombing attacks against British patrols.

The renewed violence prompted authorities to clamp a house curfew on Nicosia but loudspeaker trucks later toured the streets announcing the curfew applied only to Greek Cypriots.

The slain government official is the 124th Briton to be killed on the island since the Greek underground organization EOKA started operations more than three years ago.

Historic HBC Parley At Winnipeg

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Hudson's Bay Company today held the first meeting of its board of directors outside London, England, in 288 years.

The meeting was held in Hudson's Bay House in Winnipeg and presided over by company governor, W. J. Keswick, of London. Other United Kingdom directors attending were Lord Weeks and J. E. H. Collins, both of London.

During the 18th and 19th centuries, meetings of the northern council of the company were held at York Factory, Norway House and Lower Fort Garry in Manitoba and were presided over by the then-governors of Rupert's Land.

"It is singularly fitting," Mr. Keswick said, "that we should hold our first board meeting outside the City of London in Manitoba, which has been the headquarters of the company in North America for nearly three centuries."

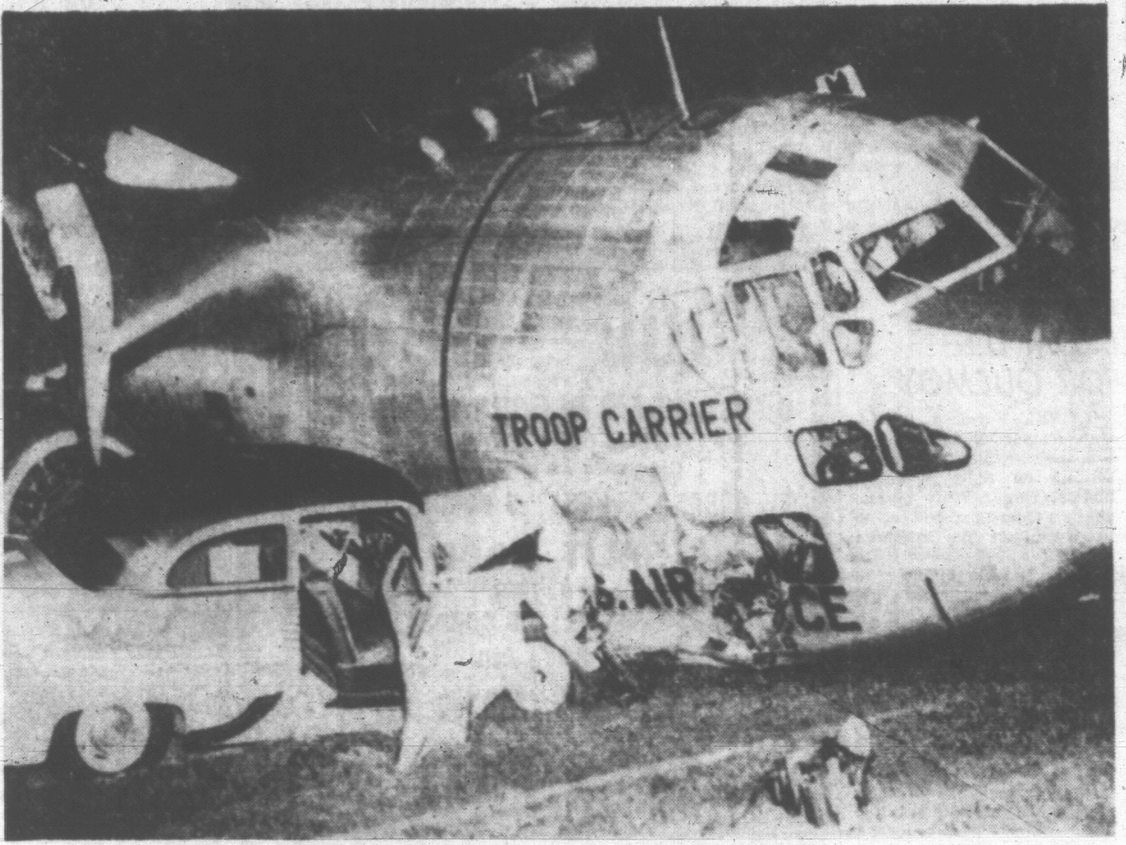
$9 MILLION HOUSING SCHEME FOR SAANICH



YOU NEVER KNOW WHAT'S ROUND THE BEND

Car meets plane—on the highway: three cars piled into wreck of this U.S. military transport on Long Island Highway when pilot crash-landed to avoid hitting residential area. Wings and tail were ripped off as C123 went through underpass. One motorist was killed. (AP Wirephoto.)

Rescuers Fight Antarctic Cold

CHRISTCHURCH, N.Z. (UPI)—Rescue workers fought 40 below zero cold today to reach the side of a giant U.S. air force Globe-Master transport plane that crashed in the Antarctic wastes.

Six of the 13 men on board were killed, and "several" of the seven survivors were reported critically injured.

The plane crashed early today as it was attempting a supply air drop to a U.S.-New Zealand base.

In the crash, a load of lumber on board apparently shifted on impact and smashed into the men on the cargo deck.

Emergency SOS signals were sent out automatically by a battery-powered radio on the wrecked plane, and air and overland rescue efforts started at once.

NEGRO WILL STAY FREE

Road Gang Escapee Caught Jaywalking

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—A Negro whose arrest for jaywalking in Detroit brought to light the fact that he had escaped from an Alabama road gang 27 years ago can keep his freedom.

Frank Lee, deputy state prison commissioner, said Alabama won't ask Michigan to send Victor Moore back to finish his term.

Moore's prison record was disclosed when he was fingerprinted in Detroit for failure to pay a jaywalking ticket. Police said the prints were identical with those of Lee Murray, who escaped from a prison work gang near Montgomery in 1931 while serving a four-year term for burglary.

Detroit police said Moore admitted his identity when confronted with the fingerprint evidence. He married after going to Detroit eight years ago and is the father of five children.

ON SALT SPRING

All-Out Search For Lost Pilot

Mainland mountaineers hunting for John L. Dudra, 32, mountain climber and airman lost Sunday night after having radio contact with Vancouver's International Airport, today started searching all of Salt Spring Island for the missing plane.

Clue that Dudra might have crashed on the island was given by Walter A. Brigden, whose farm is at Fulford Harbor, near 2,400-foot Mount Bruce at the southern end of Salt Spring Island.

"Between 6.10 and 6.20 p.m. Sunday I heard a crash on Mount Bruce that sounded like a tree falling," he said. "I thought nothing of it until Monday, when I heard this aircraft was missing, so I reported it to the RCMP here."

"Mount Bruce is heavily timbered," he said, "and although air searches have been made, there are gullies that would hide a light plane and make it impossible to see except from the ground."

Climbers taking part in the hunt made their headquarters at Mr. Brigden's farm, and 12 were with him Wednesday night. It was they who started the extended search today, he said.

An oil slick discovered off the mouth of the Fraser River was being examined today as a possible sign of the plane's disappearance.

Fog has continued to hamper air searches of the Gulf Island district.

HOLE IN BOTTOM

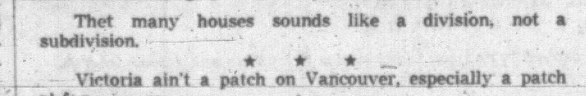
Sceptre Shamed Again

HALIFAX (CP)—The luckless British racing yacht Sceptre, beaten challenger for the America's Cup, arrived here today with a hole in her bottom.

The big 25-ton sloop broke loost from her cradle on the deck of a freighter bound for Britain. She slammed against a ventilating pipe that pierced her hull.

Sceptre was being taken home on the British freighter Manipur from New York. Soon after sailing Sunday the ship ran into a gale.

The 8,500-ton Manipur docked at the Halifax naval dockyard, where the yacht was hoisted ashore to permit repairs to the broken cradle. It is not known where the yacht will be repaired.



Thet many houses sounds like a division, not a subdivision.

Gordon Head Likely Site

A $9,000,000 government-financed housing development may rise in Saanich if 12,000 ratepayers approve a massive sewer project in the December elections.

If both schemes materialize, Victoria College may have to look beyond Gordon Head as a future building site.

REEVE CHATTERTON
. . . reveals plan

The housing development largest of its kind ever undertaken in Greater Victoria area, hinges largely on the approval of a sewer project by 12,000 ratepayers in the Cadboro Bay and Ruby Road-Shelbourne Avenue area.

Whether Victoria College will lose its Gordon Head building site depends on talks between Saanich reeve George Chatterton and Victoria College officials.

Proponent of the $9 million housing development plan, Reeve Chatterton wants to find out when Victoria College plans to build on its 50-acre Gordon Head holding.

"We released the land to Victoria College after we obtained it from Crown Assets Corporation," the reeve said.

"If they plan to leave it idle for 10 or 15 years, we may want it back. It fits in perfectly with the housing development."

The reeve plans to outline the government-financed housing scheme to Saanich council.

Briefly, here's how it works:

Under section 36 of the National Housing Act, the municipality makes land available (the core would be in the area where sewers are projected but would not have to be a single unit) to Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, a federal housing agency.

CMHC buys the land, pays for sewers, construction of roads, water and lights.

When the subdivision is serviced, CMHC offers the land to individual buyers first—probably for 90 days—and then sells the remaining lots to contractors for speculative building.

Federal and provincial government would share costs, 75 and 25 per cent, respectively.

Municipality would pay only legal and administrative costs.

The reeve's plan is the latest of several major and minor construction projects slated for development in Greater Victoria's second largest and fastest-growing municipality.

Largest Boom In Saanich History

Total amount of construction in the next three years is expected to exceed $20,000,000—the largest building boom in Saanich's history.

Nearly 2,000 persons a year are moving into Saanich where 600 homes have gone up in the first nine months this year.

The need for housing "will continue to be felt," said the reeve, "because Victoria is running out of building lots."

Reeve Chatterton said it is hoped to put the $2,139,998 sewer project to the 12,000 ratepayers in the Cadboro Bay-Ruby and Shelbourne Street district on the Dec. 11 ballot.

If ratepayers turn down the sewer project, the government housing scheme is out of the question.

The reeve sees the government-financed housing project as an answer to the municipality's ever-growing septic-tank situation.

"Where you have septic tanks on small lots with a clay base the ground quickly becomes saturated with septic affluent," he said.

"A development such as the one we plan to study may well be the answer to this problem."

Exact area where sewers are proposed is the lower part of Gordon Head north to Ruby Road and on a line between Fin-

$4 Million Pledged By Canada

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—Canada today pledged a total of $4,000,000 to helping under-developed countries through the United Nations.

Canadian representative Dr. R. P. Vivian told a conference of the expanded program of technical assistance that the Canadian government is seeking parliamentary approval for two contributions of $2,000,000 each.

One would go for UN technical assistance programs which have provided a "unique and important contribution" by making available experts and equipment to direct economic growth of under-developed countries.

The other would be for a special fund approved by the UN Tuesday to provide more immediate aid.

UNIVAC PLAYS CUPID IN HOLLYWOOD MARRIAGE

It Was Love at First Bleep

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The first mating by automation takes place Saturday when Shirley Saunders marries Bob Kardell at the First Presbyterian Church of Hollywood.

The cupid in this match was an electronic brain called Univac. For months, the People Are Funny television show has been trying to make a romantic match by means of the machine.

It works this way: A contestant fills out a form detailing what he or she seeks in the ideal mate, plus his or her own qualifications. All this is fed into Univac, which comes up with the name of another contestant who seems a likely mate.

Unfortunately for the show, most of the chosen couples ended up in a state of indifference. Some openly detested each other.

But not Shirley and Bob. With them, it was love at first bleep.

"We were on the show five weeks together," Bob reported in a pre-marital interview. "We were formally engaged before that time was up."

nerty and Gordon Head Roads, excluding Queenswood where the area is rocky, prohibiting small lots.

The area is roughly between 100 and 200 acres, large enough for 400 homes or possibly more.

Before asking council to approve the project, Reeve Chatterton said he has made arrangements with councillors to discuss the matter with CMHC officials. The meeting will be held in the near future.

The subdivision, he said, would be beneficial to both the municipality and residents of Saanich.

It would enable prospective owners to buy fully serviced lots at a cheaper rate than the open market.

The government would also share costs for laying lateral sewer pipes, trunks, pressure lines and the treatment plant.

Residents in the subdivision would pay lower taxes.

"One other main benefit would be a well-planned subdivision with playground for children," he said. "This is equally as important."

The scheme is expected to get the support of both CMHC and provincial government officials.

J. D. Baird, supervisor of Municipal Affairs, described the government housing development scheme as "one of the best."

"Other municipalities, such as Vancouver and Prince George, have taken advantage of the government offer," he said.

Other major projects planned in Saanich:

Construction of a new $80,000 fire hall to replace the old Douglas Street building.

Purchase of property and construction of a new municipal yard site.

Construction next year of a $400,000 Gordon Head junior high school.

Under construction at present are Hampton and Shelbourne elementary schools, totalling $280,000 in value.

Development by Scandia Construction of New Westminster of a $562,000 46-home subdivision off Blenkinsop Road, to be known as Mount Douglas Gardens.

A $22,500 subdivision development on Parker Road, Cordova Bay, by William Mattick, 5273 Cordova Bay Road.

Other Isles Of Chiang Eyed By Reds

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Four Communist planes flew over the tiny Wuchiu Islands today, raising speculation on Formosa that the Reds might try to seize those Nationalist outposts midway between Quemoy and Matsu.

The Wuchius lie in the Formosa Strait 15 miles from the mainland and 80 miles from Formosa. One of the two islands, Wuchiu, is 128 acres, and the other, Little Wuchiu, is 57.6 acres.

The Chinese Nationalists use them as lookout posts. At one time they were a base for commando raids to capture prisoners on the mainland who might provide intelligence and also were a staging post for Nationalist agents slipping in and out of China.

PUBLIC DEMAND AVERTS CNR TRAIN CUTS

MONTREAL (CP)—The Canadian National Railways today said it has reversed its decision to eliminate eight of its 16 transcontinental trains on the Montreal-Vancouver run during winter.

In a surprise move, the railway said "public reaction" to the proposed curtailment of service led to the change in plans.

"The attitude of the public indicates there continues to be a substantial demand for two CNR trans-continental services even during the off season," said CNR President Donald Gordon.

TREATMENT ORDERED FOR TITO'S LUMBAGO

LONDON (AP)—President Tito of Yugoslavia is ill and will have to undergo prolonged medical treatment for lumbago, the official Yugoslav news agency Tanjug reported today.

A Tanjug dispatch said the 64-year-old Yugoslav leader now is at Brioni "where he will spend some time in medical treatment owing to renewed signs of lumbago."

Lash is Answer Judge Declares

(From CP Dispatches)

VANCOUVER—Judge S. J. Remnant of Vancouver said Wednesday that vandalism can be discouraged by use of the lash.

He made the statement on sentencing Harold Richard Hill, 21, of Vancouver to two years in prison for rolling a $20,000 truck over a 300-foot embankment into Howe Sound June 6.

"I think it is time the courts showed their disapproval of this type of vandalism in the hope it may come to the attention of other youths similarly inclined.

". . . I am firmly of the opinion that if not cured it could at least be discouraged if it were possible for me to sentence you to a short term of imprisonment and whipping, but the law does not permit such a penalty," the judge said.

CITY 'OF AGE'

PRINCE GEORGE — The Prince George Citizen officially changed its name to The Citizen Wednesday.

In a front-page editorial The Citizen said: "Prince George, as a city, has come of age . . . our city has come to justify its boast of being 'hub of the north' . . ."

The newspaper announced plans to extend its readers throughout the Cariboo and into the Peace River country.

HOTELMAN DIES

VANCOUVER — Patrick (Paddy) Flynn, 62, Vancouver district hotel owner, died in hospital here Wednesday.

Soon after migrating from Ireland in 1925 he acquired his first downtown Vancouver hotel, the Patricia. When he retired in 1951 he was owner and manager of the Abbotsford Hotel. Shortly after he became a part-owner of the Ladner Hotel at nearby Ladner.

NEW GUNS FROM U.S. FOR QUEMOY

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Gun emplacements for new U.S.-made artillery are being set up on rocky Quemoy, underscoring a shift in emphasis from manpower to firepower on the offshore islands.

Under the continuing Chinese Communist cease fire, new U.S. 155-mm. and 8-inch artillery were being unloaded and swung into position. Ammunition is being stockpiled.

The Nationalists previously have emphasized manpower on the offshore islands, stationing perhaps 100,000 troops, or one-third of their effective combat forces, in the Quemoy and Matsu groups.

CAMBRIAN TRIO COMES DOWN TO EARTH

Chamber Music Myth Exposed

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

Anyone who has inclined to regard chamber music as more of an intellectual stimulant than an emotional experience would have learned a good deal from Victoria Musical Art Society's opening concert Wednesday night.

Introducing the newly formed Cambrian Trio, consisting of Clifford Evens, violin, Mary Evens, 'cello, and Lloyd Powell, piano, the concert proved that chamber music, far from being esoteric and remote, is warm, human and deeply moving.

It seems a great pity that Holyrood House auditorium was not filled to capacity, for the opportunity to hear such delightful music so well played is rare.

These were three highly proficient artists, who, having selected an unusual and challenging program, performed it with devotion and brilliance.

As a trio the Cambrian has excellent prospects of building a solid reputation on the Pacific coast. Having performed together in various duo combinations, they have already established a unity that is the essence of the true chamber group.

There was an occasional lack of refinement of tone that roughened the overall quality; in fact, tonal imbalance in this respect was possibly the only flaw of major importance to be found.

The trio was at its best in the expressive and moody Frank Bridge Phantasie and Dvorak's splendid Dumky Trio. Sweep and color of this latter work, reflecting the heights and depths of Slavic mood were breathtakingly beautiful.

Deeply poetic in idea and imaginative in treatment, the Bridge composition was a beautifully integrated piece of work. A polished performance of the Beethoven C Minor No. 3 was the program's opening number.
